"The Nearer the Bone, the Sweeter the Meat."

The maker of merchandise has reached the end of his Summer "tether."

He's anxious to sell what is left of his made up product at almost any reasonable sacrifice.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these dainty Summer garments at a big drop from early season's prices. At least we thought so when we cornered these lots. It's a case of quick sale, and first come, first served.

NOTABLE GATHERING.

Lawyers Assembled to Listen to Lord Russell.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Over 400 people assembled in convention hall today to listen to the address of Lord Russel, of Kilowen, lord chief justice of England, on "International Arbitration" before the American Bar association. It was one of the most distinguished audiences that ever gathered here. When Lord Russell entered the hall he was greeted with hearty applause and as he ascended the platform the ovation increased and was more demonstrative.

The president of the association, Moorefield Storrey, of Boston, on presenting Lord Russell, said: "I have now the very great pleasure, not of introducing, for he needs no introduction to any English speaking lawyer, but of presenting to you Lord Russell, of Kilowen, the lord chief justice of England, who will deliver the annual address on the subject of 'International Arbitration.'"

Lord Russell prefaced his words by a modest but handsome acknowledgement of the loving and hearty welcome with which he was honored on this occasion.

THE SHERMAN HOUSE

Chairman J. H. Jones and His Staff Locate There and Prepare to Do Business.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Senator J. K. Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic national committee, arrived in Chicago from Washington today. Accompanying him were his son, Kimborough Jones, of Washington, T. O. Towles, of the Bimetallic league, and J. G. Johnson, of Peabody, Kas., member of the executive committee. The immediate result of Senator Jones' visit was the closing of a deal by which the national headquartes will be established at the Sherman house. Senator Jones secured all the parlor floor rooms on the Randolph street side of the hotel building and two other rooms. The work of distributing campaign literature will be begun at once.

INDIAN LYNCHED.

The Mob Puts a Pole Across the Corner of a Fence and to It Hangs the Brute.

LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 20.—Frank Biles, a half-breed Indian from the Nez Perces reservation, was taken from the Asotine jail last night and hanged by a mob of indignant citizens. His crime was the criminal outrage of Miss Mary Richardson, a young woman seventeen years of age. Miss Richardson, whose home is in Enterprise, Ore., was in delicate health and had been visiting friends in this vicinity. Yesterday she started from Lewiston to Asotine on horseback unattended. On the road she was overtaken by Biles and two Indians from the reservation and assaulted. Last night at 11 o'clock a band of about thirty citizens marched to the jail and demanded the keys of the jail. The sheriff refused to comply and the keys were taken from him by force. They then went to jail, unlocked the door and took out the prisoner. Across one corner of a fence a long pole was laid. A rope was tied around his neck and the other end thrown over the pole and the Indian hanged.

FELL DOWN STAIRS.

Two Veterans of the Late War Killed.

Were Assisting Each Other to Ascend the Steps, When Both Fell Backwards.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 20.—A strange double fatality occurred at the National Soldiers' Home last night, the victims being Richard Botfield, aged seventy-eight, late of the United States navy, and William I. Gordon, late of Company D, Ninth Ohio infantry. They were assisting each other up the steps of the main building when both fell backward to the stone flagging, and were so badly hurt that they died shortly afterward.

KILLED IN A SALOON.

A Texas Desperado Dies Resisting Arrest.

LAREDO, Texas, Aug. 20.—The notorious A. Y. Allee was killed in a saloon last night by City Marshal Bathelow. Allee has been before the criminal courts for many years. He is charged with murdering three men, one Editor Bowen, on a crowded coach on the International railroad near here. Last night he began to show the dangerous traits in his character and in attempting to arrest him the city marshal had to defend himself the best he could, resulting as stated.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 20.—A special to the Journal from Willmar, Minn., states that a gang of tramps held up and robbed eighteen prominent men there last night. They also shot a lad, J. Tillden, so that he may die. A large posse is in pursuit and some fighting is expected.

CLOUD BURST.

Thirty Houses Washed Away and Over 100 Families Rendered Homeless.

MOGOLLON, N. M., Aug. 20.—A terrible cloud burst struck this place about 4 p. m. yesterday, leaving death and destruction behind. John Knight, a miner who resided at Georgetown, was drowned in his cabin. Several others are reported missing, but so far only two bodies, those of Knight and an unknown Mexican, have been recovered. These were found in a field about six miles below. About 100 families have been rendered homeless and thirty houses washed away. The property of the Colonial Mining company, of Boston, Mass., has suffered to a large extent, the assay office, mill house, powder house and blacksmith shop being washed away. It is feared the mine is filled with mud and water. The managers and assayers had a narrow escape, being assisted to the bank by means of ropes.

The Deep Down Mining company, of Kansas City, lost their main office and assay office. The place is situated in a deep canyon between high mountains. The flood attained a height of over eight feet and lasted over thirty minutes. Had it so continued ten minutes longer the whole town would have been swept away, as the debris had collected in the street, forming a solid wall just as the flood began to recede. Hardly a business house in the town escaped damage. The wagon road leading up to the mountain from the town, which was built a few years ago at an immense cost and which is the only outlet for freighters, has been entirely ruined and goods brought into the camp will have to be brought in on pack animals.

The storm was general to this section of the territory. Advices from Graham state that at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a cloudburst on the mountain side caused a flood at the Confidence mines, a property belonging to the Helen Mining company, of Denver, Col., situated about three miles from there. The flood carried away the shop and sluices at the mines. Nine horses that were at the ore chutes loading ore for the mill were washed over the steep precipice and killed. The men working at the tunnel barely escaped with their lives.

It is feared that great damage is done on the other side of the Mogollon district. Nothing definite can be learned on account of telephone communication being broken.

It is feared that the loss of life around Mogollon will be much greater than first reports made it. There were at least twenty persons, mostly miners, living right in the track of the great wall of water. They occupied for the most part adobe dwellings. These have been swept away and their occupants cannot be heard from. Some of these may have been warned in time to get out of the way, but it is certain that a number have perished. The loss to the mining company will be very heavy as some expensive machinery had lately been put in the mines and much of this is a total wreck.

FERGUSON'S MURDERER.

Description of the Man Sent Broadcast Over the Country—His Escape Likely.

Police Superintendent Gorsline told a SENTINEL reporter today that every clue so far discovered in the Ferguson murder case has been faithfully followed and found to be misleading.

It seems to be a generally accepted opinion that Charles Sannard, the murderer, is far beyond the precincts of Fort Wayne, and that his capture now depends upon the vigilance of officers abroad. A description of the man has been sent broadcast and developments are anxiously awaited.

The man McCormick, who is held on suspicion, will have a hearing tomorrow morning. There appears to be no evidence to convict him.

WORK OF CHILDREN.

Twenty-six Men in the Caboose Saved From Death by a Friendly Tree.

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 20.—A thorough investigation was made this morning into the cause of the derailing of engine No. 49, which was hauling a work train last night near Carrollton, the locomotive rolling down an embankment and killing Engineer Joseph Kirk and Fireman John Hardesty, of this city. The investigation shows the accident to have been caused by children having placed three spikes on the outside rail of the curve where the derailment occurred. Twenty six men in the caboose escaped death by falling several hundred feet down an embankment, because the caboose was caught in the branches of a big tree

THE POPULISTS

Have No Rich Men to Tap for Campaign Purposes.

Existing Difficulties Will be Arranged and Populists Will Work for Bryan and Silver.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The executive committee of the populist party has adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. It has accomplished all that could be done at the present time in arranging for headquarters here and branch headquarters in Chicago. It was decided that J. R. Soverign should be assigned to the Chicago headquarters, which will be under the management of Mr. Washburn, of Massachusetts. Chairman Butler of course, will be in charge here, and will give his whole attention to the campaign. Mr. Butler will be assisted by Secretary Edgerton, who will be here most of the campaign. C. H. Pirtle, chief of the senate document room, will be in charge of the sending out of documents.

Mr. Butler said today that the class of literature which was to be sent out had not yet been decided upon. As far as possible documents which can be franked will be sent out. These will include speeches by populists in congress, and some of Tom Watson's will be among the number selected. Some of the literature being sent out by the democratic committee is also used by the silver committee and will be distributed.

Chairman Butler said this morning that the committee was of course embarrassed for want of funds and Secretary Edgerton said that the committee must rely upon voluntary subscriptions as much as possible.

"We have chipped in," said Chairman Butler, "to pay our expenses thus far. We have no rich men to make large contributions for campaign expenses. I expect we will have to make a campaign like others we have made in the south, where we have managed with very little money."

Chairman Butler will enter into correspondence with populist leaders and with free silver leaders in various parts of the country at once and endeavor to effect an adjustment of all existing difficulties which will bring the supportors of silver and Bryan into harmonious action. The silver party and the populist party are today moving into headquarters with the democratic party in the Wormley building. The rooms to be occupied by the silver men and the populists are being put in order for their occupation. Vice Chairman Stevens, of the silver party, said today that the silver branch headquarters in Chicago would be every bit as important as the headquarters in Washington and would have charge of the campaign in the western states.

A HUGE TASK.

Every Republican Who Intends to Vote for Bryan and Every Democrat Who Intends to Vote for McKinley.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Republican managers will endeavor to find out every republican who intends to vote for Bryan and every democrat who intends to vote for McKinley. This immense task will be undertaken by the 20,000 organizations of the national league of republican clubs.

The actual work will begin next week, although the officials at the national headquarters of the league have been preparing for it for several months. It is expected that this canvass will cover every county in the country, and that when it is completed the republican managers will know exactly where they stand on both the money and presidential candidates.

As a starter 10,000 letters of introduction will be mailed tomorrow. The reports are expected to begin arriving in about two weeks. A force of clerks will be put to work on these and they will be tabulated as soon as they arrive. As the canvass progresses reports will be made to the national executive committee.

FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

A Father and Son Have a Thrilling Adventure.

BEDFORD STATION, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Walker B. Adams, of this place, is lying at the point of death as the result of an encounter with four burglars. Two of the burglars were captured, having first been wounded by Adams' son, William, who was himself struck by a pistol ball, which, however, glanced off from a suspender buckle. Adams' store is provided with a burglar alarm connected with his house. Shortly after midnight the alarm sounded, and Adams and his son, arming themselves, went to the store. They were met by four burglars, who at once opened fire. The elder Adams was shot in the head and fell to the ground. The son was commanded by the burglars to throw up his hands. He made a move as if he intended to comply with the command, when he suddenly raised his Winchester and fired in rapid succession, wounding two of the burglars, who fell within a few feet of where the elder Adams lay. Young Adams continued to fire and the two burglars emptied their revolvers at him. One of the bullets struck the buckle of William's suspenders and then glanced off. Both of the wounded burglars were shot in the abdomen and neither of them can recover. They refuse to say anything as to their identity. The elder Adams cannot survive his wounds. William Adams says he is confident that he wounded the two burglars who escaped.

LEGAL DISSOLUTION.

The Leading Michigan Law Firm Disrupted by Opposing Political Opinions.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20.—A dissolution of the legal copartnership of Don M. Dickinson, H. T. Thurber and Elliott G. Stevenson is announced to take place on September 1. The announcement is of interest, not only as involving a change in the relations of gentlemen who are recognized as standing among the foremost at the bar of Michigan, but as possessing great political significance. In fact, the dissolution of a firm which includes Mr. Dickinson, one of the advisors to the president, and Mr. Thurber, private secretary at the executive mansion, and Elliott G. Stevenson, chairman for some time of the democratic state central committee, could scarcely be consummated without involving political significance. Mr. Dickinson is said to have been much displeased when he returned from the east and found that Mr. Stevenson had to some extent compromised the firm by accepting the chairmanship of the state central committee and becoming responsible for the Bryan campaign in Michigan. Mr. Stevenson later resigned the chairmanship, but the friction which, however, never interrupted amicable relations in personal intercourse, continued and the result was the decision on Mr. Stevenson's part to withdraw from the firm.

DEFIED THE LAW.

Saloonkeeper J. Condon Charged With Sunday Violation.

Officer Flickinger Filed the Affidavit—Other Places Being Watched—Police News.

Today John Condon, who conducts a saloon at 274 Calhoun street, was arrested on the charge of violating the Sunday law. Officer Flickinger, who filed the affidavit, says Condon had the back door of his place open last Sunday and that parties were seen going in and out. Condon asked for a continuance of the case so that he could consult an attorney, therefore Mayor Scherer carried it over until tomorrow morning.

Superintendent Gorsline says he has several other places under surveillance and is only waiting to gather evidence to convict the violators.

Yesterday afternoon John Wilkinson paid a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $19, for violating the Nicholson law.

George Braybrook, against whom an affidavit was filed on the charge of not taking out a liquor license is one ahead of the officers. While Lieutenant Lapp was hunting for the offender, the latter slipped around and quietly took out a license. The case had to be dismissed.

A PEDDLER FINED

E E. Myers, an express man, was fined $10 and costs by the mayor for peddling without a license. Myers was selling vegetables from house to house.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Harry Beyers Brings Suit Against Mamie Beyers.

Damage Case for $10,000 Against the Street Railroad Company—An Insanity Examination.

E. V. Emrick, as attorney for the plaintiff, has brought suit in the circuit court asking that his client, Harry Beyers, may be given a divorce from his wife, Mamie Beyers, because of cruelty and on other grounds. The The plaintiff is a blacksmith and the defendant is employed at the Randall. The parties have been married three years.

Breen & Morris have filed a complaint in the superior court asking that their client, Mary E Flynn, may be given a judgment of $10,000 against the Fort Wayne Consolidated Railway company for injuries received through the negligence of the company. She was riding on the Robison park line and had her limbs and other parts of her body injured in an accident.

John Sheenan is on trial before Justice Bullerman this afternoon for assault and battery on Frank White. The case is the result of a fight which the parties had a few days ago. E. V. Emrick is the attorney for the defendant.

Justices France and Huser and Drs. Schilling and Daemling are holding an inquest this afternoon in regard to the mental condition of Mrs. Lena Budde, of 65 West Fourth street.

Four affidavits have been filed in Justice Bullerman's court against saloonkeepers for selling liquor without a license. The case had to be dismissed.

A PEDDLER FINED

E E. Myers, an express man, was fined $10 and costs by the mayor for peddling without a license. Myers was selling vegetables from house to house.

THE RACES.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 20.—The feature of the grand circuit races here yesterday was the victory of Pearl C. over Phenol in the 2:12 pace. It was a great race from start to finish and Phenol after winning the first two heats was shut out of a piece of the money by a serious break in the last heat. After the first heat Jones was taken down from behind Pearl C. and Mike Bowerman given the ribbons. He drove a great race, winning the third heat on an eyelash finish and taking the next two handily, the clip Pearl C. set under Bowerman's guidance driving Phenol to break in both heats.

Margarette and Fairview were easy winners of the two other events on the card. Fairview lowered his mark one-half second in the third heat of his race. The attendance was 2,000 Summaries:

2:40 Class, Trotting, Three-year olds, Purse $800—Margarette, first; Olivewood, second, Bob Collins, third; Nobby, fourth. Time—2:16¼, 2:18, 2:22¼.

2:30 Class, Pacing, Three-year-olds, Purse, $800—Fairview, first; Joe Baily, second; Gus Hornet, third; Odd Fellow, fourth, and Burr Patch, distanced. Time—2:14¼, 2:17½, 2:13½.

2:12 Pace, Purse $1,000—Pearl C., first; Dick Wilkes, second; Alti, third; Captain Crouch, Nydia Wilkes, King Lud and Phenol also started. Time—2:08¾, 2:08¾, 2:07½, 2:07½, 2:10¾.

2:35 Pace, Purse, $1,000—Sidivens, first; Happy Daniel, second; Galena, third. Time—2:16¼ 2:15½, 2:15¾ 2:17¾.

2:18 Pace, Purse $1,000—Radius, first; Delta, second; Norwood, third; Luella Shawhan, fourth. Dick, Prince Daniel, Johnnie B., Tribmont, Princess Eulalia, Allerian, Monta and Pilot Medium also started. Time—2:12¼, 2:12¼, 2:12¾, 2:15½ 2:16¼, 2:17¾, 2:22½.

DECATUR, Ill., Aug. 20.—Following are the results yesterday of the trotting meeting:

2:28 pace, purse $500—Easter Bell, first; Wilhelmina, second; Stelle, third. Time—2:15½.

2:19 pace, purse $500—Lucy Wilkes, first; Lady Helen, second; Prestoria Wilkes, third. Time—2:14½.

LEBANON, Ind., Aug. 20.—About 4 000 people were in attendance at the fair yesterday. The results:

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 20.—Marion Mills, the Oshkosh wonder, paced a mile yesterday at the fair grounds track, which is not fast, without sulky or driver, in 2:08½. This is the fastest performance of the kind ever made and establishes a world's record. The time is authentic. The quarters were made in 0:31, 1:02¾, 1:35 and 2:08½. This beats Happy Jack, the Appleton horse, by four seconds. Marion Mills is a handsome bay mare, with flowing mane and tail. She is the property of George W. Athearn, of this city, and is booked for exhibitions in Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and numerous other cities. Her best time to sulky is 2:15

BUFFALO N. Y., Aug. 20.—None of the horses in the 2:18 trot yesterday were able to give Franklin an argument and he won a hollow victory in easy time. The attendance was up to the ordinary. Weather cool and track a bit heavy. Pools were sold as formerly, except that the betting fraternity was corralled within a fence and admission to the enclosure was charged. Summary:

1:18 Class Trotting, Purse $2,000.—Franklin, first; Satin Slipper, second; Lake Erie, third. Time, 2:12, 2:15¾, 2:13½.

Li Hung Chang.

NEW CASTLE ON TYNE, Aug. 20.—Li Hung Chang has suddenly curtailed the program of his trip through the provinces. He took a special train for London at 1:40 p. m. today.

Ex-Congressman Dead.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug 20.—Ransom W. Dunham, of Chicago, who was visiting friends here, died suddenly of apoplexy last night, aged 58 years. Mr. Dunham was an ex congressman, having served in the national house in 1884-5. He was also ex-president of the Chicago board of Trade. He formerly lived in this city.

POLITICAL CLUBS.

Two of Them Meet and Effect Permanent Organizations.

A number of republicans of this city who favor the free coinage of silver and who, because of that issue in the political campaign of this year, intend to vote for the democratic candidates for president and vice president, held a meeting last night in their rooms in the Hackett building, on West Wayne street, and effected a permanent organization of a republican silver club.

The movement for the formation of this club was started a few days ago and a petition for names was circulated, which resulted in securing fifty signers and the renting of a handsome suite of rooms in the building mentioned above, which were furnished, provided with reading matter and made attractive in every way for the members.

At the meeting last night A. B. White was made chairman and, after the preliminaries for an organization had been effected, speeches were made by Attorney S. F. Swayne and Frank Lamont. The following permanent officers of the club were elected:

President—A. B. White.

Vice President—John C. Cain.

Corresponding Secretary—Jesse A. Young.

Financial Secretary and Treasurer—George L. Byers.

At the next meeting a vice president will be selected from each ward in the city. The club will meet on Wednesday evening of each week, and the rooms will be open every day and evening. Adherents of all political creeds are invited to visit the rooms, where a warm welcome will be extended. In addition to the fifty names on the roll of the club, nearly that many more are willing to join, and there will be a big class for iniation at the next meeting.

REPUBLICAN RAILROAD CLUB.

Quite a large number of the railroad men of the city met last night at the rooms of the Republican Business Men's club, in the White block, and organized for the campaign. Mr. Enoch Cox called the meeting to order and presided until the organization was effected, after which, in the absence of the president-elect, the first vice president took the chair. Mr. Cox and Dr. C. B. Stemen made forcible and interesting addresses.

The organization of the club, which will be known as the Fort Wayne Railroad McKinley club, was perfected, and it starts out with 300 members. At the meeting last night the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—C. D. Law.

First Vice President—Joseph Sunderland.

Second Vice President—Henry Stouder.

Fourth Vice President—John F. Shepler.

Fifth Vice President—William M Glenn.

Sixth Vice President—Hugh Hogan.

Seventh Vice President—William Birbeck.

Eighth Vice President—Capt. Robert Harrison.

Ninth Vice President—Capt. John C. Kensill.

Treasurer—C. H. Newton.

The regular meetings of the club will be held on Wednesday evenings, and the next meeting will be held at the same hall as was the meeting of last night.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug., 19, 1896.

Maj. William McKinley, Canton, Ohio:

C. D. LAW, President.

SPEAKING MEETINGS.

Milan Center—Addressed by Judge O'Rourke and S. F. Swayne.

Lafayette Township—Addressed by Will Colerick and others.

Mayor Scherer, Henry Colerick and W. C. Ryan will address a democratic meeting in the Ninth ward tomorrow night, at which time a Bryan and Sewall club will be organized with a large membership.

Carl Sauer and J. B. Harper will address the republicans at Vogeley's hall, on Maumee avenue, tomorrow evening.

LOYAL HALL DEMOCRACY.

The regular weekly business meeting of the Loyal Hall Democracy was held last night at their rooms, on East Main street, and business of importance transacted

FOURTH WARD REPUBLICANS.

Forty-three republicans of the Fourth ward organized a McKinley and Hobart club last night, with the following officers: President, Wm T. Jefferies; vice president, Emanuel Strauss; secretary, C. C. Casterline; treasurer, Ed Young.

We have received another invoice of lemonade spoons. Dallas F. Green.

Who Had Arrested Men for Obstructing the Sidewalks While Listening to a Silver Discussion.

At Indianapolis, as in this city, and every other large city and town and village and hamlet in the country, crowds have been in the habit of collecting at certain corners to discuss the financial question. At Indianapolis, a few days ago, the police made several arrests for obstruction of traffic, and since then there have been no crowds. Yesterday the men arrested were brought before Judge Cox in police court, who dismissed them after making a speech of some length in which he declared that citizens had a perfect right to collect in any number upon the streets or elsewhere to discuss political questions.

"I want to say here and now that there is not a decision of any court, high or low, where it is held that a man violates the law by talking over political questions in the street. On the contrary, all of the decisions are the other way. The right of free speech is fundamental in our constitution and must not be denied. No police force can stop it. It is the right of American citizens. This is a time when perplexing questions are puzzling the people. They are questions of vital importance to the common people. It is only by ample discussion of the questions that confront them that they can learn properly to exercise their right of franchise. They have a right, under the law and the constitution, to discuss these questions, and this court is going to protect them in that right.

"This thing is not new. The streets of this city have been often crowded by political gatherings, ratification meetings, and so forth. On election nights, when the people are impatient for news from all over the country, and gather in force in front of the offices of newspapers, the streets have often been completely blocked to all traffic. Business has been entirely suspended by the crowds. These are only small crowds that gather on our street corners. It seems to be the avowed policy of the police to prevent these gatherings. I want to say right here that this court will not uphold them in this course.

"So much for the charge against this man of obstructing the sidewalk. There is a case of loitering against him. The ordinance under which this case is brought was designed to prevent unlawful loitering, the gathering of thieves and idle men for purposes of vagrancy. It was not directed against such harmless gatherings as these. In this case case the ordinance seems to have been used as an engine of oppression, and this court will not be a party to such action. That's all I've got to say. I don't want any more cases of this kind brought into this court."

FOUR RUNAWAYS.

Broadway Witnessed an Exciting Scene Yesterday Afternoon.

There was a pretty lively bunch of runaways on Broadway, between Jefferson and Washington, yesterday afternoon. The horse of Charles Rippe, the liveryman, which was attached to a light buggy, became frightened and ran away. It dashed north on Broadway and, running in on the sidewalk in front of George Nichter's barber shop and Schroeder Bros.' drug store, started the horse of the Eckart pork packers, which was hitched there, and afterwards the horses of Charles Lahmeyer, the grocer, and Friemon & Vollmer, the mineral water dealers. For a time it was exciting and confusion prevailed. The Rippe horse continued north on Broadway, overturned and smashed the buggy, and was finally stopped near Main. The Eckart horse turned and went west on Washington, ran into a bicycle which was owned by Guy Smith, and smashed it, and was stopped near Van Buren, where it was secured by Fred Hostman, the driver, soon afterwards. The other two horses were stopped before any particular damage was done.

CALEDONIAN SPORTS.

Tomorrow Will be Field Day at Robison Park.

Tomorrow at Robison park will occur the annual picnic and athletic games of the Caledonian club, and, weather permitting, there will be a large attendance. The Scotch sports never fail to draw a crowd.

The games will be called at 1:30 p. m. and the program includes quoiting, 100 yard dash, putting sixteen pound shot, tossing the taber, high jump, boys race under fourteen years, throwing sixteen pound hammer, boys' race under ten years, running broad jump, pole vault, half mile race and tug of war.

The officers of the day are: Judges, A. F. McLachlan, Thomas Duncan, W. W. Orrick; clerk, Allan H. Dougall; announcer, Wm. Lawson; starter, W. G. Burne; timer, Angus McPherson; marshal, Thomas Sinclair; president, James B White; first vice president, Thomas Duncan; second vice president, Wm. Lawson; secretary, Allan H. Dougall; treasurer, Robert Dickie.

Marion society does unique things occasionally. The other evening two young ladies, Misses Barker and Griest, gave a political party. Bryan and McKinley, from campaign lithographs, boarned upon a throng of dancers moving to the tune of "The McKinley March" or 'The Free Silver Two Step."

IN CONVULSIONS.

Mrs. Isidore Alringer Passes to Her Last Reward—Funeral of the Murdered Elmer Ferguson.

Nancy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Byron, died of convulsions at the Union house last night. The child had an attack on the streets last Tuesday and was conveyed to the Union house, where she steadily grew worse until her death. The father of the little girl was a foreman for the Degnon Construction company, which built the Robison park street railway line, and is at present in West Virginia employed by the same company. A telegram was sent to him last night and he will probably arrive in time to attend the funeral. The deceased child was five years old.

Alice E., wife of Isadore Alringer, the well known clerk in the Fruit house, died last night of indigestion at her home, 168 Griffith street. Deceased was forty-four years old. Besides the husband there are four children surviving her, as follows: May, Olney, Emma and Beulah. Olney is employed at the electric works. Mrs. Alringer had been ill for a long time.

The funeral of Mrs. I. Alringer will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. from the house, 168 Griffith street.

The funeral of Elmer Ferguson, who was murdered last Monday night, took place from the residence of his parents, 209 East Jefferson street, and half an hour later from the United Brethren church, Rev. A. W. Ballinger officiating.

The funeral of the little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George B. Stemen will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 300 West Main street.

FELL OFF A CAR.

John Refine's Serious and Almost Fatal Accident.

The little girl of Mrs. Bradshaw fell and fractured her right arm last evening, while playing at the house of Mr. and Mrs. John Morning, No. 2 Warsaw street, where she was visiting. Dr. Morse Harrod attended the little sufferer.

Frederick Reiter, a buyer for the City mills, fainted on the street at the corner of Main and Harrison, today, and was conveyed to the home of his son-in law on Baker street. In falling his head struck the stone curbing, and a serious wound was inflicted. Mr. Reiter has not been in good health for some time, which makes his chances of recovery uncertain.

An old man, named John Refine, a laborer, fell out of an electric car on Spy Run avenue last night. His body dropped to the ground directly in front of a wagon, which passed over him. His head was badly cut and he was otherwise painfully injured.

John Casimer, of Leo, was brought to the city and taken to the St. Joe hospital, suffering from a severe injury to his left eye. He was employed in the saw mill of his uncle, Frank Mueller, when a splinter flew from a piece of timber and struck him in the optic, whence it was removed with the greatest difficulty by Dr. K. K. Wheelock. It is probable that sight of the injured organ is destroyed.

CENTURY RUN.

George Wheelock and Sidney Schwarz Make a Nice Record.

George Wheelock, a son of Dr. K. K. Wheelock, and Sidney Schwarz, a nephew of the Epstein brothers, clothing merchants, have made a nice bicycle record that is causing considerable talk among amateur wheelmen. Masters Wheelock and Schwarz made a century run to Wabash, Ind., and return, the entire trip of 100 miles being accomplished in eleven hours and forty-two minutes. The trip down was made in five hours and forty-two minutes and the return in six hours. They would have beaten this time only that young Schwarz's bicycle saddle gave way before reaching home and he rode the remaining distance on the bare frame.

The boys are only fifteen years old and they are to be complimented on the record they have made.

Next Tuesday evening the Young Men's sodality will give an ice cream social at Library hall, and the affair promises to be a big success.

Fred G. Buhlman has returned from Santa Barbara, Cal., where he has been on business for the Western Gas Construction company.

Miss Amelia Yeager, of Danville, Ill., is the guest of Miss Sophia Seabold, of West Main street.

The refreshments served were ice cream in bimetallic layers of silver and gold. Souvenirs of the occasion were campaign horns. The house was decorated like a campaign club room, except for the elegance and art that is attained only where ladies' deft hands have been at work. Pictures of McKinley and Bryan were draped in the national colors. The rooms were trimmed with bunting of silver and gold.

It's Mutual.

We make friends of our customers. How? By prompt service with first class goods. Our aim is to please our patrons, and thus merit future business.

All Our Goods are Warranted, anything not found exactly as represented my be returned.

REPUBLICAN silver clubs are springing up all over the country.

FERGUSON'S murderer is a second Strayer. He has dropped completely out of sight.

THE cool weather of the last few days has caused considerable sickness.

OLD SOL is coming back again with his fierce rays and will give us some hot days before the summer ends.

WABASH democrats will start a silver daily paper. Alfred Isley is booked to do the editorial, and Jerome Wellman, of Urbana, to be the local man.

THE phrenologists of Indiana will hold their state convention at Kokomo August 22, 23 and 24, and a splendid gathering is anticipated. The advocates of this science have made vast strides the past few years, especially those in Indiana.

EX-POSTMASTER GENERAL WANAMAKER will be a candidate for United States senator against Senator Cameron in Pennsylvania next winter, and from present appearances it looks as if he would be able to defeat the latter in the legislature.

THE enterprising paragraphist is already getting in his work on the small boy in great shape. He reports him as "viewing with alarm the near approach of the time when he must wash his face, comb his hair and trudge off to school to pore over his books and mind the teacher."

THE crop report of the Indiana agricultural station, for the week just ended, shows corn in the southern portion of the state as fast maturing and nearly safe from frost, and in the northern and central sections in fair progress with the probability that it will be safe from frost by September 1st to the 15th. Large crops of tomatoes, cabbage and beans are in good condition. Potatoes will be a large crop, although many are rottening in localities. Pears, plums and grapes are very abundant.

IT IS interesting to note that up to date this year the exports of corn show an increase of 33,000,000 bushels over the same period last year. As this country has lost its prestige as a wheat, producing country, there is a strong hope that the future has in store an enlarged market for our corn, in the production of which we have no competion.

ACCORDING to the report of Consul Germain, the wine production of the world last year was 3,672,000,000 gallons. The estimated population of the world is 1,479,000,000. This would give nearly three gallons of wine to every man, woman and child in the world. These figures may be a starter for some temperance mathematician with a 'head for figgers."

A PARTIAL eclipse of the moon occurs on August 22. With a night favorable as far as clouds are concerned, the eclipse will be an interesting one. It is the only one of the four eclipses of the year that is visible in this part of America. Almost three quarters of the disk will be obscured, and from the time of entering outer shadow, or penumbra, as it is called, to the time of leaving it, five and three quarters hours will intervene.

AN exchange sums up the situation in a pithy compendium as follows: "Every man has a hobby and every rider of a hobby expects every one else to think, believe, act and operate like himself. The base ball crank thinks every man is off who isn't as crazy about base ball as he is himself. The bicycle fanatic considers all who do not enthuse on the bike question lacking in some mental essential. There are few men who are broad enough to accord to others the right to differ from them and yet regard them as their mental equals. There are honest bimetallists and honest single standard men and honest free for all silverites. But none is honest enough to think the others are equally honest—and possibly just as fully entitled to their own opinions."

THE removal of the northern state prison from Michigan City to Indianapolis is being agitated. Senator Shively, of Richmond, will champion a bill at the next session of the legislature favoring the location of both the northern and southern state prisons at Indianapolis. He says that in the removal of that at Michigan City there would be no financial loss since it is in a most dilapidated condition, scarcely a building fit for the uses intended in it, and it would require very nearly as much to put it in proper condition as it would to build a modern prison. He would unite the two prisons under one set of officers believing that it would be much cheaper and the work done better. Mr. Shively is a member of the prison committee appointed by the last general assembly.

In the Fall.

We observe that some hypercritical individual is again objecting to the word "fall" to designate the time of year which our British brethren usually name "autumn." The hypercritical individual is simply silly. If there is one word which is rightly used in the English language it is the term "fall" to denote the months of September, October and November. It is a whole poem in itself, that word "fall," thus used. It means the time of the fall of the leaf. In September the green of summer fades a little, the more fragile and tender of the leaves begin to fall like flakes of an advancing snowstorm. In October the trees turn golden and red and glorious, the leaf storm is full on, the dying foliage descends thick and fast and covers the earth with a brightness as of flowers in bloom. October flits, November arrives, and with him the winds and the soaking rains. The last foliage is torn from the trees, the leaves swirl hither and thither in the wind and rain and finally pack away in hollows and banks to turn to rich brown mold and fertilize the earth. The last leaf has disappeared; the trees hold up their arms, brown and withered; the "fall" season is over.

If it is incorrect to speak of the "fall" season of the year, then it is just as incorrect to speak of the spring of the year.

Waste material frequently proves to be worth more than the thing it is the waste of. This is true of the by products of petroleum. At first refiners of the oil were put to their wits' end to know what to do with the dreadful refuse cast off in making the kerosene for illuminating oil. It seemed to spoil everything it touched and filled the air with nauseous odors besides. By and by they became wiser. They learned to utilize one after another these waste products of kerosene. Now naphtha, benzine, gasoline, vaseline and a dozen or more much valued medicines are distilled from the once useless and unsightly rubbish. Everything is of use when its use is found. Even some useless people could probably be made of service if their right place could be ascertained.

Don't lose your bankbook. A judge of the supreme court of New York has decided that when a bankbook is presented at the bank which issued it the money it calls for shall lawfully be paid to the bearer unless there are circumstances accompanying the presentation of the book that look suspicious. This decision will no doubt be followed elsewhere. Therefore if you lose your bankbook, the one who finds it may collect your money and the bank not be held responsible.

The growth of electric street railways is shown in the fact that in the state of New York alone 94 per cent of all such roads are operated by electricity, against 26 per cent six years ago.

Cleveland, O., has reached her one hundredth birthday as about the liveliest centenarian on record. She is to be congratulated on that and also on her baseball team.

There has been weather this summer that makes the weary mortal yearn for a summer hotel at the north pole.

ARE WORTH MILLIONS

GOLD DISCOVERIES NEAR SPOKANE, WASH., AND IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Le Roi Mine Has Paid Many Dividends—Its Stock Risen From 5 Cents to $5 Per Share—Some Romances Heard Near the Mines and In Spokane.

Over in Spokane, Wash., they are enjoying a flood of prosperity. Whether it is merely a temporary wave which will soon subside, leaving a harder and drier beach than ever, or whether it is a permanent returning tide, remains for the future to reveal.

The merchants of Spokane are all doing well, the banks show good deposits, the clearing house remarkable gains, the hotels are crowded, and over all and everything there is spread a ruddy glow from the first direct rays of the rising sun of hope and promise. The cause of these new conditions at Spokane is the development of the gold mines of Washington and British Columbia. The developing was first inspired by some rich discoveries of gold made in Trail Creek, B. C., and Spokane is fast becoming a second Denver.

Trail Creek is essentially a gold camp. The ores are not high grade. Their average is from $25 to $40 per ton. The veins, however, are very large, if, correctly speaking, they can be called veins at all. More properly they are vast ore shoots. No clearly defined walls have ever been found. In the famous Le Roi mine, which has paid so many handsome dividends within the past nine months, they were driving their tunnel for many months along what appeared to be a clean, smooth, clearly defined wall. An old miner was being shown through the mine workings, and his attention was particularly called to the "beautiful smooth wall." He whipped out his pocketknife, picked at the "wall" for a few moments and then called for a pick. A few heavy blows broke through the "wall," and from behind there tumbled out a beautiful chunk of ore, of course to the amazement of the mine superintendent and all concerned. A crosscut tunnel was run in at this point, driven for 75 consecutive feet in solid ore all the way, and at last reports was still in ore and no "wall" found yet. The veins are of enormous and still undefined magnitude.

But every new mining camp is sure to develop, along with its ores, cranks, gamblers, boomers and swindlers, a few touches of romance, bits of story and thrilling tales of adventure, pleasant to read about on a hot summer's day while swinging in a hammock under a friendly shade tree and fighting flies with a huge palmetto. A poor saloon keeper in Spokane, bucking the ghost of hard times, makes a wry face when forced to take for his rye whisky and cigars stock in the Le Roi mines at 5 cents a share in settlement of the bills of some of his customers—three shares of stock for a drink, five shares of stock for two drinks. But the butcher and baker and porter and the wholesale liquor house in Seattle were not so "enthusiastic" about mines and refused to accept the Le Roi stock in payment for their wares, work and whisky, and the poor saloon keeper was on the verge of being closed out. Forty-six thousand shares of the 5 cent Le Roi stock had he accumulated in this way. He is out of the saloon business now, but still owns the Le Roi stock because he could not get rid of it and now lives upon the princely income of his holdings, valued (at today's market prices) at $276,000. At three shares of stock for a drink he was paid for his whisky at the rate of $18 per drink. This is a record in the saloon business hard to beat.

But while the Le Roi is a great property there will be other properties developed up there fully as great and far greater. This may be true in the Trail creek district, but will unquestionably be true on the Colville reservation and in the Boundary creek district, just west of Trail. These districts undoubtedly carry the great mother lodes of that mineral zone. This is the conclusion of the best geologists and the most renowned experts, including such men as Clarence King and Colonel John Weir, who have made a careful scientific study of that country. At Trail creek the Le Roi bids fair soon to have a rival in the Jumbo, which is situated on the opposite side of the same famous Red mountain. But over on the reservation and in the Boundary creek country, which, by the way, are in fact geologically one and the same district, being separated only by the imaginary boundary line between Uncle Sam's and the queen's domains, the ores lie in distinctly marked veins as distinguished from the ore chutes of Trail. The veins are of enormous width and traceable in continuous belts for miles with that regularity which delights the geologist and mine expert. They know "where they are at" in that country. The veins run from 20 to 500 feet wide.

One of the most noted experts in the world and a man who has examined every mining camp in the world excepting one recently spent six months in this district and now pronounces it to be "the greatest mineralized country on the face of the globe" and one over which "the world will go mad in the next few years." The ores of the reservation and Boundary creek run much higher grade than at Trail. The increased value consists in an excess of copper, which is a great advantage from a smelting point of view as well as in the matter of dollars and cents in ores so refractory as the ores of this district are.

At Trail the average is not over 6 per cent copper, and it is necessary at the Trail smelter to ship in copper concentrates from Butte, Mon. On the reservation, for instance, the great La Fleur mine assays have run as high as 66 per cent copper, or about 1,400 pounds of copper to every ton of rock.—Portland Oregonian.

She Got Her Transfer.

"Certainly, madam. Which depot?" asked the conductor.

"But I don't know which depot you mean," replied the conductor.

"Never you mind what you know and what you don't know," snapped the woman. "You do as you are told. You give me a transfer. Do you hear?"

"But'—

"I won't have your but. Just you give me that transfer or I will report you."

And the conductor gave it to her, while every one on the car hoped he had sent her to the wrong place.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Unkind to Him.

"This blackberry pie isn't nearly so good as those mother used to make."

"No. I told your mother this morning when she made it that you would be sure to find fault with it."—Chicago Record.

After all this is a glorious century and it is good to live in these times.

POOR BETTINA GIRARD

Married and Divorced She Sought Fame on the Stage and Went the Usual Route from Bad to Worse — Her Career.

BETTINA GIRARD the young woman who shone for a brief time in the operatic world and disappeared almost as suddenly as she sprang into doubtful fame, has run the gamut of recklessness, and is now an outcast in Europe, with the realization that the pittance allowed her by her father will be cut off if she returns to her native country.

After her divorce from her first husband Bettie Ordway went on the stage as a singer. She had a good voice and the fame of her exploits had preceded her, so that her company played to good business from the first. American theater goers will remember her as a member, and a leading one, of Conreid's opera company, in "The King's Fool," a comic opera which had a varying success for two or three seasons, and in which Della Fox succeeded Mrs. Padelford, as she was known then.

The drinking of wine from her slipper at White Sulphur Springs had cast a romantic tinge about the young woman and the public was eager to see her. She lost her voice and appeared in Chicago in "Old Kentucky," at the Haymarket, on the last occasion of her stage work here. Where she is now and what is her fate is told in the following review of a singularly pathetic career:

Albert Ordway, veteran of the war, once chief of ordinance of the United States government, to-day commander of the militia of the District of Columbia, comes of an aristocratic southern family, whose name is a household word below the line for all that birth, culture and refinement imply. He is a proud man—proud of his lineage, proud of his career, and proud of the position he has attained in the military and social life of the nation's capital.

Gen. Ordway's daughter, Bettina, was in her day the most beautiful girl in Washington. The phrase "a social belle" has become so hackneyed that it almost fails to convey the meaning which really lies in the word. Bettina Ordway was a social belle. After leaving the convent in Georgetown, in which her early years were spent, all her training was directed to but one end—that of fitting her to shine in society. Toward the accomplishment of this end her father engaged instructers in dancing, elocution, singing, languages and those other attainments that are necessary to win social recognition. With all these the young woman combined graces that no instruction or preparation could enhance. She was clever, witty, original and sparkling. Hers was truly a rare mind. She had a man's broad grasp of things and a judgment far beyond her years.

When she first appeared in society she came in contact with statesmen and diplomats from all parts of the world. All who met her were delighted with her charming manners and frequently surprised at the fund of knowledge and experience which she seemed to possess.

You have been told that this young woman was beautiful. She was a dark girl, of superb figure, with lustrous brown eyes, a thick mass of soft, shining hair, and a rosebud of a mouth, in each corner of which there always lurked a tiny curl of a line, whether of amusement or of mischief it was impossible to say. In the convent she had acquired the reputation of being a fun-loving girl, full of life and somewhat disposed to substitute for the conventions of polite society a code of ethics of her own.

BETTINA GIRARD.

Her social career for two years was uneventful. There were many men who sought her smile and there were many upon whom it was graciously bestowed. And, as you can easily figure out for yourself, all the other women were furiously envious of her.

Easy is the descent—oh, so easy! There was a banquet at White Sulphur Springs, in Virginia, whither the Ordways had gone for the summer, and Miss Bettina was the loveliest of the guests. In a dazzling evening dress, adorned with laces and jewels, she sat among gorgeously arrayed diplomats, army officers and government officials. Everybody drank freely and Miss Bettina's face became flushed and her eyes sparkled with unusual brightness.

A young man who was attached to the French embassy and who had shown considerable attention to Miss Ordway during the season sat opposite her. Just as they were rising from the table a young cavalier who had sat beside her began to jest with her about the young Frenchman's assiduous devotion.

"Some day," said the young man, "your admirer will probably be famous."

The incident that followed was over in a minute. Into the motives that prompted her action it would be idle to inquire. Suffice it that the curl of Miss Bettina's rosy lips became intensely mischievous and that, with her hand under the table, fumbling among the draperies, she replied:

And thereupon with an enchanting smile, she held aloft a tiny white satin slipper, warm from her foot, and bade a waiter fill it with champagne. She then proffered this novel bumper to the young Frenchman.

A hush fell upon the room and every eye was turned to the young man's face. He was painfully embarrassed. From his neck to the roots of his hair his skin was scarlet and he looked as if he were devoutly wishing that the floor would open and swallow him. The slipper was within his reach and a pair of roguish eyes were turned full upon him. He hesitated for one long moment and then, true to his country and his calling, he took the slipper and quaffed deeply of the wine. His gallantry was greeted with a burst of applause. With a low bow he returned the slipper to its owner, who, perceiving that there

Miss Bettina insisted upon going on the stage. She had a good voice, upon which she had bestowed considerable care, and in the circle in which she moved had achieved quite a reputation as a sweet singer. Her father was opposed to her entering professional life, but finally yielded to her entreaties and allowed her to prepare for grand opera under competent teachers.

Before she had completed her studies, however, she met Arthur Padelford, the heir of an old and rich Philadelphia family. He fell in love with her and she—she married him. It was a big wedding, full of all that glitter and gorgeousness which only Washington society can supply, and every person of note in the national capital was there.

Young Padelford had millions of dollars and Miss Bettina was very beautiful, and the gossips all declared that it was a perfect wedding and that the couple were splendidly matched. Their wedded life was very happy. It lasted exactly three months. There was only one day of unhappiness and upon the day that followed it Arthur Padelford applied to the courts for a divorce. The sensation which this created is still remembered in Washington.

After the divorce had been granted Bettina, as she was called by her friends, left Washington, assumed the name of Bettina Girard and went upon the stage. She secured engagements from several operatic companies, but her work did not attract attention until she joined the Conreid company. From that moment she began to descend at a lively pace.

Jack Raffael, a tenor singer of handsome appearance, was stabbed in St Louis by Robert Monroe. Mrs. Monroe was the cause. When Raffael recovered he married Bettina. After a few months they were divorced and Bettina married John Harrison Wolff. This marriage was followed in a short time by another divorce and after that she was married to William Beach.

She left Beach and from time to time there were rumors of her engagement to other men, but Bettina never went through the marriage ceremony again.

She made considerable money and spent it lavishly. She roved from one theatrical company to another, traveled a great deal, was mixed up in no end of scandals, and slowly went to pieces. Her voice failed her and she was unable to support herself. Her father gave her an allowance of $25 a week, but would have nothing further to do with her. In the early part of this year she broke down completely and was sent to a private sanitarium in New York.

The disgrace was more than Gen. Ordway could bear. One night, two weeks ago, he went to New York and met his daughter with her latest paramour in an uptown hotel. The interview was short, but decisive. His daughter had brought shame upon him and his family and must leave the country. If she went to Europe he would continue to grant her the allowance which he had settled upon her. As long as she remained there it would be continued. If she remained in this country or ever came back it would instantly cease. He never wanted to see her again. She is now in Paris.

SPIDERS FOR PARTNERS.

A Sirup Bottler Who Utilizes the Services of 6,000 Insects.

A sirup bottler has improved upon the prison lesson of Bruce, says Science. He has taken the spider into partnership in the working of one of his most important departments. Flies, cockroaches and other insects, attracted by his sweets and encouraged by the genial air of his bottling room, used to infest here with his work, get into his bottles, steal his goods and "worry him to death." Some 6,000 spiders now make their home on the ceiling and walls of his bottling department. Said the bottler to an interviewer: "These creatures know more than a great many people. Spiders do not care for sweet things and never drop into my vats or get into my bottles. I never disturb them except to feed them occasionally. They appear to know my call and will come out and feed from my hand or take a fly from my finger. They shut themselves up during most of the winter months in their little nests you see stuck like daubs of mud about the ceiling. When winter comes I brush away all the webs. They prefer to weave new ones every spring. I have been running this spider farm only two years, but I find my little partners indispensable. They will not endure in the place a single fly or insect that is a plunderer of sweets and sirups."

GOLD DEMOCRATS

Gathering at Louisville for a Convention.

Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge and Ex-Governor S. B. Buckner Head the Movement.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 20.—Delegates to the gold standard democratic convention began to arrive last night and a good attendance at the gathering this afternoon is expected. Among the prominent participants in its proceedings will be Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge and ex-Governor S. B. Buckner, who are in the city. Music hall has been handsomely decorated and sections assigned for the various districts. The state executive committee held a meeting last night at the Galt house, Chairman George M. Davie presiding. The subject under discussion was the platform. They did not attempt to draft it completely, but made suggestions as to what it should contain. During the meeting Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge was consulted about some matters pertaining to the platform. It was decided that Ex-Lieutenant Governor Hindman, of Adair county, should be named for temporary chairman of the convention. The committee on organization will report the make up of the state central and the state executive committee, and also a campaign committee, to be composed of eleven members, six of them to be from this congressional district in order that the meetings for consultations may be held without the necessity of long trips by all the members. Geo. M. Davie will probably be chairman of the state campaign committee and the Hon. A. J. Carroll secretary. Col. Thomas W. Bullitt will be the elector from this district.

COULDN'T READ ENGLISH

Judge Cole Inaugurates a New Test of Competency—Must Read the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A young German was barred from citizenship today after a practical demonstration that he could not read the English language. Two Germans applied together to Judge Cole, of the district supreme court, whose recent ruling in the case of an Italian that a knowledge of the constitution is essential to citizenship rights created general interest. Both Germans said they could read English and were given a newspaper as a test. One reached the reading requirements and was admitted to citizenship, but the other made so poor a showing that naturalization papers were refused, the court holding that no one was entitled to citizenship who is unable to read English.

WHICH WERE BETTER?

A California Minister Pleads That Incurably Sick Persons Be Painlessly Killed.

A popular discussion has been started in San Francisco by a sermon preached by Dr. C. W. Wendte, one of the leading pastors of Oakland. Dr. Wendte, speaking of the incurably ill or mortally wounded, asked: "Why seek, as now, to prolong their agonies? Why exhaust the resources of medical science to keep them in misery? Would it not be a more Christian act to put them gently out of pain? God speed the day when men shall rid themselves of theological and personal prejudices and act as justice dictates and mercy requires."

The minister cited many cases where men injured in disasters or wounded in battle pleaded in vain to have comrades end their sufferings. His sermon brought forth a flood of protests, the burden of a majority being, "Thou shalt not kill."

Populations One Hundred Years Hence.

Some writer has given the following figures for the populations of the various European countries 100 years from now, figuring on the same relative growth as for the past century: Russia, 250,000,000; Great Britain and Ireland, 100,000,000; Germany, 90,000,000; Austria-Hungary, 75,000,000; France, 45,000,000, and Italy, 45,000,000. The British subjects elsewhere on the globe at that time should make England rank with Russia, and there would be but two great powers in Europe then. The United States should be strongly in the lead with 700,000,000 inhabitants.

Soil For a G. A. R.

Colonel J. Linn Rodgers has sent a box of Ohio soil to the G. A. R. post at Bedford, Mass. The post is to plant a national tree on its grounds and is securing a box of soil from each state in the Union for the tree to spread its roots in. The tree is to be watered with water from Lake Champlain, Lake Erie and other lakes and streams where battles, naval or land, have been fought. The sample sent from Ohio in response to the request made to Governor Bushnell is a rich black loam.

THE STUDIOUS GIRL.

Race Between the Sexes for Education. Health Impaired by Incessant Study.

Ambitious girls work incessantly over their studies, and are often brought to a halt, through having sacrificed the physical to the mental. Then begin those ailments that must be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, dizziness, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, nervousness and blues, with lack of confidence; these are positive signs that woman's arch enemy is at hand.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham in May, one month after the young lady had first written, giving symptoms, and asking advice. She was ill and in great distress of mind, feeling she would not hold out till graduation, and the doctor had advised her to go home.

——— College, Mass.

You dear Woman:—

I should have written to you before, but you said wait a month. We are taught that the days of miracles are past. Pray what is my case? I have taken the Vegetable Compound faithfully, and obeyed you implicitly and, am free from all my ills. I was a very, very sick girl. Am keeping well up in my class, and hope to do you and myself credit at graduation. * * My gratitude cannot find expression in words. Your sincere friend, MARY ———

TWO EXCURSIONS.

Hundreds of Richmond and Bluffton People at the Park.

The Modern Railroader a Better Man Than Those of Twenty-five Years Ago—Local Gossip.

Robison park is growing in popularity as an excursion point and each excursion nowadays from the cities and towns in Northern and Central Indiana to that place is characterized by a much greater attendance than its predecessor.

To-day there were two excursions to that resort from out of town points. One came from Bluffton, over the Lake Erie and Western road, and the party is estimated at about 1,100 persons. It required eighteen cars to haul them to the park.

Another excursion party came in from the south, over the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, numbering over 700 persons. This excursion started from Richmond and was added to at all intermediate points. It was the first excursion to Robison park from that territory and its success is very gratifying to those who managed it.

Besides the visitors from abroad there are hundreds of Fort Wayne citizens in the park today. The Walther League of Emanuel's Lutheran church has an excursion to that point and at 2 o'clock had sold over 1,500 tickets. The street car company is giving excellent service, having thirty-five cars on the line. There is a car each way every three minutes.

THE MODERN RAILROADER.

In the office of one of the higher officials of an eastern road a few days ago the character of railway employes in the different departments came up for discussion, the ground being taken that in practically all departments a better grade of men were now in service than ever before. A general manager, to take rank among the foremost, must be a good financial as well as transportation man; a general superintendent must be a man well educated and able to handle men without friction; a superintendent of motive power must be well educated, have an economical turn and a way of pushing business when required; even the passenger conductor, the baggage man and the brakeman must be well educated and gentlemanly to long hold positions, and in all departments the character of the men is much higher than years ago. An employe must not indulge in strong drinks, must be of good habits generally and well up in reading and writing, for there are but few branches of service where there is not more or less of reading of orders and of writing. The office of train dispatcher has become an important branch of the service and requires well educated men, quick to understand orders, to handle trains with the present remarkable exemption from accident. Freight and passenger officials must be among the shrewdest and best educated men in the service; they must be well versed in rates, in the rules of the associations with which they are connected, and quick to seize any advantage their line possesses over a competing one.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Two women who were walking on the Pennsylvania tracks near Hammond yesterday morning had a bad fright and were given an illustration of the dangers attending a stroll upon the railway which will ever be fresh in their memories. The ladies were going west, deeply engaged in conversation, and did not notice the approach from the rear of No. 37 until warned of that fact by the whistle of the locomotive. Then one of the women sprang aside, but the other was momentarily paralized by fright and did not move until the iron horse was nearly upon her. Then she moved so slowly that the pilot beam struck her and pushed her over against her companion. The engine had nearly stopped and no injury was sustained by the blow, but the lady fainted from fright and did not recover until she was taken off the cars at Hammond. Engineer Henry Jones was at the throttle and it was only his prompt action in giving the danger signals and applying the air brakes that prevented a terrible accident.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

BRIEF MENTION.

C. W. Risley, superintendent of the Lima Northern, has tendered his resignation.

A. S. Durnell, tinner at the east shops, is taking a few days off duty to look after some private business.

It is now the understanding that the Northern Pacific will be turned over to the new management September 1.

All shops on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton system on Monday commenced working but eight hours.

Dr. E. F. Wagner has returned from a business trip to Cleveland, in the interest of the Pennsylvania relief department.

Trainmaster McKim, of the Toledo branch of the Pennsylvania system, was here today, the guest of the railway officials.

Seymour D. Boyd, of the Bass offices, is a guest at the Foster farm, where his wife and several other ladies have been sojourning for several days.

Miss Harriet B. Kendrick, stenographer at the Wabash freight office, will return this evening from St. Louis, where she spent her summer vacation.

The Peters' Box and Lumber company is now running a full force of workmen eight hours per day. The outlook for the lumber trade is brightening.

Foreman M. S. Willson, of the incandescent testing room at the electric works, has gone to Toledo on business for the company. He will be detained there about three weeks.

Nickel Plate engine 20 came out of the Stony Island shops yesterday and has been turned over to Engineer Huxley and Fireman Osteman for service between Fort Wayne and Bellevue.

Brakeman H. E. Taylor, of the Nickel Plate, was about to start out on his run yesterday, when a message summoned him home. His boy, who had been very ill, was taken suddenly worse.

The electric works this morning sent four arc dynamos to Richmond to take the place of those machines which were damaged by the flood last week. The old machines will be brought here and repaired.

A high official of the Pennsylvania road makes the statement that the company's shops at Altoona, Pa., are second in size only to the great Krupp works in Essen. At the Altoona shops each month $275,000 is paid in wages.

Detective Tom Wilkinson, of the Nickel Plate, has stopped the operations of thieves on that road. For three weeks there has not been a single car broken into nor anything of value taken from the trains or yards.

John Kesson, who has resided in Cincinnati for the past year, will return here to live and has accepted a position as solicitor for an insurance company.

The Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Michigan is making an extraordinary effort to run trains into Toledo over its own tracks by the 1st of September.

The Illinois Central has purchased 6 200 square miles of land in the Yazoo valley, Mississippi, and on August 29 will run a home seekers' excursion to that point.

John Carroll, of Chicago, is visiting relatives and friends in this city. He was formerly employed in the Pittsburg shops here, and called to see his old shopmates today.

The employes in the Big Four shops at Wabash and on the Michigan division of the Big Four will next week have their annual excursion and picnic at Warsaw, Ind.

Frank MacMillan, of Dayton, Ohio, a representative of a firm which manufactures varnish, is in the city calling upon the railway officials and others who purchase goods of his line.

Samuel Kelker, clerk at the Lake Shore offices and a son of the well known Pennsylvania engineer of the same name, is enjoying a vacation, which he will spend in Chicago.

Frank B. Conners, machinist at the Wabash shop, had some fingers pinched yesterday while engaged in removing siderods from an engine. His injuries are not severe and he will soon be able to work again.

George W. Kittredge, chief engineer of the Big Four, states that the company is purchasing no new steel this year; neither is it erecting any new bridges, but is keeping expenses down to the lowest possible figure compatible with efficiency.

Joseph Byninski, who had been visiting his parents at Garrett, Ind., is here to spend the balance of the week with his old friends. He is the foreman of the air brake department of the Wellsville shops and is now enjoying his annual vacation.

While train No. 61, on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, was pulling into Kendallville yesterday morning, the rails spread apart and seven cars rolled down the embankment. Four tramps, who were stealing a ride, were severely injured.

Indianapolis Journal: "One of the results of the visit of General Manager Loree and General Superintendent Miller to the city yesterday was the dismissal of twenty-five or more men in the yards about the union station and city freight depot. When business revives many of them will be re-employed."

It is now three years since the Union station at Terre Haute, built by William R. McKeen when president of the Vandalia line, was opened for business, and since opened not an accident has occurred to a passenger or employe within the station. Fifty-eight passenger trains are handled there every twenty-four hours.

Charles Stewart, Thomas Williams, Fred Starke, Ed Mennewisch, H. Beckness and C. Schneider, off on private business; L. Hibbler, E. McLaughlin and David Roche, off on account of sickness; F. X. Miller and E. B. Moore, off on account of trip hammer being out of repair, is the absentee list at the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

On account of the dullness of manufacturing interests the Big Four and Pennsylvania line stations in the Indiana gas belt are not doing more than one-half the business they did in 1894 and early in 1895, and it makes a marked difference in the revenue at such stations as Anderson, Marion, Muncie and a dozen other points which might be named.

Some of the Pennsylvania shopmen are disposed to object to the statement that they are in the habit of giving orders on the paymaster for their wages. Such practice has never been in use in this city and the shopmen are not so hard up that they must resort to such means to get the necessaries of life. If such practices are in vogue it is among some other branch of the service.

General Passenger Agent Daly, of the Lake Erie and Western, announces that the company will run no more Niagara Falls excursions this year, which will give the other lines an opportunity to run excursions to the falls with some show of getting business. Still, the high rate the Joint Traffic association forces them to charge will prevent many going who would go at the old rate of $5.

The late tornado at St. Louis destroyed a considerable number of cars of foreign roads, which, under the Master Car Builders' rules, the St. Louis roads must repair or renew. This has raised an interesting question, some of the roads being disposed not to live up to the association agreement, taking the position that when property is destroyed by what in legal phraseology is termed an act of God the courts will not compel them to make good the loss or pay damages

A good sized row is in prospect over the general passenger agents declining to hereafter furnish free transportation to advance agents of theatrical troupes. The theatrical managers, at a recent meeting in New York, organized for the purpose of fighting the railroad companies, and, while their task is regarded as hopeless, in official quarters, they will have abundant opportunity to present their grievances. The managers claim that the railroads, and particularly the Joint Traffic association are preventing the formation of road companies because of the high and stiff rates, and the latest action on the part of the general passenger agents will cause further hard feeling. It begins to look as if the railroads were bent on abolishing the deadhead system.

The new roads acquired by the Illinois Central necessitates its purchasing additional power, and it has just closed a contract for the building of six ten-wheeled freight engines, eighteen eight-wheeled passenger locomotives and four six wheeled switch engines. The order is divided between the Brooks and the Rogers locomotive works.

If someone will invent a railway car window to be raised ore lowered easily by touching a spring on of the greatest influences affecting human conduct will have been regulated. It is well known that the car window that won't go up makes men swear and women wish they could, but there are a number of other important ways in which the car window affects life, and it is safe to say that it figures in divorce cases about as often as the question of alimony for it is generally in a car and through somebody opening the car window that the troubles leading up to divorce begin. It is about the one only service in travel that a lady can ask a strange man to perform for her and it is about the only one a man can voluntarily offer.

SOME NOTED STATESMEN OF BY-GONE DAYS.

(Washington Letter.)

WHILE the selection of the young statesman from Nebraska is without exact parallel in the history of presidential nominations, Mr. Bryan is by no means extraordinarily young, as judged by many of the men who have exercised the most potent influence in the affairs of the republic.

Were Mr. Bryan to be elected president he would become chief magistrate at thirty-seven, ten years younger than was Grant when chosen to the same office. The latter was, as everyone knows, the youngest of American presidents, but on the other hand, the Boy Orator of the Platte is late in achieving national renown as compared with many other of our foremost men. It is, indeed, a curious fact that the republic, in its formative period, was practically dominated by young men. All the chief figures of the revolutionary period, with the exception of Washington, John Adams, and two or three others, were much younger than Mr. Bryan is now.

As an example of youthful precocity the career of Alexander Hamilton was undoubtedly the most remarkable among those of all the young men of eminence whom this country has produced. Hamilton was practically a famous man—as famous as Mr. Bryan the day after his great speech at Chicago—at twenty-five. It was in that year that he entered congress, and from that time on he was one of the most powerful figures of the time. At thirty he was a leading member of the constitutional convention of 1787.

It was natural, therefore, that Hamilton should be called by Washington as the first secretary of the treasury and given charge of the shaping of the nation's currency. He was then thirty-two, and at thirty-three he sent to congress his first "report on the public credit," which ranks as one of the great state papers of this nation and is part of the foundation of our form of government.

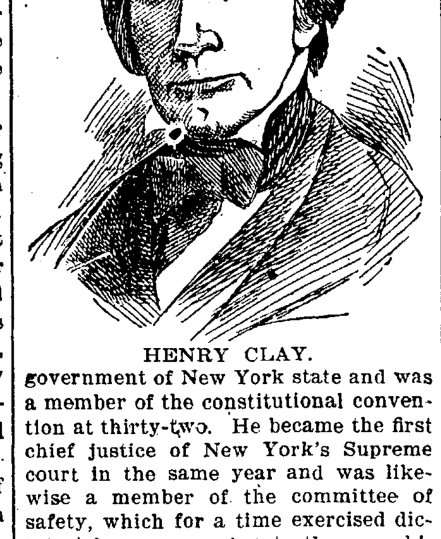

After Hamilton, Jefferson probably takes rank in the matter of youthful pre-eminence. The latter was only thirty-three when his almost inspired pen wrote the Declaration of Independence. But Jefferson was already nationally known some time before this, and next to Washington, and despite his age, was the most prominent citizen of Virginia. He was governor of that state at the age of thirty-six.

Madison, familiarly known as the father of the constitution, entered congress when he was twenty-eight and immediately took a leading rank in the councils of the young nation. When he began the making of the national charter he was only thirty-six, and it was at this age that he made his contributions, along with Hamilton and others, to the celebrated Federalist.

Monroe, of whose notable doctrine as regards foreign intervention on this continent we have heard very much in the last year, was three years younger than Madison, even when he was chosen to the continental congress. He was a United States senator at thirty-two and our minister to France at thirty-six.

Yet more remarkable, and almost equal to that of Hamilton, was the career of John Jay. Although the name of Jay is less known at the present day than that of many of his compatriots, yet it is doubtful if any man of the times exercised so deep and practical an influence as he. Jay entered the continental congress at twenty-nine and was a member of the committee, appointed for that purpose, which drafted the famous "Address to the People of Great Britain."

government of New York state and was a member of the constitutional convention at thirty-two. He became the first chief justice of New York's Supreme court in the same year and was likewise a member of the committee of safety, which for a time exercised dictatorial powers, owing to the anarchical condition of affairs at that time. Jay was a member of the commission which went to Paris to arrange the treaty of peace at thirty-six, and at thirty-eight, with Franklin, Adams and others, he signed the document which recognized the new republic as an independent nation.

Coming down to what might be called the second heroic period of American politics, we find that almost all of its dominant characters—Calhoun and Jackson, Webster and Clay, Benton and Fillmore—won their political spurs at a very early age. After having made his name known to all the people of the country as a fighter at twenty-nine, Jackson, then turned lawyer, was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the government of Tennessee. He was chosen United States senator at thirty and judge of the Tennessee Supreme court at thirty-one, which latter position he held for several years.

Jackson's lifelong antagonist, Calhoun, entered congress at twenty-nine and won a prominent position so quickly that at thirty-five he was chosen secretary of war. At the same age that Jackson was made senator from Tennessee Clay, known to his generation by the affectionate title of "The Mill Boy of the Slashes," was made senator from Kentucky. Serving for but a very short time, he was chosen to the lower branch of congress, and at thirty-four was elected speaker of the house of representatives. At thirty-seven he was a member of the Ghent commission.

Daniel Webster had already achieved fame as a lawyer when at thirty-one he was chosen to congress. He was only thirty-five when his famous argument in the Dartmouth college case placed him at the head of the American bar. Millard Fillmore, at thirty-six, had been twice elected to congress, at thirty-seven William H. Seward was put in nomination for governor of New York, and when twenty-nine James Buchanan was congressman from Pennsylvania.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

Garfield was elected to congress at thirty-one, after having been made major-general for his gallantry and brilliant achievements on the field of battle. Blaine entered congress at thirty-three and was made speaker a few years later and Roscoe Conkling entered at thirty.

It would be easy to extend the list. It is worth noting, too, that of two of our great military figures Winfield Scott was made brigadier-general at twenty-eight and Sheridan major-general of the United States army at thirty-five. George Bancroft, in spite of all his faults still our foremost historian, made himself famous at thirty by the publication of the first volume of his "History of the United States."

It is rather remarkable, too, and worthy of record, in view of Mr. Bryan's electric achievements at Chicago, that three out of the four or five greatest speeches ever delivered on American soil came from the lips of men younger than the present democratic nominee.

All things considered, Patrick Henry's famous speech before the Virginia house of burgesses is familiar above that of any other example of American oratory. When the Virginian uttered his thrilling words, "Tarquin and Caesar each had his Brutus, Charles I. his Cromwell, and George III.——" there being interrupted by cries of "Treason!" he was only twenty-nine.

PITTSBURG EXPLOSION.

Ten Men Burned, Three of Them Seriously.

PITTSBURG, Pa, Aug 20.—By the explosion of molten metal at furnace "I" of the Edgar Thomson steel works early this morning, ten men were burned, three seriously. The names of the latter were Mike Strasko, John Lorvick and John Dusma. They were burned about the head and body and feet, but all will recover. The explosion was caused by the molten iron striking a pool of water. The furnace was not damaged.

REFORMED ORPHANS.

Anniversary Celebration to Occur Next Wednesday.

Editor SENTINEL:

We would kindly direct the attention of our friends and citizens to the annual celebration at the Reformed Orphans home, Wednesday, August 26. The day will be celebrated as has been the custom for the past thirteen years. In the afternoon Rev. Dahlman, D. D., of Akron, Ohio, and Rev. Shick, D. D., of Tiffin, Ohio, will deliver addresses in the German and English languages, respectively. All arrangements for the entertainment of guests have been made. Lunch will be served at all hours; likewise refreshments of all sorts. Our home can be easily reached by taking car to Driving park, where 'busses will be waiting to transfer you to our home, for the small sum of five cents. We kindly ask your patronage on this occasion, and hope you may assist in the maintenance of an institution which is worthy of your support.

Yours Respectfully,

STERLING MORTON

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 20.—Local democratic managers say that they are not decided as to the presentation of Hon. J. Sterling Morton's name as a presidential candidate at the national convention at Indianapolis. A conference of gold standard democrats will be held here within a few days to consider the advisability of presenting Secretary Morton's name. Nebraska may not send delegates to the Indianapolis convention at all. This will also be decided at the coming conference.

Loose clothes and downy cushions bring only a negative sort of comfort to the woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The effects of such disorders are not limited to mere local discomforts but extend over the whole body. Perhaps the nerves are most affected, and this in turn disturbs the digestion. After that there is no telling what form the trouble may take. With irritable nerves and poor digestion, a woman is on the straight road to the grave. Women are notoriously negligent in matters pertaining to their health. Too many of them understand too little about their own physical make-up. They do not understand their possibilities or their limitations, and they do not know enough about themselves to know when a symptom is really serious and when it is not. This naturally makes them overlook the plainest of danger signals. The start of everything is simple. The start of so-called "female complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords immediate and lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting physicians.

The whole story of the "Favorite Prescription," and what it has done for thousands of women is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This is a 1008 page book, profusely illustrated, written in plain language for the use of every-day people, and gives in a clear and lucid way an immense amount of valuable information about health and medicine. It will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only.

Last evening Miss Sadie Kloepper entertained a number of friends in honor of Miss Bertha Seidler, of Chicago. Music, singing and various games were the features of the evening. At a late hour a delicious supper was served.

Plans have been drawn by Wing & Mahurin for a neat study and two additional rooms to be added to the new parsonage of the First Baptist church. Rev. Henson and family will have a charming new home when the work is completed.

Soon after Prof. C. R. Dryer returns to his school duties at Terre Haute, Mrs. Dryer and daughters, Alice and Clara, will join him and remain there. Miss Helen Dryer is a teacher in the public schools and, with her brother, Rex, of the electric works, will continue to reside in this city.

Tomorrow Gus Steger, Angus McPherson and John Riedmiller will go to Lake George, where they will occupy a cottage. Angus will catch fish, Gus will wash dishes and John will do the cooking. They will all fill in the spare time concocting fish yarns to tell their friends when they get home.

Miss Minnie Homsher, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Homsher, of Webster street, will return next Monday to Denver, Col., where she is engaged as teacher in the public schools, which open August 31. Miss Homsher was formerly a teacher in the Hosgland building in this city.

Rev. J. M. Boggs has returned from Pittsburg, where he was in attendance at the bedside of his wife's mother, who is dangerously ill. He was summoned by a telegram announcing the death of Miss Elizabeth Biegler, whose pastor he was, but he arrived too late to conduct the funeral services. Mrs. Boggs remains in Pittsburg until the condition of her mother's health will justify her departure for home.

I. S. Sunday, of Findlay, Ohio, has accepted the position of teacher in the shorthand department of the Fort Wayne business college and will be here September 1 to assume his new duties. Mr. Sunday was the official court stenographer in Hancock county, Ohio, for several years, and resigns those duties to come here. The college will open September 1, previous to which time new furniture will be placed throughout.

George K. Torrence has sold a portable Charter gasoline engine to the state institution. It is mounted on wheels and is different from anything in the gas engine line now in use in the city. The engine will furnish power to a machine for cutting ensilage and the object of portability is to use it on different parts of the institution farm. Superintendent Johnson expects to prepare 400 tons of ensilage as the winter's food supply for his live stock.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Baker have returned from Elyria, Ohio, where they attended the funeral of Mr. Baker's brother in law.

Fort Wayne Lodge, No. 2, Order of Lincoln, will meet this evening at K. O. T. M. hall, 107 Calhoun street. There will be a large class of candidates.

Howard Sorge, a lad living in Bloomingdale, captured a chicken hawk early this morning. The bird was about to get away with some of Howard's poultry when he caught it.

The Graffe estate is having the homestead on Calhoun street remodeled into a store building. An addition will be built at the front to reach to the sidewalk. It will be one story high.

Mrs. Torrance and Miss Marie Williams, of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Mrs. Torrance, of Ashley, Ind., have arrived in the city as the guests of Mrs. J. M. Henry and Miss Nannie Williams, of Grace avenue.

Arrangements are in progress for a farmers' institute to be held in this city September 3, an event that is attracting widespread attention in Allen county. Superintendent Alexander Johnson is taking a deep interest in the work.

Dr. Myers and Dr. Ruhl performed an operation on Master Lloyd Taylor at his West Main street home last evening. The boy has been down with typhoid fever, which brought on an ulceration of the lungs. Drs. Barnett and Ruhl operated on the same boy last Tuesday.

Dr. J. M. Dinnen has returned from New York, whither he accompanied his brother, the Rev. Father Dinnen, of Lafayette, and the Very Rev. Joseph H. Brammer. Father Dinnen returned a day or two ago and went at once to Notre Dame to attend the retreat. Father Brammer, however, remains at the sea shore to recuperate his failing health.

Members of Lodge No. 4, Order of Lincoln, in this city, went to Logansport this week and assisted in the instituting of a new lodge of sixty members. A banquet was held at the Barnett hotel after the ceremonies, at which speeches were made by Jesse W. Weik, of Greencastle; Judge Horace P. Biddle, of Indianapolis, and other prominent gentlemen.

German day at Robison park next Sunday promises to attract the largest crowd ever seen at the popular resort. Special trains and low rates have been secured on all railroads, and large delegations are expected from Cincinnati, Toledo, Muncie, Defiance, Findlay and Lima, Ohio. A fine musical program is being arranged in which all the local and visiting singing societies will take part. The Saengerbund society have charge of all arrangements.

Members of the Royal Arcanum in this city will be pleased to know that Prof. J. N. Study, who has come to take charge of the public schools, is not only an ardent Arcanum man but has filled the honorable position of regent of the grand lodge of Indiana. Professor Study is now a member of the Richmond branch but it is hoped that he will transfer to Howard council. There are two other past grand regents in this city, these being W. H. Tigar and J. W. Vordermark.

J. F. Wing has been summoned by telegram to Van Wert on account of a fire which destroyed a portion of the county infirmary. Wing & Mahurin are superintending the construction of a new addition to the building, which part fortunately was not damaged by the flames. The firm will draw plans at once to replace the destroyed building. The men's department, including the entire west wing, and the superintendent's department in the center, were totally destroyed. The laundry and all outbuildings were burned to the ground. The women's department was slightly damaged. During the fire there was a panic among the inmates. One woman fell down stairs and broke her arm. Another was hit on the back by a bedstead, thrown from a second story window, and seriously hurt.

The many friends of F. D. Paulus will regret to learn that he has disposed of his residence property at 49 East Jefferson street and will leave the city to reside permanently on his recently purchased farm in Whitley county, two miles west of Columbia City. Mr. Paulus has been identified with business interests in this city many years. Lately he had been connected with the Old Fort Spice company but withdrew from the concern before it went into the hands of a trustee. Previous to that he was in the agricultural business and for awhile was one of the lessees of the Rich hotel. Where Mr. Paulus and his wife will be most missed is in church circles. He was one of the founders of Grace Reformed church in which he has always been an elder and for some years was superintendent of that Sunday school. The best wishes of the congregation he so ably labored with go with him and his wife to their new home. Mr. and Mrs. Paulus left for their farm today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Peltier left for Macinac Island today.

There will be a meeting of the common council next Tuesday evening.

Miss Ollie Giesking has gone to Albany, N. Y., to be the guest of Miss Helen Wood.

Miss Lillie Fox has returned from Huntington, where she had been the guest of Miss Etta Hasty.

One week from next Saturday is the time set for the first appearance on the streets of the Tippecanoe club.

F. M. Smith, of the Smith Hardware company, returned home last night from a four days' business trip to Chicago.

At Westminster parsonage Wednesday afternoon Rev. J. L. Leeper united in marriage Valentine Waters and Miss Cora Belle Ward.

T. F. Russell, supreme director of the Knights and Ladies of Columbia, of South Bend, is in the city looking after the interest of the order.

The Heidelburg Reformed church will hold a lawn social this evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Souder, three miles north of the city.

Miss Rosa Boyd, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Tuttle, of Washington boulevard, is visiting friends at Forest, Ohio, for several days.

Charles Pape is going to erect another house on St. Marys avenue, to cost $800. Mr. Pape has quite a number of residences in that part of the city.

Mrs. N. B. Holdsworth and daughter Maud left today for Diamond Lake and Cassopolis, Mich., to spend several weeks with her sister, Mrs. B. F. Moon.

Philip Graff, the grocer, expects to occupy his new storeroom next week. The building is a credit to Lafayette street, being one of the handsomest on that thoroughfare.

Councilman Frank E. Purcell is organizing a uniform rank of the Loyal Hall Democracy. Mr. Purcell is one of our most active democrats and is meeting with success in securing members.

Dr. John S. McCurdy, the dentist, with Mrs. McCurdy and children, left last evening to spend several days at Rome City and Warsaw. The doctor is taking a sort of enforced vacation because of having sprained his wrist a day or two ago in a bicycle accident.

Mrs. G. W. Graffe, of 26 West Jefferson street, has returned home from St. Mary's of the Woods, where she went to witness the ceremony of her daughters, Sister Mary Stanislaus and Sister Clara Marie, being vested with the white veil of the Sisters of Providence.

The resident fruit dealers are complaining about the patronage extended to the firms who come to this city for a few weeks and engage in the sale of peaches and other fruit. They think Fort Wayne people ought to patronize the home dealers in preference to those firms which take their money out of the city.

THE LAST NIGHT.

Pain's Last Days of Pompeii Will Close Tonight.

Every seat in the big enclosure at Centlivre park was taken last night, and the crowd that witnessed the grand, awe inspiring spectacle of the destruction of Pompeii numbered several thousands. The fireworks were exceptionally brilliant and when old Vesuvius, which rose grim, threatening and dark with portent of destruction, suddenly awoke into a vast mountain of living fire and belched forth a glowing death to the terror stricken Pompeiians, the scene was awful in its thrilling grandeur. The various features of the show are excitingly interesting, and the climax is sublime and full of terrible beauty.

It was 'Free Silver Night," and there were hundreds of enthusiastic democrats in the audience who rose to their feet and cheered loud and long when the picture of their idol, William Jennings Bryan, showed brilliantly in lineaments of living fire, rolling away the curtain of the past and bringing back the audience to the busy present.

Tonight is republican night, and the program of last night will be varied by the presentation of the picture of the republican candidate for president, Major William McKinley. Tonight will be the final exhibition of this great spectacle, and no one can afford to miss it. The price of admission has been reduced to 25c to enable all to witness the spectacle without great expense.

NOT WORKING.

Will Play Exhibition Games—Inter-State Games in Three Cities Yesterday.

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Per ct.
Youngstown	26	19	7	.731
Toledo	26	18	8	.692
New Castle	25	15	10	.600
Wheeling	27	13	14	.481
Fort Wayne	27	13	14	.481
Saginaw	26	10	16	.385
Jackson	27	9	18	.333
Washington	26	8	18	.308

The games with Washington scheduled for the 19th, 20th and 22d, having been played by agreement in this city, the Fort Wayne club will have no more scheduled games until next Monday, when they play at Youngstown. After three games there they go to New Castle, then home. Today the club plays an exhibition game at Sisterville, W. Va., and will do the same at Cambridge, Ohio, tomorrow and Saturday.

INTER STATE GAMES.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Up to the eighth it was a tie. With two out Cooper made a triple, and from that out the Youngstown team batted more fiercely. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
Saginaw	1	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	—	4

Hits—Youngstown, 16; Saginaw, 8. Errors—Youngstown, 3; Saginaw, 2. Batteries—Brodie and Zinran; Miller and Northwang. Umpire—Keefe.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 20.—New Castle won the seventh game straight from Jackson in a listless game here yesterday. Derrick was taken out in the first inning, Engle being substituted. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
Jackson	0	0	1	2	0	0	0	0	—	3

Hits—New Castle, 10; Jackson, 8. Errors—New Castle, 2; Jackson, 4. Batteries—B. Whitehill and Donovan; Derrick, Engle and Davis.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 20.—Wheeling wasn't in it a little bit yesterday. Her pitcher was an easy mark for Toledo. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.

Hits—Toledo, 12; Wheeling, 3. Errors—Toledo, 4; Wheeling, 7. Batteries—Keenan and Arthur; Garvey and Shaw. Umpire—Haller.

The Washington base ball team seems to be in about the poorest condition of any in the Inter State league. The Washington Reporter says: "Captain Curran is ill at his home here suffering from typhoid fever. Martin is sick at Natrona, Pa.; Ritz is laid up as the result of a collision with Cargo in one of the Toledo games; Doneghy is ill and will likely be given a rest; Rinehart and McKeown are both in poor condition, and the prospect for the team is not cheerful."

WILLIE FOSTER'S CASE.

The State Board Exhonerates the Institution in This City.

(Indianapolis News.)

Secertary Bicknell, of the State Board of Charities, reached home last night from Fort Wayne, where he has been attending the official investigation by the board into the charges of cruelty preferred by James Foster and wife, of 47 Elizabeth street, the parents of Willie Foster, an inmate for eight years in the State School for Feeble Minded Children. The boy was taken from the institution July 4, materially worse in mind and much injured in his hands by reason of burns received in January. The parents were present with an attorney and a number of witnesses. The investigation was conducted by Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Ellison and Dr. Mary Spink, three members of the board. It was found that the boy had been admitted to the institution eight years ago, when it was at Richmond, and that he was then about six years of age. He was suffering from a form of epilepsy, which the present physician of the institution, Dr. Della Howe, says is hysterical in its nature. His spasms were so frequent that during school hours no attention would be paid to them, as they passed away in so short a time.

On January 21, while in a fit, he left his seat and walked up to the water heater and seized a hot pipe. Before attention was called to him his hands had been horribly burned in the palms. He was placed in the hospital, where he has received, according to the testimony of the physician and according to the records, the best treatment possible. The physician and some of the attendants contributed skin for the grafting process, but owing to the boy's mental condition, which, according to the record evidence, has been growing worse, the grafts could not be kept on. As the wounds healed the fingers closed, so that the hands will never be of much use again.

The board found that the evidence fully exonerated the management of the institution, and the attorney for the prosecution said that he would make a public statement approving the finding.

Mr. Bicknell says that he does not wonder that the parents of the boy feel with some bitterness that something ought to have been done to save them from this greater trial. He says, however, that not a link was missing in the chain of evidence showing that all was done that could be done by the authorities at the institution.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these dainty Summer garments at a big drop from early season's prices. At least we thought so when we cornered these lots. It's a case of quick sale, and first come, first served.

NOTABLE GATHERING.

Lawyers Assembled to Listen to Lord Russell.

SARATOGA, N. Y, Aug. 20.—Over 400 people assembled in convention hall today to listen to the address of Lord Russel, of Kilowen, lord chief justice of England, on "International Arbitration" before the American Bar association. It was one of the most distinguished audiences that ever gathered here. When Lord Russell entered the hall he was greeted with hearty applause and as he ascended the platform the ovation increased and was more demonstrative.

The president of the association, Moorefield Storrey, of Boston, on presenting Lord Russell, said: "I have now the very great pleasure, not of introducing, for he needs no introduction to any English speaking lawyer, but of presenting to you Lord Russell, of Kilowen, the lord chief justice of England, who will deliver the annual address on the subject of 'International Arbitration.'"

THE SHERMAN HOUSE

Chairman J. H. Jones and His Staff Locate There and Prepare to Do Business.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Senator J. K. Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic national committee, arrived in Chicago from Washington today. Accompanying him were his son, Kimborough Jones, of Washington, T. O. Towles, of the Bimetallic league, and J. G. Johnson, of Peabody, Kas., member of the executive committee. The immediate result of Senator Jones' visit was the closing of a deal by which the national headquartes will be established at the Sherman house. Senator Jones secured all the parlor floor rooms on the Randolph street side of the hotel building and two other rooms. The work of distributing campaign literature will be begun at once.

INDIAN LYNCHED.

LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 20.—Frank Biles, a half-breed Indian from the Nez Perces reservation, was taken from the Asotine jail last night and hanged by a mob of indignant citizens. His crime was the criminal outrage of Miss Mary Richardson, a young woman seventeen years of age. Miss Richardson, whose home is in Enterprise, Ore., was in delicate health and had been visiting friends in this vicinity. Yesterday she started from Lewiston to Asotine on horseback unattended. On the road she was overtaken by Biles and two Indians from the reservation and assaulted. Last night at 11 o'clock a band of about thirty citizens marched to the jail and demanded the keys of the jail. The sheriff refused to comply and the keys were taken from him by force. They then went to jail, unlocked the door and took out the prisoner. Across one corner of a fence a long pole was laid. A rope was tied around his neck and the other end thrown over the pole and the Indian hanged.

Were Assisting Each Other to Ascend the Steps, When Both Fell Backwards.

MILWAUKEE, Wis, Aug. 20.—A strange double fatality occurred at the National Soldiers' Home last night, the victims being Richard Botfield, aged seventy-eight, late of the United States navy, and William I. Gordon, late of Company D, Ninth Ohio infantry. They were assisting each other up the steps of the main building when both fell backward to the stone flagging, and were so badly hurt that they died shortly afterward.

KILLED IN A SALOON.

A Texas Desperado Dies Resisting Arrest.

LAREDO, Texas, Aug. 20—The notorious A. Y. Allee was killed in a saloon last night by City Marshal Bathelow. Allee has been before the criminal courts for many years. He is charged with murdering three men, one Editor Bowen, on a crowded coach on the International railroad near here. Last night he began to show the dangerous traits in his character and in attempting to arrest him the city marshal had to defend himself the best he could, resulting as stated.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 20—A special to the Journal from Willmar, Minn, states that a gang of tramps held up and robbed eighteen prominent men there last night. They also shot a lad, J. Tillden, so that he may die. A large posse is in pursuit and some fighting is expected.

CLOUD BURST.

Thirty Houses Washed Away and Over 100 Families Rendered Homeless.

MOGOLLON, N. M., Aug 20—A terrible cloud burst struck this place about 4 p. m yesterday, leaving death and destruction behind. John Knight, a miner who resided at Georgetown, was drowned in his cabin. Several others are reported missing, but so far only two bodies, those of Knight and an unknown Mexican, have been recovered. These were found in a field about six miles below. About 100 families have been rendered homeless and thirty houses washed away. The property of the Colonial Mining company, of Boston, Mass., has suffered to a large extent, the assay office, mill house, powder house and blacksmith shop being washed away. It is feared the mine is filled with mud and water. The managers and assayers had a narrow escape, being assisted to the bank by means of ropes.

The Deep Down Mining company, of Kansas City, lost their main office and assay office. The place is situated in a deep canyon between high mountains. The flood attained a height of over eight feet and lasted over thirty minutes. Had it so continued ten minutes longer the whole town would have been swept away, as the debris had collected in the street, forming a solid wall just as the flood began to recede. Hardly a business house in the town escaped damage. The wagon road leading up to the mountain from the town, which was built a few years ago at an immense cost and which is the only outlet for freighters, has been entirely ruined and goods brought into the camp will have to be brought in on pack animals.

The storm was general to this section of the territory. Advices from Graham state that at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a cloudburst on the mountain side caused a flood at the Confidence mines, a property belonging to the Helen Mining company, of Denver, Col., situated about three miles from there. The flood carried away the shop and sluices at the mines. Nine horses that were at the ore chutes loading ore for the mill were washed over the steep precipice and killed. The men working at the tunnel barely escaped with their lives.

It is feared that great damage is done on the other side of the Mogollon district. Nothing definite can be learned on account of telephone communication being broken.

It is feared that the loss of life around Mogollon will be much greater than first reports made it. There were at least twenty persons, mostly miners, living right in the track of the great wall of water. They occupied for the most part adobe dwellings. These have been swept away and their occupants cannot be heard from. Some of these may have been warned in time to get out of the way, but it is certain that a number have perished. The loss to the mining company will be very heavy as some expensive machinery had lately been put in the mines and much of this is a total wreck.

FERGUSON'S MURDERER.

Description of the Man Sent Broadcast Over the Country—His Escape Likely.

Police Superintendent Gorsline told a SENTINEL reporter today that every clue so far discovered in the Ferguson murder case has been faithfully followed and found to be misleading.

It seems to be a generally accepted opinion that Charles Sannard, the murderer, is far beyond the precincts of Fort Wayne, and that his capture now depends upon the vigilance of officers abroad. A description of the man has been sent broadcast and developments are anxiously awaited.

The man McCormick, who is held on suspicion, will have a hearing tomorrow morning. There appears to be no evidence to convict him.

WORK OF CHILDREN.

Twenty-six Men in the Caboose Saved From Death by a Friendly Tree.

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 20.—A thorough investigation was made this morning into the cause of the derailing of engine No. 49, which was hauling a work train last night near Carrollton, the locomotive rolling down an embankment and killing Engineer Joseph Kirk and Fireman John Hardesty, of this city. The investigation shows the accident to have been caused by children having placed three spikes on the outside rail of the curve where the derailment occurred Twenty six men in the caboose escaped death by falling several hundred feet down an embankment, because the caboose was caught in the branches of a big tree

THE POPULISTS

Have No Rich Men to Tap for Campaign Purposes.

Existing Difficulties Will be Arranged and Populists Will Work for Bryan and Silver.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—The executive committee of the populist party has adjourned subject to the call of the chairman It has accomplished all that could be done at the present time in arranging for headquarters here and branch headquarters in Chicago. It was decided that J. R. Soverign should be assigned to the Chicago headquarters, which will be under the management of Mr. Washburn, of Massachusetts. Chairman Butler of course, will be in charge here, and will give his whole attention to the campaign. Mr. Butler will be assisted by Secretary Edgerton, who will be here most of the campaign. C. H. Pirtle, chief of the senate document room, will be in charge of the sending out of documents.

Mr. Butler said today that the class of literature which was to be sent out had not yet been decided upon. As far as possible documents which can be franked will be sent out. These will include speeches by populists in congress, and some of Tom Watson's will be among the number selected. Some of the literature being sent out by the democratic committee is also used by the silver committee and will be distributed.

Chairman Butler said this morning that the committee was of course embarrassed for want of funds and Secretary Edgerton said that the committee must rely upon voluntary subscriptions as much as possible.

"We have chipped in," said Chairman Butler, "to pay our expenses thus far. We have no rich men to make large contributions for campaign expenses. I expect we will have to make a campaign like others we have made in the south, where we have managed with very little money."

Chairman Butler will enter into correspondence with populist leaders and with free silver leaders in various parts of the country at once and endeavor to effect an adjustment of all existing difficulties which will bring the supportors of silver and Bryan into harmonious action. The silver party and the populist party are today moving into headquarters with the democratic party in the Wormley building. The rooms to be occupied by the silver men and the populists are being put in order for their occupation. Vice Chairman Stevens, of the silver party, said today that the silver branch headquarters in Chicago would be every bit as important as the headquarters in Washington and would have charge of the campaign in the western states.

A HUGE TASK.

Every Republican Who Intends to Vote for Bryan and Every Democrat Who Intends to Vote for McKinley.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—Republican managers will endeavor to find out every republican who intends to vote for Bryan and every democrat who intends to vote for McKinley. This immense task will be undertaken by the 20,000 organizations of the national league of republican clubs.

The actual work will begin next week, although the officials at the national headquarters of the league have been preparing for it for several months. It is expected that this canvass will cover every county in the country, and that when it is completed the republican managers will know exactly where they stand on both the money and presidential candidates.

As a starter 10,000 letters of introduction will be mailed tomorrow. The reports are expected to begin arriving in about two weeks. A force of clerks will be put to work on these and they will be tabulated as soon as they arrive. As the canvass progresses reports will be made to the national executive committee.

FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

A Father and Son Have a Thrilling Adventure.

BEDFORD STATION, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Walker B. Adams, of this place, is lying at the point of death as the result of an encounter with four burglars. Two of the burglars were captured, having first been wounded by Adams' son, William, who was himself struck by a pistol ball, which, however, glanced off from a suspender buckle. Adams' store is provided with a burglar alarm connected with his house. Shortly after midnight the alarm sounded, and Adams and his son, arming themselves, went to the store. They were met by four burglars, who at once opened fire. The elder Adams was shot in the head and fell to the ground. The son was commanded by the burglars to throw up his hands. He made a move as if he intended to comply with the command, when he suddenly raised his Winchester and fired in rapid succession, wounding two of the burglars, who fell within a few feet of where the elder Adams lay. Young Adams continued to fire and the two burglars emptied their revolvers at him. One of the bullets struck the buckle of William's suspenders and then glanced off. Both of the wounded burglars were shot in the abdomen and neither of them can recover. They refuse to say anything as to their identity. The elder Adams cannot survive his wounds. William Adams says he is confident that he wounded the two burglars who escaped

The Leading Michigan Law Firm Disrupted by Opposing Political Opinions.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20—A dissolution of the legal copartnership of Don M. Dickinson, H. T. Thurber and Elliott G. Stevenson is announced to take place on September 1. The announcement is of interest, not only as involving a change in the relations of gentlemen who are recognized as standing among the foremost at the bar of Michigan, but as possessing great political significance. In fact, the dissolution of a firm which includes Mr. Dickinson, one of the advisors to the president, and Mr. Thurber, private secretary at the executive mansion, and Elliott G. Stevenson, chairman for some time of the democratic state central committee, could scarcely be consummated without involving political significance. Mr. Dickinson is said to have been much displeased when he returned from the east and found that Mr. Stevenson had to some extent compromised the firm by accepting the chairmanship of the state central committee and becoming responsible for the Bryan campaign in Michigan. Mr. Stevenson later resigned the chairmanship, but the friction which, however, never interrupted amicable relations in personal intercourse, continued and the result was the decision on Mr. Stevenson's part to withdraw from the firm

Salookeeper J. Condon Charged With Sunday Violation.

Officer Flickinger Filed the Affidavit—Other Places Being Watched—Police News.

Today John Condon, who conducts a saloon at 274 Calhoun street, was arrested on the charge of violating the Sunday law. Officer Flickinger, who filed the affidavit, says Condon had the back door of his place open last Sunday and that parties were seen going in and out Condon asked for a continuance of the case so that he could consult an attorney, therefore Mayor Scherer carried it over until tomorrow morning.

Superintendent Gorsline says he has several other places under surveillance and is only waiting to gather evidence to convict the violators.

Yesterday afternoon John Wilkinson paid a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $19, for violating the Nicholson law.

George Braybrook, against whom an affidavit was filed on the charge of not taking out a liquor license is one ahead of the officers. While Lieutenant Lapp was hunting for the offender, the latter slipped around and quietly took out a license. The case had to be dismissed.

Ex-Congressman Dead.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass, Aug 20—Ransom W. Dunham, of Chicago, who was visiting friends here, died suddenly of apoplexy last night, aged 58 years. Mr. Dunham was an ex congressman, having served in the national house in 1884-5. He was also ex president of the Chicago board of Trade. He formerly lived in this city.

POLITICAL CLUBS.

Two of Them Meet and Effect Permanent Organizations.

A number of republicans of this city who favor the free coinage of silver and who, because of that issue in the political campaign of this year, intend to vote for the democratic candidates for president and vice president, held a meeting last night in their rooms in the Hackett building, on West Wayne street, and effected a permanent organization of a republican silver club.

The movement for the formation of this club was started a few days ago and a petition for names was circulated, which resulted in securing fifty signers and the renting of a handsome suite of rooms in the building mentioned above, which were furnished, provided with reading matter and made attractive in every way for the members.

At the meeting last night A. B. White was made chairman and, after the preliminaries for an organization had been effected, speeches were made by Attorney S. F. Swayne and Frank Lamont. The following permanent officers of the club were elected:

President—A. B. White.

Vice President—John C. Cain.

Corresponding Secretary—Jesse A. Young.

At the next meeting a vice president will be selected from each ward in the city. The club will meet on Wednesday evening of each week, and the rooms will be open every day and evening. Adherents of all political creeds are invited to visit the rooms, where a warm welcome will be extended. In addition to the fifty names on the roll of the club, nearly that many more are willing to join, and there will be a big class for iniation at the next meeting.

REPUBLICAN RAILROAD CLUB

Quite a large number of the railroad men of the city met last night at the rooms of the Republican Business Men's club, in the White block, and organized for the campaign. Mr. Enoch Cox called the meeting to order and presided until the organization was effected, after which, in the absence of the president-elect, the first vice president took the chair. Mr. Cox and Dr. C. B. Stemen made forcible and interesting addresses.

The organization of the club, which will be known as the Fort Wayne Railroad McKinley club, was perfected, and it starts out with 300 members. At the meeting last night the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—C. D. Law.

Second Vice President—Henry Stouder.

Fourth Vice President—John F. Shepler.

Fifth Vice President—William M Glenn.

Sixth Vice President—Hugh Hogan.

Seventh Vice President—William Birbeck.

Eighth Vice President—Capt. Robert Harrison.

Ninth Vice President—Capt. John C. Kensill.

Treasurer—C. H. Newton.

The regular meetings of the club will be held on Wednesday evenings, and the next meeting will be held at the same hall as was the meeting of last night

FORT WAYNE, Ind, Aug, 19, 1896.
Maj. William McKinley, Canton, Ohio.
C. D. LAW, President.

SPEAKING MEETINGS

Lafayette Township—Addressed by Will Colerick and others.

Mayor Scherer, Henry Colerick and W. C Ryan will address a democratic meeting in the Ninth ward tomorrow night, at which time a Bryan and Sewall club will be organized with a large membership.

LOYAL HALL DEMOCRACY

The regular weekly business meeting of the Loyal Hall Democracy was held last night at their rooms, on East Main street, and business of importance transacted

FOURTH WARD REPUBLICANS

Who Had Arrested Men for Obstructing the Sidewalks While Listening to a Silver Discussion.

At Indianapolis, as in this city, and every other large city and town and village and hamlet in the country crowds have been in the habit of collecting at certain corners to discuss the financial question. At Indianapolis, a few days ago, the police made several arrests for obstruction of traffic and since then there have been no crowds. Yesterday the men arrested were brought before Judge Cox in police court, who dismissed them after making a speech of some length in which he declared that citizens had a perfect right to collect in any number upon the streets or elsewhere to discuss political questions.

"I want to say here and now that there is not a decision of any court high or low, where it is held that a man violates the law by talking over political questions in the street. On the contrary, all of the decisions are the other way. The right of free speech is fundamental in our constitution and must not be denied. No police force can stop it It is the right of American citizens. This is a time when perplexing questions are puzzling the people. They are questions of vital importance to the common people It is only by ample discussion of the questions that confront them that they can learn properly to exercise their right of franchise. They have a right, under the law and the constitution, to discuss these questions and this court is going to protect them in that right.

"This thing is not new. The streets of this city have been often crowded by political gatherings, ratification meetings, and so forth. On election nights, when the people are impatient for news from all over the country, and gather in force in front of the offices of newspapers, the streets have often been completely blocked to all traffic. Business has been entirely suspended by the crowds. These are only small crowds that gather on our street corners. It seems to be the avowed policy of the police to prevent these gatherings I want to say right here that this court will not uphold them in this course.

"So much for the charge against this man of obstructing the sidewalk. There is a case of loitering against him. The ordinance under which this case is brought was designed to prevent unlawful loitering, the gathering of thieves and idle men for purposes of vagrancy. It was not directed against such harmless gatherings as these. In this case the ordinance seems to have been used as an engine of oppression, and this court will not be a party to such action. That's all I've got to say. I don't want any more cases of this kind brought into this court"

FOUR RUNAWAYS.

Broadway Witnessed an Exciting Scene Yesterday Afternoon.

There was a pretty lively bunch of runaways on Broadway, between Jefferson and Washington, yesterday afternoon. The horse of Charles Rippe, the liveryman, which was attached to a light buggy, became frightened and ran away. It dashed north on Broadway and, running in on the sidewalk in front of George Nichter's barber shop and Schroeder Bros' drug store, started the horse of the Eckart pork packers, which was hitched there, and afterwards the horses of Charles Lahmeyer, the grocer, and Friemon & Vollmer, the mineral water dealers. For a time it was exciting and confusion prevailed. The Rippe horse continued north on Broadway, overturned and smashed the buggy, and was finally stopped near Main The Eckart horse turned and went west on Washington, ran into a bicycle which was owned by Guy Smith and smashed it, and was stopped near Van Buren, where it was secured by Fred Hostman, the driver, soon afterwards. The other two horses were stopped before any particular damage was done

CALEDONIAN SPORTS.

Tomorrow Will be Field Day at Robison Park.

Tomorrow at Robison park will occur the annual picnic and athletic games of the Caledonian club and, weather permitting, there will be a large attendance. The Scotch sports never fail to draw a crowd.

The games will be called at 1 30 p. m. and the program includes quoiting, 100 yard dash putting sixteen pound shot, tossing the taber, high jump, boys race under fourteen years, throwing sixteen pound hammer, boys' race under ten years, running broad jump, pole vault, half mile race and tug of war.

The officers of the day are Judges, A. F. McLachlan, Thomas Duncan, W. W. Orrick; clerk, Allan H. Dougall; announcer, Wm Lawson; starter, W. G Burns, timer, Angus McPherson, marshal, Thomas Sinclair, president, James B White, first vice president, Thomas Duncan; second vice president Wm Lawson; secretary, Allan H. Dougall; treasurer, Robert Dickie.

Marion society does unique things occasionally. The other evening two young ladies, Misses Barker and Griest, gave a political party. Bryan and McKinley, from campaign lithographs, beamed upon a throng of dancers moving to the tune of "The McKinley March" or "The Free Silver Two Step" The refreshments served were ice cream in [illegible] layers of silver and gold. Souvenirs of the occasion were campaign horns. The house was decorated in a manner [illegible] except for the [illegible] that is attained only where ladies deft hands have been at work. Pictures of McKinley and Bryan were draped in the nationa colors. The rooms were trimmed with bunting of silver and gold

IN CONVULSIONS.

Mrs. Isidore Alringer Passes to Her Last Reward—Funeral of the Murdered Elmer Ferguson.

Nancy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Byron, died of convulsions at the Union house last night. The child had an attack on the streets last Tuesday and was conveyed to the Union house, where she steadily grew worse until her death. The father of the little girl was a foreman for the Degnon Construction company, which built the Robison park street railway line, and is at present in West Virginia employed by the same company. A telegram was sent to him last night and he will probably arrive in time to attend the funeral. The deceased child was five years old.

Alice E., wife of Isidore Alringer, the well known clerk in the Fruit house, died last night of indigestion at her home, 168 Griffith street Deceased was forty four years old. Besides the husband there are four children surviving her, as follows: May, Olney, Emma and Beulah. Olney is employed at the electric works. Mrs. Alringer had been ill for a long time.

The funeral of Mrs I Alringer will be held Saturday at 10 a m. from the house, 168 Griffith street.

The funeral of Elmer Ferguson, who was murdered last Monday night, took place from the residence of his parents, 209 East Jefferson street, and half an hour later from the United Brethren church, Rev. A. W. Ballinger officiating.

The funeral of the little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George B. Stemen will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 300 West Main street

FELL OFF A CAR.

John Refine's Serious and Almost Fatal Accident.

The little girl of Mrs. Bradshaw fell and fractured her right arm last evening, while playing at the house of Mr. and Mrs. John Morning, No. 2 Warsaw street, where she was visiting. Dr. Morse Harrod attended the little sufferer.

Frederick Reiter, a buyer for the City mills, fainted on the street at the corner of Main and Harrison, today, and was conveyed to the home of his son-in-law on Baker street In falling his head struck the stone curbing and a serious wound was inflicted. Mr. Reiter has not been in good health for some time, which makes his chances of recovery uncertain.

An old man, named John Refine, a laborer, fell out of an electric car on Spy Run avenue last night. His body dropped to the ground directly in front of a wagon, which passed over him. His head was badly cut and he was otherwise painfully injured

John Casimer, of Leo, was brought to the city and taken to the St Joe hospital, suffering from a severe injury to his left eye. He was employed in the saw mill of his uncle, Frank Mueller, when a splinter flew from a piece of timber and struck him in the optic, whence it was removed with the greatest difficulty by Dr K K Wheelock It is probable that sight of the injured organ is destroyed.

CENTURY RUN.

George Wheelock and Sidney Schwarz Make a Nice Record.

George Wheelock, a son of Dr. K K Wheelock, and Sidney Schwarz, a nephew of the Epstein brothers, clothing merchants, have made a nice bicycle record that is causing considerable talk among amateur wheelmen. Masters Wheelock and Schwarz made a century run to Wabash, Ind., and return, the entire trip of 110 miles being accomplished in eleven hours and forty-two minutes. The trip down was made in five hours and forty-two minutes and the return in six hours. They would have bettered this time only that young Schwarz's bicycle saddle gave way before reaching home and he rode the remaining distance on the bare frame.

The boys are only fifteen years old and they are to be complimented on the record they have made

Next Tuesday evening the Young Men's sodality will give an ice cream social at Library hall, and the affair promises to be a big success.

Fred G. Bohlman has returned from Santa Barbara, Cal., where he has been on business for the Western Gas Construction company.

REPUBLICAN silver clubs are springing up all over the country.

THE cool weather of the last few days has caused considerable sickness.

OLD SOL is coming back again with his fierce rays and will give us some hot days before the summer ends.

WABASH democrats will start a silver daily paper. Alfred Isley is hooked to do the editorial, and Jerome Wellman, of Urbana, to be the local man.

THE phrenologists of Indiana will hold their state convention at Kokomo August 22, 23 and 24, and a splendid gathering is anticipated. The advocates of this science have made vast strides the past few years, especially those in Indiana.

EX POSTMASTER GENERAL WANAMAKER will be a candidate for United States senator against Senator Cameron in Pennsylvania next winter, and from present appearances it looks as if he would be able to defeat the latter in the legislature.

THE enterprising paragraphist is already getting in his work on the small boy in great shape. He reports him as "viewing with alarm the near approach of the time when he must wash his face, comb his hair and trudge off to school to pore over his books and mind the teacher."

THE crop report of the Indiana agricultural station, for the week just ended, shows corn in the southern portion of the state as fast maturing and nearly safe from frost, and in the northern and central sections in fair progress with the probability that it will be safe from frost by September 1st to the 15th. Large crops of tomatoes, cabbage and beans are in good condition. Potatoes will be a large crop, although many are rottening in localities. Pears, plums and grapes are very abundant.

IT IS interesting to note that up to date this year the exports of corn show an increase of 33 000,000 bushels over the same period last year. As this country has lost its prestige as a wheat, producing country, there is a strong hope that the future has in store an enlarged market for our corn, in the production of which we have no competion.

ACCORDING to the report of Consul Germain, the wine production of the world last year was 3,672,000,000 gallons. The estimated population of the world is 1,479,000,000. This would give nearly three gallons of wine to every man, woman and child in the world. These figures may be a starter for some temperance mathematician with a 'head for figgers."

A PARTIAL eclipse of the moon occurs on August 22. With a night favorable as far as clouds are concerned, the eclipse will be an interesting one. It is the only one of the four eclipses of the year that is visible in this part of America. Almost three quarters of the disk will be obscured, and from the time of entering outer shadow, or penumbra, as it is called, to the time of leaving it, five and three quarters hours will intervene.

AN exchange sums up the situation in a pithy compendium as follows: "Every man has a hobby and every rider of a hobby expects every one else to think, believe, act and operate like himself. The base ball crank thinks every man is off who isn't as crazy about base ball as he is himself. The bicycle fanatic considers all who do not enthuse on the bike question lacking in some mental essential. There are few men who are broad enough to accord to others the right to differ from them and yet regard them as their mental equals. There are honest bimetallists and honest single standard men and honest free for all silverites. But none is honest enough to think the others are equally honest—and possibly just as fully entitled to their own opinions."

THE removal of the northern state prison from Michigan City to Indianapolis is being agitated. Senator Shively, of Richmond, will champion a bill at the next session of the legislature favoring the location of both the northern and southern state prisons at Indianapolis. He says that in the removal of that at Michigan City there would be no financial loss since it is in a most dilapidated condition, scarcely a building fit for the uses intended in it, and it would require very nearly as much to put it in proper condition as it would to build a modern prison. He would unite the two prisons under one set of officers believing that it would be much cheaper and the work done better. Mr. Shively is a member of the prison committee appointed by the last general assembly.

In the Fall.

We observe that some hypercritical individual is again objecting to the word "fall" to designate the time of year which our British brethren usually name "autumn." The hypercritical individual is simply silly. If there is one word which is rightly used in the English language it is the term "fall" to denote the months of September, October and November. It is a whole poem in itself, that word "fall," thus used. It means the time of the fall of the leaf. In September the green of summer fades a little, the more fragile and tender of the leaves begin to fall like flakes of an advancing snowstorm. In October the trees turn golden and red and glorious, the leaf storm is full on, the dying foliage descends thick and fast and covers the earth with a brightness as of flowers in bloom. October flits, November arrives, and with him the winds and the soaking rains. The last foliage is torn from the trees, the leaves swirl hither and thither in the wind and rain and finally pack away in hollows and banks to turn to rich brown mold and fertilize the earth. The last leaf has disappeared; the trees hold up their arms, brown and withered; the "fall" season is over.

If it is incorrect to speak of the "fall" season of the year, then it is just as incorrect to speak of the spring of the year.

Waste material frequently proves to be worth more than the thing it is the waste of. This is true of the by products of petroleum. At first refiners of the oil were put to their wits' end to know what to do with the dreadful refuse cast off in making the kerosene for illuminating oil. It seemed to spoil everything it touched and filled the air with nauseous odors besides. By and by they became wiser. They learned to utilize one after another these waste products of kerosene. Now naphtha, benzine, gasoline, vaseline and a dozen or more much valued medicines are distilled from the once useless and unsightly rubbish. Everything is of use when its use is found. Even some useless people could probably be made of service if their right place could be ascertained.

Don't lose your bankbook. A judge of the supreme court of New York has decided that when a bankbook is presented at the bank which issued it the money it calls for shall lawfully be paid to the bearer unless there are circumstances accompanying the presentation of the book that look suspicious. This decision will no doubt be followed elsewhere. Therefore if you lose your bankbook, the one who finds it may collect your money and the bank not be held responsible.

The growth of electric street railways is shown in the fact that in the state of New York alone 94 per cent of all such roads are operated by electricity, against 26 per cent six years ago.

ARE WORTH MILLIONS

The Le Roi Mine Has Paid Many Dividends—Its Stock Risen From 5 Cents to $5 Per Share—Some Romances Heard Near the Mines and In Spokane.

Over in Spokane, Wash., they are enjoying a flood of prosperity. Whether it is merely a temporary wave which will soon subside, leaving a harder and drier beach than ever, or whether it is a permanent returning tide, remains for the future to reveal.

The merchants of Spokane are all doing well, the banks show good deposits, the clearing house remarkable gains, the hotels are crowded, and over all and everything there is spread a ruddy glow from the first direct rays of the rising sun of hope and promise. The cause of these new conditions at Spokane is the development of the gold mines of Washington and British Columbia. The developing was first inspired by some rich discoveries of gold made in Trail Creek, B. C., and Spokane is fast becoming a second Denver.

Trail Creek is essentially a gold camp. The ores are not high grade. Their average is from $25 to $40 per ton. The veins, however, are very large, if, correctly speaking, they can be called veins at all. More properly they are vast ore shoots. No clearly defined walls have ever been found. In the famous Le Roi mine, which has paid so many handsome dividends within the past nine months, they were driving their tunnel for many months along what appeared to be a clean, smooth, clearly defined wall. An old miner was being shown through the mine workings, and his attention was particularly called to the "beautiful smooth wall." He whipped out his pocketknife, picked at the "wall" for a few moments and then called for a pick. A few heavy blows broke through the "wall," and from behind there tumbled out a beautiful chunk of ore, of course to the amazement of the mine superintendent and all concerned. A crosscut tunnel was run in at this point, driven for 75 consecutive feet in solid ore all the way, and at last reports was still in ore and no "wall" found yet. The veins are of enormous and still undefined magnitude.

But every new mining camp is sure to develop, along with its ores, cranks, gamblers, boomers and swindlers, a few touches of romance, bits of story and thrilling tales of adventure, pleasant to read about on a hot summer's day while swinging in a hammock under a friendly shade tree and fighting flies with a huge palmetto. A poor saloon keeper in Spokane, bucking the ghost of hard times, makes a wry face when forced to take for his rye whisky and cigars stock in the Le Roi mines at 5 cents a share in settlement of the bills of some of his customers—three shares of stock for a drink, five shares of stock for two drinks. But the butcher and baker and porter and the wholesale liquor house in Seattle were not so "enthusiastic" about mines and refused to accept the Le Roi stock in payment for their wares, work and whisky, and the poor saloon keeper was on the verge of being closed out. Forty-six thousand shares of the 5 cent Le Roi stock had he accumulated in this way. He is out of the saloon business now, but still owns the Le Roi stock because he could not get rid of it and now lives upon the princely income of his holdings, valued (at today's market prices) at $276,000. At three shares of stock for a drink he was paid for his whisky at the rate of $18 per drink. This is a record in the saloon business hard to beat.

But while the Le Roi is a great property there will be other properties developed up there fully as great and far greater. This may be true in the Trail creek district, but will unquestionably be true on the Colville reservation and in the Boundary creek district, just west of Trail. These districts undoubtedly carry the great mother lodes of that mineral zone. This is the conclusion of the best geologists and the most renowned experts, including such men as Clarence King and Colonel John Weir, who have made a careful scientific study of that country. At Trail creek the Le Roi bids fair soon to have a rival in the Jumbo, which is situated on the opposite side of the same famous Red mountain. But over on the reservation and in the Boundary creek country, which, by the way, are in fact geologically one and the same district, being separated only by the imaginary boundary line between Uncle Sam's and the queen's domains, the ores lie in distinctly marked veins as distinguished from the ore chutes of Trail. The veins are of enormous width and traceable in continuous belts for miles with that regularity which delights the geologist and mine expert. They know "where they are at" in that country. The veins run from 20 to 500 feet wide.

One of the most noted experts in the world and a man who has examined every mining camp in the world excepting one recently spent six months in this district and now pronounces it to be "the greatest mineralized country on the face of the globe" and one over which "the world will go mad in the next few years." The ores of the reservation and Boundary creek run much higher grade than at Trail. The increased value consists in an excess of copper, which is a great advantage from a smelting point of view as well as in the matter of dollars and cents in ores so refractory as the ores of this district are.

At Trail the average is not over 6 per cent copper, and it is necessary at the Trail smelter to ship in copper concentrates from Butte, Mon. On the reservation, for instance, the great La Fleur mine assays have run as high as 66 per cent copper, or about 1,400 pounds of copper to every ton of rock.—Portland Oregonian.

She Got Her Transfer.

"Certainly, madam. Which depot?" asked the conductor.

"But I don't know which depot you mean," replied the conductor.

"Never you mind what you know and what you don't know," snapped the woman. "You do as you are told. You give me a transfer. Do you hear?"

"But"—

"I won't have your but. Just you give me that transfer or I will report you."

And the conductor gave it to her, while every one on the car hoped he had sent her to the wrong place.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

"No. I told your mother this morning when she made it that you would be sure to find fault with it."—Chicago Record.

After all this is a glorious century and it is good to live in these times.

POOR BETTINA GIRARD

BETTINA GIRARD the young woman who shone for a brief time in the operatic world and disappeared almost as suddenly as she sprang into doubtful fame, has run the gamut of recklessness, and is now an outcast in Europe, with the realization that the pittance allowed her by her father will be cut off if she returns to her native country.

After her divorce from her first husband Bettie Ordway went on the stage as a singer. She had a good voice and the fame of her exploits had preceded her, so that her company played to good business from the first. American theater goers will remember her as a member, and a leading one, of Conreid's opera company, in "The King's Fool," a comic opera which had a varying success for two or three seasons, and in which Della Fox succeeded Mrs. Padelford, as she was known then.

The drinking of wine from her slipper at White Sulphur Springs had cast a romantic tinge about the young woman and the public was eager to see her. She lost her voice and appeared in Chicago in "Old Kentucky," at the Haymarket, on the last occasion of her stage work here. Where she is now and what is her fate is told in the following review of a singularly pathetic career:

Albert Ordway, veteran of the war, once chief of ordinance of the United States government, to-day commander of the militia of the District of Columbia, comes of an aristocratic southern family, whose name is a household word below the line for all that birth, culture and refinement imply. He is a proud man—proud of his lineage, proud of his career, and proud of the position he has attained in the military and social life of the nation's capital.

Gen. Ordway's daughter, Bettina, was in her day the most beautiful girl in Washington. The phrase "a social belle" has become so hackneyed that it almost fails to convey the meaning which really lies in the word. Bettina Ordway was a social belle. After leaving the convent in Georgetown, in which her early years were spent, all her training was directed to but one end—that of fitting her to shine in society. Toward the accomplishment of this end her father engaged instructers in dancing, elocution, singing, languages and those other attainments that are necessary to win social recognition. With all these the young woman combined graces that no instruction or preparation could enhance. She was clever, witty, original and sparkling. Hers was truly a rare mind. She had a man's broad grasp of things and a judgment far beyond her years.

When she first appeared in society she came in contact with statesmen and diplomats from all parts of the world. All who met her were delighted with her charming manners and frequently surprised at the fund of knowledge and experience which she seemed to possess.

You have been told that this young woman was beautiful. She was a dark girl, of superb figure, with lustrous brown eyes, a thick mass of soft, shining hair, and a rosebud of a mouth, in each corner of which there always lurked a tiny curl of a line, whether of amusement or of mischief it was impossible to say. In the convent she had acquired the reputation of being a fun-loving girl, full of life and somewhat disposed to substitute for the conventions of polite society a code of ethics of her own.

BETTINA GIRARD.

Her social career for two years was uneventful. There were many men who sought her smile and there were many upon whom it was graciously bestowed. And, as you can easily figure out for yourself, all the other women were furiously envious of her.

Easy is the descent—oh, so easy! There was a banquet at White Sulphur Springs, in Virginia, whither the Ordways had gone for the summer, and Miss Bettina was the loveliest of the guests. In a dazzling evening dress, adorned with laces and jewels, she sat among gorgeously arrayed diplomats, army officers and government officials. Everybody drank freely and Miss Bettina's face became flushed and her eyes sparkled with unusual brightness.

A young man who was attached to the French embassy and who had shown considerable attention to Miss Ordway during the season sat opposite her. Just as they were rising from the table a young cavalier who had sat beside her began to jest with her about the young Frenchman's assiduous devotion.

"Some day," said the young man, "your admirer will probably be famous."

The incident that followed was over in a minute. Into the motives that prompted her action it would be idle to inquire. Suffice it that the curl of Miss Bettina's rosy lips became intensely mischievous and that, with her hand under the table, fumbling among the draperies, she replied:

And thereupon with an enchanting smile, she held aloft a tiny white satin slipper, warm from her foot, and bade a waiter fill it with champagne. She then proffered this novel bumper to the young Frenchman.

A hush fell upon the room and every eye was turned to the young man's face. He was painfully embarrassed. From his neck to the roots of his hair his skin was scarlet and he looked as if he were devoutly wishing that the floor would open and swallow him. The slipper was within his reach and a pair of roguish eyes were turned full upon him. He hesitated for one long moment and then, true to his country and his calling, he took the slipper and quaffed deeply of the wine. His gallantry was greeted with a burst of applause. With a low bow he returned the slipper to its owner, who, perceiving that there

Miss Bettina insisted upon going on the stage. She had a good voice, upon which she had bestowed considerable care, and in the circle in which she moved had achieved quite a reputation as a sweet singer. Her father was opposed to her entering professional life, but finally yielded to her entreaties and allowed her to prepare for grand opera under competent teachers.

Before she had completed her studies, however, she met Arthur Padelford, the heir of an old and rich Philadelphia family. He fell in love with her and she—she married him. It was a big wedding, full of all that glitter and gorgeousness which only Washington society can supply, and every person of note in the national capital was there.

Young Padelford had millions of dollars and Miss Bettina was very beautiful, and the gossips all declared that it was a perfect wedding and that the couple were splendidly matched. Their wedded life was very happy. It lasted exactly three months. There was only one day of unhappiness and upon the day that followed it Arthur Padelford applied to the courts for a divorce. The sensation which this created is still remembered in Washington.

After the divorce had been granted Bettina, as she was called by her friends, left Washington, assumed the name of Bettina Girard and went upon the stage. She secured engagements from several operatic companies, but her work did not attract attention until she joined the Conreid company. From that moment she began to descend at a lively pace.

Jack Raffael, a tenor singer of handsome appearance, was stabbed in St Louis by Robert Monroe. Mrs. Monroe was the cause. When Raffael recovered he married Bettina. After a few months they were divorced and Bettina married John Harrison Wolff. This marriage was followed in a short time by another divorce and after that she was married to William Beach.

She left Beach and from time to time there were rumors of her engagement to other men, but Bettina never went through the marriage ceremony again.

She made considerable money and spent it lavishly. She roved from one theatrical company to another, traveled a great deal, was mixed up in no end of scandals, and slowly went to pieces. Her voice failed her and she was unable to support herself. Her father gave her an allowance of $25 a week, but would have nothing further to do with her. In the early part of this year she broke down completely and was sent to a private sanitarium in New York.

The disgrace was more than Gen. Ordway could bear. One night, two weeks ago, he went to New York and met his daughter with her latest paramour in an uptown hotel. The interview was short, but decisive. His daughter had brought shame upon him and his family and must leave the country. If she went to Europe he would continue to grant her the allowance which he had settled upon her. As long as she remained there it would be continued. If she remained in this country or ever came back it would instantly cease. He never wanted to see her again. She is now in Paris.

SPIDERS FOR PARTNERS.

A Syrup Bottler Who Utilizes the Services of 6,000 Insects.

A syrup bottler has improved upon the prison lesson of Bruce, says Science. He has taken the spider into partnership in the working of one of his most important departments. Flies, cockroaches and other insects, attracted by his sweets and encouraged by the genial air of his bottling room, used to interfere with his work, get into his bottles, steal his goods and "worry him to death." Some 6,000 spiders now make their home on the ceiling and walls of his bottling department. Said the bottler to an interviewer: "These creatures know more than a great many people. Spiders do not care for sweet things and never drop into my vats or get into my bottles. I never disturb them except to feed them occasionally. They appear to know my call and will come out and feed from my hand or take a fly from my finger. They shut themselves up during most of the winter months in their little nests you see stuck like daubs of mud about the ceiling. When winter comes I brush away all the webs. They prefer to weave new ones every spring. I have been running this spider farm only two years, but I find my little partners indispensable. They will not endure in the place a single fly or insect that is a plunderer of sweets and sirups."

GOLD DEMOCRATS

Gathering at Louisville for a Convention.

Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge and Ex-Governor S. B. Buckner Head the Movement.

LOUISVILLE, Ky, Aug. 20—Delegates to the gold standard democratic convention began to arrive last night and a good attendance at the gathering this afternoon is expected Among the prominent participants in its proceedings will be Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge and ex Governor S. B. Buckner, who are in the city. Music hall has been handsomely decorated and sections assigned for the various districts. The state executive committee held a meeting last night at the Galt house, Chairman George M Davie presiding The subject under discussion was the platform. They did not attempt to draft it completely, but made suggestions as to what it should contain During the meeting Col W. C. P. Breckenridge was consulted about some matters pertaining to the platform. It was decided that Ex-Lieutenant Governor Hindman, of Adair county, should be named for temporary chairman of the convention. The committee on organization will report the make up of the state central and the state executive committee, and also a campaign committee, to be composed of eleven members, six of them to be from this congressional district in order that the meetings for consultations may be held without the necessity of long trips by all the members. Geo. M. Davie will probably be chairman of the state campaign committee and the Hon. A J. Carroll secretary. Col. Thomas W. Fullitt will be the elector from this district

Judge Cole Inaugurates a New Test of Competency—Must Read the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—A young German was barred from citizenship today after a practical demonstration that he could not read the English language Two Germans applied together to Judge Cole, of the district supreme court, whose recent ruling in the case of an Italian that a knowledge of the constitution is essential to citizenship rights created general interest Both Germans said they could read English and were given a newspaper as a test One reached the reading requirements and was admitted to citizenship, but the other made so poor a showing that naturalization papers were refused, the court holding that no one was entitled to citizenship who is unable to read English.

WHICH WERE BETTER?

A popular discussion has been started in San Francisco by a sermon preached by Dr. C. W. Wendte, one of the leading pastors of Oakland. Dr. Wendte, speaking of the incurably ill or mortally wounded, asked: "Why seek, as now, to prolong their agonies? Why exhaust the resources of medical science to keep them in misery? Would it not be a more Christian act to put them gently out of pain? God speed the day when men shall rid themselves of theological and personal prejudices and act as justice dictates and mercy requires."

The minister cited many cases where men injured in disasters or wounded in battle pleaded in vain to have comrades end their sufferings. His sermon brought forth a flood of protests, the burden of a majority being, "Thou shalt not kill."

Populations One Hundred Years Hence.

Some writer has given the following figures for the populations of the various European countries 100 years from now, figuring on the same relative growth as for the past century: Russia, 250,000,000; Great Britain and Ireland, 100,000,000; Germany, 90,000,000; Austria-Hungary, 75,000,000; France, 45,000,000, and Italy, 46,000,000. The British subjects elsewhere on the globe at that time should make England rank with Russia, and there would be but two great powers in Europe then. The United States should be strongly in the lead with 700,000,000 inhabitants.

Soil For a G. A. R.

Colonel J. Linn Rodgers has sent a box of Ohio soil to the G. A. R. post at Bedford, Mass. The post is to plant a national tree on its grounds and is securing a box of soil from each state in the Union for the tree to spread its roots in. The tree is to be watered with water from Lake Champlain, Lake Erie and other lakes and streams where battles, naval or land, have been fought. The sample sent from Ohio in response to the request made to Governor Bushnell, is a rich black loam.

THE STUDIOUS GIRL.

Race Between the Sexes for Education. Health Impaired by Incessant Study.

Ambitious girls work incessantly over their studies, and are often brought to a halt, through having sacrificed the physical to the mental. Then begin those ailments that must be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, dizziness, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, nervousness and blues, with lack of confidence; these are positive signs that women's arch enemy is at hand.

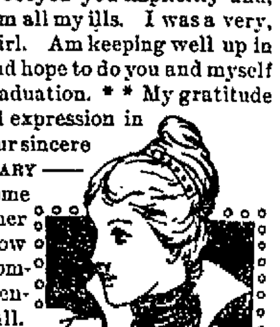

The following letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham in May, one month after the young lady had first written, giving symptoms, and asking advice. She was ill and in great distress of mind, feeling she would not hold out till graduation, and the doctor had advised her to go home.

——— College, Mass.

You dear Woman:—

I should have written to you before, but you said wait a month. We are taught that the days of miracles are past. Pray what is my case? I have taken the Vegetable Compound faithfully, and obeyed you implicitly and, am free from all my ills. I was a very, very sick girl. Am keeping well up in my class, and hope to do you and myself credit at graduation. * * My gratitude cannot find expression in words. Your sincere friend, MARY ——

TWO EXCURSIONS.

Robison park is growing in popularity as an excursion point and each excursion nowadays from the cities and towns in Northern and Central Indiana to that place is characterized by a much greater attendance than its predecessor.

To-day there were two excursions to that resort from out of town points. One came from Bluffton, over the Lake Erie and Western road, and the party is estimated at about 1,100 persons. It required eighteen cars to haul them to the park.

Another excursion party came in from the south, over the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, numbering over 700 persons. This excursion started from Richmond and was added to at all intermediate points. It was the first excursion to Robison park from that territory and its success is very gratifying to those who managed it.

Besides the visitors from abroad there are hundreds of Fort Wayne citizens in the park today. The Walther League of Emanuel's Lutheran church has an excursion to that point and at 2 o'clock had sold over 1,500 tickets. The street car company is giving excellent service, having thirty-five cars on the line. There is a car each way every three minutes.

THE MODERN RAILROADER.

In the office of one of the higher officials of an eastern road a few days ago the character of railway employes in the different departments came up for discussion, the ground being taken that in practically all departments a better grade of men were now in service than ever before. A general manager, to take rank among the foremost, must be a good financial as well as transportation man; a general superintendent must be a man well educated and able to handle men without friction; a superintendent of motive power must be well educated, have an economical turn and a way of pushing business when required; even the passenger conductor, the baggage man and the brakeman must be well educated and gentlemanly to long hold positions, and in all departments the character of the men is much higher than years ago. An employe must not indulge in strong drinks, must be of good habits generally and well up in reading and writing, for there are but few branches of service where there is not more or less of reading of orders and of writing. The office of train dispatcher has become an important branch of the service and requires well educated men, quick to understand orders, to handle trains with the present remarkable exemption from accident. Freight and passenger officials must be among the shrewdest and best educated men in the service; they must be well versed in rates, in the rules of the associations with which they are connected, and quick to seize any advantage their line possesses over a competing one.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Two women who were walking on the Pennsylvania tracks near Hammond yesterday morning had a bad fright and were given an illustration of the dangers attending a stroll upon the railway which will ever be fresh in their memories The ladies were going west, deeply engaged in conversation, and did not notice the approach from the rear of No. 37 until warned of that fact by the whistle of the locomotive Then one of the women sprang aside, but the other was momentarily paralized by fright and did not move until the iron horse was nearly upon her. Then she moved so slowly that the pilot beam struck her and pushed her over against her companion. The engine had nearly stopped and no injury was sustained by the blow, but the lady fainted from fright and did not recover until she was taken off the cars at Hammond. Engineer Henry Jones was at the throttle and it was only his prompt action in giving the danger signals and applying the air brakes that prevented a terrible accident.

C. W. Risley, superintendent of the Lima Northern, has tendered his resignation.

A. S. Durnell, tinner at the east shops, is taking a few days off duty to look after some private business.

It is now the understanding that the Northern Pacific will be turned over to the new management September 1.

All shops on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton system on Monday commenced working but eight hours.

Dr. E. F. Wagner has returned from a business trip to Cleveland, in the interest of the Pennsylvania relief department.

Trainmaster McKim, of the Toledo branch of the Pennsylvania system, was here today, the guest of the railway officials.

Seymour D. Boyd, of the Bass offices, is a guest at the Foster farm, where his wife and several other ladies have been sojourning for several days.

The Peters' Box and Lumber company is now running a full force of workmen eight hours per day. The outlook for the lumber trade is brightening.

Foreman M S. Willson, of the incandescent testing room at the electric works, has gone to Toledo on business for the company. He will be detained there about three weeks.

Nickel Plate engine 20 came out of the Stony Island shops yesterday and has been turned over to Engineer Huxley and Fireman Osteman for service between Fort Wayne and Bellevue.

Brakeman H. E. Taylor, of the Nickel Plate, was about to start out on his run yesterday, when a message summoned him home. His boy, who had been very ill, was taken suddenly worse.

The electric works this morning sent four arc dynamos to Richmond to take the place of those machines which were damaged by the flood last week. The old machines will be brought here and repaired.

A high official of the Pennsylvania road makes the statement that the company's shops at Altoona, Pa, are second in size only to the great Krupp works in Essen. At the Altoona shops each month $275,000 is paid in wages.

Detective Tom Wilkinson, of the Nickel Plate, has stopped the operations of thieves on that road. For three weeks there has not been a single car broken into nor anything of value taken from the trains or yards.

John Kesson, who has resided in Cincinnati for the past year, will return here to live and has accepted a position as solicitor for an insurance company.

The Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Michigan is making an extraordinary effort to run trains into Toledo over its own tracks by the 1st of September.

The Illinois Central has purchased 6 200 square miles of land in the Yazoo valley, Mississippi, and on August 29 will run a home seekers' excursion to that point.

John Carroll, of Chicago, is visiting relatives and friends in this city. He was formerly employed in the Pittsburg shops here, and called to see his old shopmates today.

The employes in the Big Four shops at Wabash and on the Michigan division of the Big Four will next week have their annual excursion and picnic at Warsaw, Ind.

Frank MacMillan, of Dayton, Ohio, a representative of a firm which manufactures varnish, is in the city calling upon the railway officials and others who purchase goods of his line.

Samuel Kelker, clerk at the Lake Shore offices and a son of the well known Pennsylvania engineer of the same name, is enjoying a vacation, which he will spend in Chicago.

Frank B. Conners, machinist at the Wabash shop, had some fingers pinched yesterday while engaged in removing siderods from an engine. His injuries are not severe and he will soon be able to work again.

George W. Kittredge, chief engineer of the Big Four, states that the company is purchasing no new steel this year; neither is it erecting any new bridges, but is keeping expenses down to the lowest possible figure compatible with efficiency.

Joseph Byninski, who had been visiting his parents at Garrett, Ind, is here to spend the balance of the week with his old friends. He is the foreman of the air brake department of the Wellsville shops and is now enjoying his annual vacation.

While train No. 61, on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, was pulling into Kendallville yesterday morning, the rails spread apart and seven cars rolled down the embankment. Four tramps, who were stealing a ride, were severely injured.

Indianapolis Journal: "One of the results of the visit of General Manager Loree and General Superintendent Miller to the city yesterday was the dismissal of twenty-five or more men in the yards about the union station and city freight depot When business revives many of them will be re-employed."

It is now three years since the Union station at Terre Haute, built by William R. McKeen when president of the Vandalia line, was opened for business, and since opened not an accident has occurred to a passenger or employe within the station. Fifty-eight passenger trains are handled there every twenty-four hours.

Charles Stewart, Thomas Williams, Fred Starke, Ed Mennewisch, H. Beckness and C. Schneider, off on private business; L Hibbler, E. McLaughlin and David Roche, off on account of sickness; F. X. Miller and E. B. Moore, off on account of trip hammer being out of repair, is the absentee list at the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

On account of the dullness of manufacturing interests the Big Four and Pennsylvania line stations in the Indiana gas belt are not doing more than one half the business they did in 1894 and early in 1895, and it makes a marked difference in the revenue at such stations as Anderson, Marion, Muncie and a dozen other points which might be named.

Some of the Pennsylvania shopmen are disposed to object to the statement that they are in the habit of giving orders on the paymaster for their wages. Such practice has never been in use in this city and the shopmen are not so hard up that they must resort to such means to get the necessaries of life. If such practices are in vogue it is among some other branch of the service.

General Passenger Agent Daly, of the Lake Erie and Western, announces that the company will run no more Niagara Falls excursions this year, which will give the other lines an opportunity to run excursions to the falls with some show of getting business. Still, the high rate the Joint Traffic association forces them to charge will prevent many going who would go at the old rate of $5.

The late tornado at St. Louis destroyed a considerable number of cars of foreign roads, which, under the Master Car Builders' rules, the St. Louis roads must repair or renew. This has raised an interesting question, some of the roads being disposed not to live up to the association agreement, taking the position that when property is destroyed by what in legal phraseology is termed an act of God the courts will not compel them to make good the loss or pay damages

A good sized row is in prospect over the general passenger agents declining to hereafter furnish free transportation to advance agents of theatrical troupes. The theatrical managers, at a recent meeting in New York, organized for the purpose of fighting the railroad companies, and, while their task is regarded as hopeless, in official quarters, they will have abundant opportunity to present their grievances. The managers claim that the railroads, and particularly the Joint Traffic association are preventing the formation of road companies because of the high and stiff rates, and the latest action on the part of the general passenger agents will cause further hard feeling It begins to look as if the railroads were bent on abolishing the deadhead system.

The new roads acquired by the Illinois Central necessitates its purchasing additional power, and it has just closed a contract for the building of six ten-wheeled freight engines, eighteen eight wheeled passenger locomotives and four six wheeled switch engines. The order is divided between the Brooks and the Rogers locomotive works.

If someone will invent a railway car window to be raised ore lowered easily by touching a spring on of the greatest influences affecting human conduct will have been regulated. It is well known that the car window that won't go up makes men swear and women wish they could, but there are a number of other important ways in which the car window affects life, and it is safe to say that it figures in divorce cases about as often as the question of alimony for it is generally in a car and through somebody opening the car window that the troubles leading up to divorce begin. It is about the one only service in travel that a lady can ask a strange man to perform for her and it is about the only one a man can voluntarily offer.

WON FAME IN YOUTH.

SOME NOTED STATESMEN OF BY-GONE DAYS.

(Washington Letter.)

WHILE the selection of the young statesman from Nebraska is without exact parallel in the history of presidential nominations, Mr. Bryan is by no means extraordinarily young, as judged by many of the men who have exercised the most potent influence in the affairs of the republic.

Were Mr. Bryan to be elected president he would become chief magistrate at thirty-seven, ten years younger than was Grant when chosen to the same office. The latter was, as everyone knows, the youngest of American presidents, but on the other hand, the Boy Orator of the Platte is late in achieving national renown as compared with many other of our foremost men. It is, indeed, a curious fact that the republic, in its formative period, was practically dominated by young men. All the chief figures of the revolutionary period, with the exception of Washington, John Adams, and two or three others, were much younger than Mr. Bryan is now.

As an example of youthful precocity the career of Alexander Hamilton was undoubtedly the most remarkable among those of all the young men of eminence whom this country has produced. Hamilton was practically a famous man—as famous as Mr. Bryan the day after his great speech at Chicago—at twenty-five. It was in that year that he entered congress, and from that time on he was one of the most powerful figures of the time. At thirty he was a leading member of the constitutional convention of 1787.

It was natural, therefore, that Hamilton should be called by Washington as the first secretary of the treasury and given charge of the shaping of the nation's currency. He was then thirty-two, and at thirty-three he sent to congress his first "report on the public credit," which ranks as one of the great state papers of this nation and is part of the foundation of our form of government.

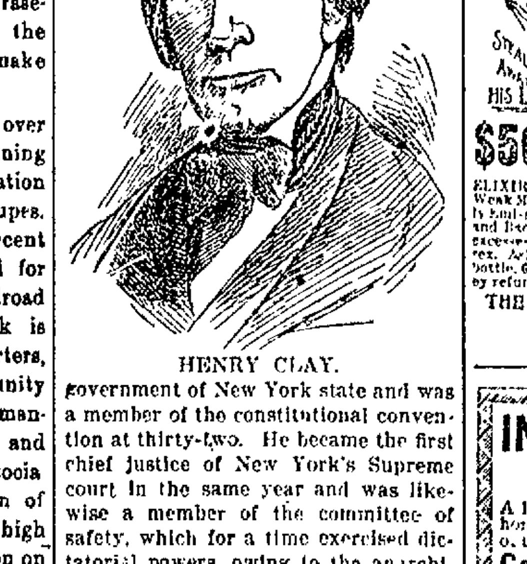

After Hamilton, Jefferson probably takes rank in the matter of youthful pre-eminence. The latter was only thirty-three when his almost inspired pen wrote the Declaration of Independence. But Jefferson was already nationally known some time before this, and next to Washington, and despite his age, was the most prominent citizen of Virginia. He was governor of that state at the age of thirty-six.

Madison, familiarly known as the father of the constitution, entered congress when he was twenty-eight and immediately took a leading rank in the councils of the young nation. When he began the making of the national charter he was only thirty-six, and it was at this age that he made his contributions, along with Hamilton and others, to the celebrated Federalist.

Monroe, of whose notable doctrine as regards foreign intervention on this continent we have heard very much in the last year, was three years younger than Madison, even when he was chosen to the continental congress. He was a United States senator at thirty-two and our minister to France at thirty-six.

Yet more remarkable, and almost equal to that of Hamilton, was the career of John Jay. Although the name of Jay is less known at the present day than that of many of his compatriots, yet it is doubtful if any man of the times exercised so deep and practical an influence as he. Jay entered the continental congress at twenty-nine and was a member of the committee, appointed for that purpose, which drafted the famous "Address to the People of Great Britain."

government of New York state and was a member of the constitutional convention at thirty-two. He became the first chief justice of New York's Supreme court in the same year and was likewise a member of the committee of safety, which for a time exercised dictatorial powers, owing to the anarchical condition of affairs at that time. Jay was a member of the commission which went to Paris to arrange the treaty of peace at thirty-six, and at thirty-eight, with Franklin, Adams and others, he signed the document which recognized the new republic as an independent nation.

Coming down to what might be called the second heroic period of American politics, we find that almost all of its dominant characters—Calhoun and Jackson, Webster and Clay, Benton and Fillmore—won their political spurs at a very early age. After having made his name known to all the people of the country as a fighter at twenty-nine, Jackson, then turned lawyer, was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the government of Tennessee. He was chosen United States senator at thirty and judge of the Tennessee Supreme court at thirty-one, which latter position he held for several years.

Jackson's lifelong antagonist, Calhoun, entered congress at twenty-nine and won a prominent position so quickly that at thirty-five he was chosen secretary of war. At the same age that Jackson was made senator from Tennessee Clay, known to his generation by the affectionate title of "The Mill Boy of the Slashes," was made senator from Kentucky. Serving for but a very short time, he was chosen to the lower branch of congress, and at thirty-four was elected speaker of the house of representatives. At thirty-seven he was a member of the Ghent commission.

Daniel Webster had already achieved fame as a lawyer when at thirty-one he was chosen to congress. He was only thirty-five when his famous argument in the Dartmouth college case placed him at the head of the American bar. Millard Fillmore, at thirty-six, had been twice elected to congress, at thirty-seven William H. Seward was put in nomination for governor of New York, and when twenty-nine James Buchanan was congressman from Pennsylvania.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

Garfield was elected to congress at thirty-one, after having been made major-general for his gallantry and brilliant achievements on the field of battle. Blaine entered congress at thirty-three and was made speaker a few years later and Roscoe Conkling entered at thirty.

It would be easy to extend the list. It is worth noting, too, that of two of our great military figures Winfield Scott was made brigadier-general at twenty-eight and Sheridan major-general of the United States army at thirty-five. George Bancroft, in spite of all his faults still our foremost historian, made himself famous at thirty by the publication of the first volume of his "History of the United States."

It is rather remarkable, too, and worthy of record, in view of Mr. Bryan's electric achievements at Chicago, that three out of the four or five greatest speeches ever delivered on American soil came from the lips of men younger than the present democratic nominee.

All things considered, Patrick Henry's famous speech before the Virginia house of burgesses is familiar above that of any other example of American oratory. When the Virginian uttered his thrilling words, "Tarquin and Caesar each had his Brutus, Charles I. his Cromwell, and George III.——" there being interrupted by cries of "Treason!" he was only twenty-nine.

PITTSBURG EXPLOSION.

Ten Men Burned, Three of Them Seriously.

PITTSBURG, Pa, Aug 20.—By the explosion of molten metal at furnace "I" of the Elgar Thomson steel works early this morning, ten men were burned, three seriously. The names of the latter were Mike Strasko, John Lorvick and John Dusma They were burned about the head and body and feet, but all will recover The explosion was caused by the molten iron striking a pool of water. The furnace was not damaged.

REFORMED ORPHANS.

Anniversary Celebration to Occur Next Wednesday.

Editor SENTINEL:

We would kindly direct the attention of our friends and citizens to the annual celebration at the Reformed Orphans home, Wednesday, August 26. The day will be celebrated as has been the custom for the past thirteen years. In the afternoon Rev. Dahlman, D D, of Akron, Ohio, and Rev. Saick, D D., of Tiffin, Ohio, will deliver addresses in the German and English languages, respectively. All arrangements for the entertainment of guests have been made. Lunch will be served at all hours; likewise refreshments of all sorts. Our home can be easily reached by taking car to Driving park, where 'busses will be waiting to transfer you to our home, for the small sum of five cents. We kindly ask your patronage on this occasion, and hope you may assist in the maintenance of an institution which is worthy of your support.

Yours Respectfully,

STERLING MORTON

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 20.—Local democratic managers say that they are not decided as to the presentation of Hon J. Sterling Morton's name as a presidential candidate at the national convention at Indianapolis. A conference of gold standard democrats will be held here within a few days to consider the advisability of presenting Secretary Morton's name. Nebraska may not send delegates to the Indianapolis convention at all. This will also be decided at the coming conference.

Loose clothes and downy cushions bring only a negative sort of comfort to the woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The effects of such disorders are not limited to more local discomforts but extend over the whole body. Perhaps the nerves are most affected, and this in turn disturbs the digestion. After that there is no telling what form the trouble may take. With irritable nerves and poor digestion, a woman is on the straight road to the grave. Women are notoriously negligent in matters pertaining to their health. Too many of them understand too little about their own physical make-up. They do not understand their possibilities or their limitations, and they do not know enough about themselves to know when a symptom is really serious and when it is not. This naturally makes them overlook the plainest of danger signals. The start of everything is simple. The start of so-called "female complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords immediate and lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting physicians.

The whole story of the "Favorite Prescription," and what it has done for thousands of women is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This is a 1008 page book, profusely illustrated, written in plain language for the use of every-day people, and gives in a clear and lucid way an immense amount of valuable information about health and medicine. It will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only.

The resident fruit dealers are complaining about the patronage extended to the firms who come to this city for a few weeks and engage in the sale of peaches and other fruit. They think Fort Wayne people ought to patronize the home dealers in preference to those firms which take their money out of the city.

Every seat in the big enclosure at Centlivre park was taken last night, and the crowd that witnessed the grand, awe inspiring spectacle of the destruction of Pompeii numbered several thousands. The fireworks were exceptionally brilliant and when old Vesuvius, which rose grim, threatening and dark with portent of destruction, suddenly awoke into a vast mountain of living fire and belched forth a glowing death to the terror stricken Pompeiians, the scene was awful in its thrilling grandeur. The various features of the show are excitingly interesting, and the climax is sublime and full of terrible beauty.

It was "Free Silver Night," and there were hundreds of enthusiastic democrats in the audience who rose to their feet and cheered loud and long when the picture of their idol, William Jennings Bryan, showed brilliantly in lineaments of living fire, rolling away the curtain of the past and bringing back the audience to the busy present.

Tonight is republican night, and the program of last night will be varied by the presentation of the picture of the republican candidate for president, Major William McKinley. Tonight will be the final exhibition of this great spectacle, and no one can afford to miss it. The price of admission has been reduced to 25c to enable all to witness the spectacle without great expense.

NOT WORKING.

Will Play Exhibition Games—Inter-State Games in Three Cities Yesterday.

Youngstown	26	19	7	.731
Toledo	26	18	8	.692
New Castle	25	15	10	.600
Wheeling	25	12	14	.481
Fort Wayne	25	12	14	.481
Saginaw	26	10	16	.385
Washington	26	8	18	.308

The games with Washington scheduled for the 19th, 20th and 22d, having been played by agreement in this city, the Fort Wayne club will have no more scheduled games until next Monday, when they play at Youngstown. After three games there they go to New Castle, then home. Today the club plays an exhibition game at Sisterville, W. Va, and will do the same at Cambridge, Ohio, tomorrow and Saturday.

INTER STATE GAMES

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Aug. 20—Up to the eighth it was a tie. With two out Cooper made a triple, and from that out the Youngstown team batted more fiercely. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 20—New Castle won the seventh game straight from Jackson in a listless game here yesterday. Derrick was taken out in the first inning, Engle being substituted. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.

The Washington base ball team seems to be in about the poorest condition of any in the Inter State league. The Washington Reporter says: "Captain Curran is ill at his home here suffering from typhoid fever. Martin is sick at Natrona, Pa; Ritz is laid up as the result of a collision with Cargo in one of the Toledo games; Donaghy is ill and will likely be given a rest; Rinehart and McKeown are both in poor condition, and the prospect for the team is not cheerful."

WILLIE FOSTER'S CASE.

(Indianapolis News.)

Secretary Bicknell, of the State Board of Charities, reached home last night from Fort Wayne, where he has been attending the official investigation by the board into the charges of cruelty preferred by James Foster and wife, of 47 Elizabeth street, the parents of Willie Foster, an inmate for eight years in the State School for Feeble Minded Children. The boy was taken from the institution July 4, materially worse in mind and much injured in his hands by reason of burns received in January. The parents were present with an attorney and a number of witnesses. The investigation was conducted by Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Ellison and Dr. Mary Spink, three members of the board. It was found that the boy had been admitted to the institution eight years ago, when it was at Richmond, and that he was then about six years of age. He was suffering from a form of epilepsy, which the present physician of the institution, Dr. Della Howe, says is hysterical in its nature. His spasms were so frequent that during school hours no attention would be paid to them, as they passed away in so short a time.

On January 21, while in a fit, he left his seat and walked up to the water heater and seized a hot pipe. Before attention was called to him his hands had been horribly burned in the palms. He was placed in the hospital, where he has received, according to the testimony of the physician and according to the records, the best treatment possible. The physician and some of the attendants contributed skin for the grafting process, but owing to the boy's mental condition, which, according to the record evidence, has been growing worse, the grafts could not be kept on. As the wounds healed the fingers closed, so that the hands will never be of much use again.

The board found that the evidence fully exonerated the management of the institution, and the attorney for the prosecution said that he would make a public statement approving the finding.

Mr. Bicknell says that he does not wonder that the parents of the boy feel with some bitterness that something ought to have been done to save them from this greater trial. He says, however, that not a link was missing in the chain of evidence showing that all was done that could be done by the authorities at the institution.

A Big Show.

The "All Star" cast which played "The Rivals" last winter now has a second in the sporting world. John L Sullivan, Parson Davies, Big Tom Schandler, Don Creedon, Tom Tracy, Tommy White, Joe Bert and Billy Murphy and a dozen other crackajacks compose the "All Star" Athletic Combination, which comes to this city on next Saturday. The boxing will be all three round contests and such an array of fighting talent has never before taken the road. It is the biggest show of its kind ever organized and runs at an expense of $950 a day. It is John L Sullivan's last appearance before the American public and his friends will undoubtedly show him that he is still in the hearts of his countrymen.

Lawyers Assembled to Listen to Lord Russell.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Over 400 people assembled in convention hall today to listen to the address of Lord Russel, of Kilowen, lord chief justice of England, on "International Arbitration" before the American Bar association. It was one of the most distinguished audiences that ever gathered here. When Lord Russell entered the hall he was greeted with hearty applause and as he ascended the platform the ovation increased and was more demonstrative.

The president of the association, Moorefield Storrey, of Boston, on presenting Lord Russell, said: "I have now the very great pleasure, not of introducing, for he needs no introduction to any English speaking lawyer, but of presenting to you Lord Russell, of Kilowen, the lord chief justice of England, who will deliver the annual address on the subject of 'International Arbitration.'"

THE SHERMAN HOUSE

Chairman J. K. Jones and His Staff Locate There and Prepare to Do Business.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Senator J. K. Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic national committee, arrived in Chicago from Washington today. Accompanying him were his son, Kimborough Jones, of Washington, T. O. Towler, of the Bimetallic league, and J. G. Johnson, of Peabody, Kas., member of the executive committee. The immediate result of Senator Jones' visit was the closing of a deal by which the national headquarters will be established at the Sherman house. Senator Jones secured all the parlor floor rooms on the Randolph street side of the hotel building and two other rooms. The work of distributing campaign literature will be begun at once.

INDIAN LYNCHED.

LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 20.—Frank Biles, a half-breed Indian from the Nez Perces reservation, was taken from the Asotine jail last night and hanged by a mob of indignant citizens. His crime was the criminal outrage of Miss Mary Richardson, a young woman seventeen years of age. Miss Richardson, whose home is in Enterprise, Ore., was in delicate health and had been visiting friends in this vicinity. Yesterday she started from Lewiston to Asotine on horseback unattended. On the road she was overtaken by Biles and two Indians from the reservation and assaulted. Last night at 11 o'clock a band of about thirty citizens marched to the jail and demanded the keys of the jail. The sheriff refused to comply and the keys were taken from him by force. They then went to jail, unlocked the door and took out the prisoner. Across one corner of a fence a long pole was laid. A rope was tied around his neck and the other end thrown over the pole and the Indian hanged.

Were Assisting Each Other to Ascend the Steps, When Both Fell Backwards.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 20.—A strange double fatality occurred at the National Soldiers' Home last night, the victims being Richard Botfield, aged seventy-eight, late of the United States navy, and William I. Gordon, late of Company D, Ninth Ohio infantry. They were assisting each other up the steps of the main building when both fell backward to the stone flagging, and were so badly hurt that they died shortly afterward.

KILLED IN A SALOON.

A Texas Desperado Dies Resisting Arrest.

LAREDO, Texas, Aug. 20.—The notorious A. Y. Allee was killed in a saloon last night by City Marshal Bathelow. Allee has been before the criminal courts for many years. He is charged with murdering three men, one Editor Bowen, on a crowded coach on the International railroad near here. Last night he began to show the dangerous traits in his character and in attempting to arrest him the city marshal had to defend himself the best he could, resulting as stated.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 20.—A special to the Journal from Willmar, Minn., states that a gang of tramps held up and robbed eighteen prominent men there last night. They also shot a lad, J. Tillden, so that he may die. A large posse is in pursuit and some fighting is expected.

CLOUD BURST.

MOGOLLON, N. M., Aug. 20.—A terrible cloud burst struck this place about 4 p. m. yesterday, leaving death and destruction behind. John Knight, a miner who resided at Georgetown, was drowned in his cabin. Several others are reported missing, but so far only two bodies, those of Knight and an unknown Mexican, have been recovered. These were found in a field about six miles below. About 100 families have been rendered homeless and thirty houses washed away. The property of the Colonial Mining company, of Boston, Mass., has suffered to a large extent, the assay office, mill house, powder house and blacksmith shop being washed away. It is feared the mine is filled with mud and water. The managers and assayers had a narrow escape, being assisted to the bank by means of ropes.

The Deep Down Mining company, of Kansas City, lost their main office and assay office. The place is situated in a deep canyon between high mountains. The flood attained a height of over eight feet and lasted over thirty minutes. Had it so continued ten minutes longer the whole town would have been swept away, as the debris had collected in the street, forming a solid wall just as the flood began to recede. Hardly a business house in the town escaped damage. The wagon road leading up to the mountain from the town, which was built a few years ago at an immense cost and which is the only outlet for freighters, has been entirely ruined and goods brought into the camp will have to be brought in on pack animals.

The storm was general in this section of the territory. Advices from Graham state that at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a cloudburst on the mountain side caused a flood at the Confidence mines, a property belonging to the Helen Mining company, of Denver, Col., situated about three miles from there. The flood carried away the shop and sluices at the mines. Nine horses that were at the ore chutes loading ore for the mill were washed over the steep precipice and killed. The men working at the tunnel barely escaped with their lives.

It is feared that great damage is done on the other side of the Mogollon district. Nothing definite can be learned on account of telephone communication being broken.

It is feared that the loss of life around Mogollon will be much greater than first reports made it. There were at least twenty persons, mostly miners, living right in the track of the great wall of water. They occupied for the most part adobe dwellings. These have been swept away and their occupants cannot be heard from. Some of these may have been warned in time to get out of the way, but it is certain that a number have perished. The loss to the mining company will be very heavy as some expensive machinery had lately been put in the mines and much of this is a total wreck.

FERGUSON'S MURDERER.

Description of the Man Sent Broadcast Over the Country—His Escape Likely.

Police Superintendent Gorsline told a SENTINEL reporter today that every clue so far discovered in the Ferguson murder case has been faithfully followed and found to be misleading.

It seems to be a generally accepted opinion that Charles Sunnerd, the murderer, is far beyond the precincts of Fort Wayne, and that his capture now depends upon the vigilance of officers abroad. A description of the man has been sent broadcast and developments are anxiously awaited.

The man McCormick, who is held on suspicion, will have a hearing tomorrow morning. There appears to be no evidence to convict him.

WORK OF CHILDREN.

Twenty-six Men in the Caboose Saved From Death by a Friendly Tree.

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 20.—A thorough investigation was made this morning into the cause of the derailing of engine No. 49, which was hauling a work train last night near Carrollton, the locomotive rolling down an embankment and killing Engineer Joseph Kirk and Fireman John Hardesty, of this city. The investigation shows the accident to have been caused by children having placed three spikes on the outside rail of the curve where the derailment occurred. Twenty six men in the caboose escaped death by falling several hundred feet down an embankment, because the caboose was caught in the branches of a big tree.

THE POPULISTS

Have No Rich Men to Tap for Campaign Purposes.

Existing Difficulties Will be Arranged and Populists Will Work for Bryan and Silver.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The executive committee of the populist party has adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. It has accomplished all that could be done at the present time in arranging for headquarters here and branch headquarters in Chicago. It was decided that J. R. Sovereign should be assigned to the Chicago headquarters, which will be under the management of Mr. Washburn, of Massachusetts. Chairman Butler of course, will be in charge here, and will give his whole attention to the campaign. Mr. Butler will be assisted by Secretary Edgerton, who will be here most of the campaign. C. H. Pirtle, chief of the senate document room, will be in charge of the sending out of documents.

Mr. Butler said today that the class of literature which was to be sent out had not yet been decided upon. As far as possible documents which can be franked will be sent out. These will include speeches by populists in congress, and some of Tom Watson's will be among the number selected. Some of the literature being sent out by the democratic committee is also used by the silver committee and will be distributed.

Chairman Butler said this morning that the committee was of course embarrassed for want of funds and Secretary Edgerton said that the committee must rely upon voluntary subscriptions as much as possible.

"We have chipped in," said Chairman Butler, "to pay our expenses thus far. We have no rich men to make large contributions for campaign expenses. I expect we will have to make a campaign like others we have made in the south, where we have managed with very little money."

Chairman Butler will enter into correspondence with populist leaders and with free silver leaders in various parts of the country at once and endeavor to effect an adjustment of all existing difficulties which will bring the supporters of silver and Bryan into harmonious action. The silver party and the populist party are today moving into headquarters with the democratic party in the Wormley building. The rooms to be occupied by the silver men and the populists are being put in order for their occupation. Vice Chairman Stevens, of the silver party, said today that the silver branch headquarters in Chicago would be every bit as important as the headquarters in Washington and would have charge of the campaign in the western states.

A HUGE TASK.

Every Republican Who Intends to Vote for Bryan and Every Democrat Who Intends to Vote for McKinley.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Republican managers will endeavor to find out every republican who intends to vote for Bryan and every democrat who intends to vote for McKinley. This immense task will be undertaken by the 20,000 organizations of the national league of republican clubs.

The actual work will begin next week, although the officials at the national headquarters of the league have been preparing for it for several months. It is expected that this canvass will cover every county in the country, and that when it is completed the republican managers will know exactly where they stand on both the money and presidential candidates.

As a starter 10,000 letters of introduction will be mailed tomorrow. The reports are expected to begin arriving in about two weeks. A force of clerks will be put to work on these and they will be tabulated as soon as they arrive. As the canvass progresses reports will be made to the national executive committee.

FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

A Father and Son Have a Thrilling Adventure.

BEDFORD STATION, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Walker B. Adams, of this place, is lying at the point of death as the result of an encounter with four burglars. Two of the burglars were captured, having first been wounded by Adams' son, William, who was himself struck by a pistol ball, which, however, glanced off from a suspender buckle. Adams' store is provided with a burglar alarm connected with his house. Shortly after midnight the alarm sounded, and Adams and his son, arming themselves, went to the store. They were met by four burglars, who at once opened fire. The elder Adams was shot in the head and fell to the ground. The son was commanded by the burglars to throw up his hands. He made a move as if he intended to comply with the command, when he suddenly raised his Winchester and fired in rapid succession, wounding two of the burglars, who fell within a few feet of where the elder Adams lay. Young Adams continued to fire and the two burglars emptied their revolvers at him. One of the bullets struck the buckle of William's suspenders and then glanced off. Both of the wounded burglars were shot in the abdomen and neither of them can recover. They refuse to say anything as to their identity. The elder Adams cannot survive his wounds. William Adams says he is confident that he wounded the two burglars who escaped.

The Leading Michigan Law Firm Disrupted by Opposing Political Opinions.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20.—A dissolution of the legal copartnership of Don M. Dickinson, H. T. Thurber and Elliott G. Stevenson is announced to take place on September 1. The announcement is of interest, not only as involving a change in the relations of gentlemen who are recognized as standing among the foremost at the bar of Michigan, but as possessing great political significance. In fact, the dissolution of a firm which includes Mr. Dickinson, one of the advisors to the president, and Mr. Thurber, private secretary at the executive mansion, and Elliott G. Stevenson, chairman for some time of the democratic state central committee, could scarcely be consummated without involving political significance. Mr. Dickinson is said to have been much displeased when he returned from the east and found that Mr. Stevenson had to some extent compromised the firm by accepting the chairmanship of the state central committee and becoming responsible for the Bryan campaign in Michigan. Mr. Stevenson later resigned the chairmanship, but the friction which, however, never interrupted amicable relations in personal intercourse, continued and the result was the decision on Mr. Stevenson's part to withdraw from the firm.

Today John Condon, who conducts a saloon at 274 Calhoun street, was arrested on the charge of violating the Sunday law. Officer Flickinger, who filed the affidavit, says Condon had the back door of his place open last Sunday and that parties were seen going in and out. Condon asked for a continuance of the case so that he could consult an attorney, therefore Mayor Scherer carried it over until tomorrow morning.

Superintendent Gorsline says he has several other places under surveillance and is only waiting to gather evidence to convict the violators.

George Braybrook, against whom an affidavit was filed on the charge of not taking out a liquor license is one ahead of the officers. While Lieutenant Lapp was hunting for the offender, the latter slipped around and quietly took out a license. The case had to be dismissed.

A PEDDLER FINED

E. E. Myers, an express man, was fined $10 and costs by the mayor for peddling without a license. Myers was selling vegetables from house to house.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Harry Beyers Brings Suit Against Mamie Beyers.

E. V. Emrick, as attorney for the plaintiff, has brought suit in the circuit court asking that his client, Harry Beyers, may be given a divorce from his wife, Mamie Beyers, because of cruelty and on other grounds. The plaintiff is a blacksmith and the defendant is employed at the Randall. The parties have been married three years.

Breen & Morris have filed a complaint in the superior court asking that their client, Mary E. Flynn, may be given a judgment of $10,000 against the Fort Wayne Consolidated Railway company for injuries received through the negligence of the company. She was riding on the Robison park line and had her limbs and other parts of her body injured in an accident.

John Sheenan is on trial before Justice Bullerman this afternoon for assault and battery on Frank White. The case is the result of a fight which the parties had a few days ago. E. V. Emrick is the attorney for the defendant.

Justices France and Huser and Drs. Schilling and Daemling are holding an inquest this afternoon in regard to the mental condition of Mrs. Lena Budde, of 65 West Fourth street.

John W. Kress and Lizzie Reith have been licensed to wed.

THE RACES.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 20.—The feature of the grand circuit races here yesterday was the victory of Pearl C. over Phenol in the 2:12 pace. It was a great race from start to finish and Phenol after winning the first two heats was shut out of a piece of the money by a serious break in the last heat. After the first heat Jones was taken down from behind Pearl C and Mike Bowerman given the ribbons. He drove a great race, winning the third heat on an eyelash finish and taking the next two handily, the clip Pearl C set under Bowerman's guidance driving Phenol to break in both heats.

Marguerite and Fairview were easy winners of the two other events on the card. Fairview lowered his mark one half second in the third heat of his race. The attendance was 2,000. Summaries:

2:40 Class, Trotting, Three year olds, Purse $800—Marguerite, first, Olivewood, second, Bob Collins, third; Nobby, fourth. Time—2:16¼, 2:18, 2:22¼.

2:30 Class, Pacing, Three year olds, Purse, $800—Fairview, first; Joe Baily, second; Gus Hornet, third, Odd Fellow, fourth, and Burr Patch, distanced, Time—2:14¼, 2:17¼, 2:13¼.

2:12 Pace, Purse $1,000—Pearl C., first; Dick Wilkes, second; Alti, third, Captain Crouch, Nydia Wilkes, King Lud and Phenol also started. Time—2:08¼, 2:08¼, 2:07¼, 2:07¼, 2:10¼.

2:35 Pace, Purse $1,000—Sidiveus, first; Happy Daniel, second, Galena, third. Time—2:16¼, 2:15¾, 2:15, 2:17¼.

2:18 Pace, Purse $1,000—Radius, first; Delta, second; Norwood, third; Luella Shawhan, fourth. Dick, Prince Daniel, Johnnie B., Trihmont, Princess Eulalia, Allerian, Mouta and Pilot Medium also started. Time—2:12¼, 2:12¼, 2:12¼, 2:15¼, 2:16¼, 2:17¼, 2:22¼.

2:19 pace, purse $500—Lucy Wilkes, first; Lady Helen, second; Prestoria Wilkes, third. Time—2:14¼.

LEBANON, Ind., Aug 20.—About 4,000 people were in attendance at the fair yesterday. The results:

2:50 trotting, purse $150—Dermont Muscenoto, first; Baby Cicerone, second; Dedron, third. Best time—2:38¼.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 20.—Marion Mills, the Oshkosh wonder, paced a mile yesterday at the fair grounds track, which is not fast, without sulky or driver, in 2:08¼. This is the fastest performance of the kind ever made and establishes a world's record. The time is authentic. The quarters were made in 0:31, 1:02¼, 1:35 and 2:08¼. This beats Happy Jack, the Appleton horse, by four seconds. Marion Mills is a handsome bay mare, with flowing mane and tail. She is the property of George W. Athearn, of this city, and is booked for exhibitions in Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and numerous other cities. Her best time to sulky is 2:15.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 20.—None of the horses in the 2:18 trot yesterday were able to give Franklin an argument and he won a hollow victory in easy time. The attendance was up to the ordinary. Weather cool and track a bit heavy. Pools were sold as formerly, except that the betting fraternity was corralled within a fence and admission to the enclosure was charged. Summary:

1:18 Class Trotting, Purse $2,000—Franklin, first; Satin Slipper, second, Lake Erie, third. Time, 2:12, 2:15¼, 2:15¼.

2:27 Class Pacing, Purse $2,000—Bright Light, first; Mocking Boy, second, Walnut Lad, third. Time, 2:12¼, 2:11¼, 2:11¼.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 20.—Ransom W. Dunham, of Chicago, who was visiting friends here, died suddenly of apoplexy last night, aged 55 years. Mr. Dunham was an ex congressman, having served in the national house in 1883-5. He was also ex president of the Chicago board of Trade. He formerly lived in this city.

POLITICAL CLUBS.

Two of Them Meet and Effect Permanent Organizations.

A number of republicans of this city who favor the free coinage of silver and who, because of that issue in the political campaign of this year, intend to vote for the democratic candidates for president and vice president, held a meeting last night in their rooms in the Hackett building on West Wayne street, and effected a permanent organization of a republican silver club.

The movement for the formation of this club was started a few days ago and a petition for names was circulated, which resulted in securing fifty signers and the renting of a handsome suite of rooms in the building mentioned above, which were furnished, provided with reading matter and made attractive in every way for the members.

At the meeting last night A. B. White was made chairman and, after the preliminaries for an organization had been effected, speeches were made by Attorney S. F. Swayne and Frank Lamont. The following permanent officers of the club were elected:

President—A. B. White.

Vice President—John C. Cain.

Corresponding Secretary—Jesse A. Young.

At the next meeting a vice president will be selected from each ward in the city. The club will meet on Wednesday evening of each week, and the rooms will be open every day and evening. Adherents of all political creeds are invited to visit the rooms, where a warm welcome will be extended. In addition to the fifty names on the roll of the club, nearly that many more are willing to join, and there will be a big class for initiation at the next meeting.

REPUBLICAN RAILROAD CLUB

Quite a large number of the railroad men of the city met last night at the rooms of the Republican Business Men's club, in the White block, and organized for the campaign. Mr. Enoch Cox called the meeting to order and presided until the organization was effected, after which, in the absence of the president-elect, the first vice president took the chair. Mr. Cox and Dr. C. B. Stemen made forcible and interesting addresses.

The organization of the club, which will be known as the Fort Wayne Railroad McKinley club, was perfected, and it starts out with 300 members. At the meeting last night the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—C. D. Law.

Second Vice President—Henry Stouder.

Fourth Vice President—John F. Shepler.

Fifth Vice President—William M. Glenn.

Seventh Vice President—William Birbeck.

Eighth Vice President—Capt. Robert Harrison.

Ninth Vice President—Capt. John C. Kensill.

Treasurer—C. H. Newton.

The regular meetings of the club will be held on Wednesday evenings, and the next meeting will be held at the same hall as was the meeting of last night.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug., 19, 1896.

Maj. William McKinley, Canton, Ohio.

C. D. LAW, President.

SPEAKING MEETINGS

Lafayette Township—Addressed by Will Colerick and others.

Mayor Scherer, Henry Colerick and W. C. Ryan will address a democratic meeting in the Ninth ward tomorrow night, at which time a Bryan and Sewall club will be organized with a large membership.

LOYAL HALL DEMOCRACY

The regular weekly business meeting of the Loyal Hall Democracy was held last night at their rooms on East Main street, and business of importance transacted.

FOURTH WARD REPUBLICANS

Forty three republicans in the Fourth ward organized a McKinley and Hobart club last night, with the following officers: President, [illegible]; vice president, [illegible]; secretary, C. C. Carteron; treasurer, Ed Yoder.

Who Had Arrested Men for Obstructing the Sidewalks While Listening to Silver Discussion.

At Indianapolis, as in this city, and every other large city and town and village and hamlet in the country crowds have been in the habit of collecting at certain corners to discuss the finance question. At Indianapolis, a few days ago, the police made several arrests for obstruction of traffic and since then there have been no crowds. Yesterday the men arrested were brought before Judge Cox in police court, who dismissed them after making a speech of some length in which he declared that citizens had a perfect right to collect in any number upon the streets or elsewhere to discuss political questions.

"I want to say here and now that there is not a decision of any court, high or low, where it is held that a man violates the law by talking over political questions in the street. On the contrary, all of the decisions are the other way. The right of free speech is fundamental in our constitution and must not be denied. No police force can stop it. It is the right of American citizens. This is a time when perplexing questions are puzzling the people. They are questions of vital importance to the common people. It is only by ample discussion of the questions that confront them that they can learn properly to exercise their right of franchise. They have a right, under the law and the constitution, to discuss these questions, and this court is going to protect them in that right.

"This thing is not new. The streets of this city have been often crowded by political gatherings, ratification meetings, and so forth. On election nights, when the people are impatient for news from all over the country, and gather in force in front of the offices of newspapers, the streets have often been completely blocked to all traffic. Business has been entirely suspended by the crowds. These are only small crowds that gather on our street corners. It seems to be the avowed policy of the police to prevent these gatherings. I want to say right here that this court will not uphold them in this course.

"So much for the charge against this man of obstructing the sidewalk. There is a case of loitering against him. The ordinance under which this case is brought was designed to prevent unlawful loitering, the gathering of thieves and idle men for purposes of vagrancy. It was not directed against such harmless gatherings as these. In this case the ordinance seems to have been used as an engine of oppression, and this court will not be a party to such action. That's all I've got to say. I don't want any more cases of this kind brought into this court."

FOUR RUNAWAYS.

Broadway Witnessed an Exciting Scene Yesterday Afternoon.

There was a pretty lively bunch of runaways on Broadway, between Jefferson and Washington, yesterday afternoon. The horse of Charles Rippe, the liveryman, which was attached to a light buggy, became frightened and ran away. It dashed north on Broadway and, running in on the sidewalk in front of George Nichter's barber shop and Schroeder Bros.' drugstore, started the horse of the Eckart pork packers, which was hitched there, and afterwards the horses of Charles Lahmeyer, the grocer, and Frieman A. Vollmer, the mineral water dealers. For a time it was exciting and confusion prevailed. The Rippe horse continued north on Broadway, overturned and smashed the buggy, and was finally stopped near Main. The Eckart horse turned and went west on Washington, ran into a bicycle which was owned by Guy Smith, and smashed it, and was stopped near Van Buren, where it was secured by Fred Hoatman, the driver, soon afterwards. The other two horses were stopped before any particular damage was done.

CALEDONIAN SPORTS

Tomorrow Will be Field Day at Robison Park.

Tomorrow at Robison park will occur the annual picnic and athletic games of the Caledonian club and, weather permitting, there will be a large attendance. The Scotch sports never fail to draw a crowd.

The games will be called at 1:30 p. m. and the program includes quoiting, 100 yard dash, putting sixteen pound shot, tossing the caber, high jump, boys race under fourteen years, throwing sixteen pound hammer, boys' race under ten years, running broad jump, pole vault, half mile race and tug of war.

The officers of the day are: Judges, A. F. McLachlan, Thomas Duncan, W. W. Orrock; clerk, Allan H. Dougall; announcer, Wm Lawson; starter, W. [illegible] Hoott, Angus McPherson, marshal Thomas Sinclair, president [illegible], [illegible], second vice president [illegible], secretary Allan H. Dougall, treasurer, [illegible].

The refreshments served were ice cream in [illegible] layers of silver and gold. Souvenirs of the occasion were campaign buttons. The house was decorated [illegible] except for the [illegible] that is attained only where [illegible] have been at work. Pictures of McKinley and Bryan were draped in the national colors. The rooms were trimmed with bunting of silver and gold.

IN CONVULSIONS.

Nancy May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Byron, died of convulsions at the Union house last night. The child had an attack on the streets last Tuesday and was conveyed to the Union house, where she steadily grew worse until her death. The father of the little girl was a foreman for the Dennon Construction company, which built the Robison park street railway line and is at present in West Virginia employed by the same company. A telegram was sent to him last night and he will probably arrive in time to attend the funeral. The deceased child was five years old.

Alice E., wife of Isadore Alringer, the well known clerk in the Fruit house, died last night of indigestion at her home, 168 Griffith street. Deceased was forty four years old. Besides the husband there are four children surviving her, as follows: May, Olney, Emma and Beulah. Olney is employed at the electric works. Mrs. Alringer had been ill for a long time.

The funeral of Mrs. I. Alringer will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. from the house, 168 Griffith street.

The funeral of Elmer Ferguson, who was murdered last Monday night, took place from the residence of his parents, 209 East Jefferson street, and half an hour later from the United Brethren church, Rev. A. W. Ballinger officiating.

The funeral of the little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George B. Stemen will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 300 West Main street.

FELL OFF A CAR.

John Reline's Serious and Almost Fatal Accident.

The little girl of Mrs. Bradshaw fell and fractured her right arm last evening, while playing at the house of Mr. and Mrs. John Morning, No. 2 Warsaw street, where she was visiting. Dr. Moran Harrod attended the little sufferer.

Frederick Reiter, a buyer for the City mills, fainted on the street at the corner of Main and Harrison, today, and was conveyed to the home of his son in law on Baker street. In falling his head struck the stone curbing, and a serious wound was inflicted. Mr. Reiter has not been in good health for some time, which makes his chances of recovery uncertain.

An old man, named John Reline, a laborer, fell out of an electric car on Spy Run avenue last night. His body dropped to the ground directly in front of a wagon, which passed over him. His head was badly cut and he was otherwise painfully injured.

John Casimer, of Leo, was brought to the city and taken to the St. Joe hospital, suffering from a severe injury to his left eye. He was employed in the saw mill of his uncle, Frank Mueller, when a splinter flew from a piece of timber and struck him in the optic, whence it was removed with the greatest difficulty by Dr. K. K. Wheelock. It is probable that sight of the injured organ is destroyed.

George Wheelock, a son of Dr. K. K. Wheelock, and Sidney Schwarz, a nephew of the Epstein brothers, clothing merchants, have made a nice bicycle record that is causing considerable talk among amateur wheelmen. Masters Wheelock and Schwarz made a century run to Wabash, Ind., and return, the entire trip of 100 miles being accomplished in eleven hours and forty two minutes. The trip down was made in five hours and forty-two minutes and the return in six hours. They would have beaten this time only that young Schwarz's bicycle saddle gave way before reaching home and he rode the remaining distance on the bare frame.

The boys are only fifteen years old and they are to be complimented on the record they have made.

Next Tuesday evening the Young Men's society will give an ice cream social at [illegible] hall, and the [illegible]

Wabash democrats will start a silver daily paper. Alfred Isley is booked to do the editorial, and Jerome Wellman, of Urbana, to be the local man.

The phrenologists of Indiana will hold their state convention at Kokomo August 22, 23 and 24, and a splendid gathering is anticipated. The advocates of this science have made vast strides the past few years, especially those in Indiana.

Ex Postmaster General Wanamaker will be a candidate for United States senator against Senator Cameron in Pennsylvania next winter, and from present appearances it looks as if he would be able to defeat the latter in the legislature.

The enterprising paragraphist is already getting in his work on the small boy in great shape. He reports him as "viewing with alarm the near approach of the time when he must wash his face, comb his hair and trudge off to school to pore over his books and mind the teacher."

The crop report of the Indiana agricultural station, for the week just ended, shows corn in the southern portion of the state as fast maturing and nearly safe from frost, and in the northern and central sections in fair progress with the probability that it will be safe from frost by September 1st to the 15th. Large crops of tomatoes, cabbage and beans are in good condition. Potatoes will be a large crop, although many are rotteniug in localities. Pears, plums and grapes are very abundant.

It is interesting to note that up to date this year the exports of corn show an increase of 33 000,000 bushels over the same period last year. As this country has lost its prestige as a wheat, producing country, there is a strong hope that the future has in store an enlarged market for our corn, in the production of which we have no competion.

According to the report of Consul Germain, the wine production of the world last year was 3,572 000 000 gallons. The estimated population of the world is 1,479,000,000. This would give nearly three gallons of wine to every man, woman and child in the world. These figures may be a starter for some temperance mathematician with a 'head for figgers.'

A partial eclipse of the moon occurs on August 22. With a night favorable as far as clouds are concerned, the eclipse will be an interesting one. It is the only one of the four eclipses of the year that is visible in this part of America. Almost three quarters of the disk will be obscured, and from the time of entering outer shadow, or penumbra, as it is called, to the time of leaving it, five and three quarters hours will intervene.

An exchange sums up the situation in a pithy compendium as follows: "Every man has a hobby and every rider of a hobby expects every one else to think, believe, act and operate like himself. The base ball crank thinks every man is off who isn't as crazy about base ball as he is himself. The bicycle fanatic considers all who do not enthuse on the bike question lacking in some mental essential. There are few men who are broad enough to accord to others the right to differ from them and yet regard them as their mental equals. There are honest bimetallists and honest single standard men and honest free for all silverites. But none is honest enough to think the others are equally honest—and possibly just as fully entitled to their own opinions."

The removal of the northern state prison from Michigan City to Indianapolis is being agitated. Senator Shively, of Richmond, will champion a bill at the next session of the legislature favoring the location of both the northern and southern state prisons at Indianapolis. He says that in the removal of that at Michigan City there would be no financial loss since it is in a most dilapidated condition, scarcely a building fit for the uses intended in it, and it would require very nearly as much to put it in proper condition as it would to build a modern prison. He would unite the two prisons under one set of officers believing that it would be much cheaper and the work done better. Mr. Shively is a member of the prison committee appointed by the last general assembly.

In the Fall.

We observe that some hypercritical individual is again objecting to the word "fall" to designate the time of year which our British brethren usually name "autumn." The hypercritical individual is simply silly. If there is one word which is rightly used in the English language it is the term "fall" to denote the months of September, October and November. It is a whole poem in itself, that word "fall," thus used. It means the time of the fall of the leaf. In September the green of summer fades a little, the more fragile and tender of the leaves begin to fall like flakes of an advancing snowstorm. In October the trees turn golden and red and glorious, the leaf storm is full on, the dying foliage descends thick and fast and covers the earth with a brightness as of flowers in bloom. October flits, November arrives, and with him the winds and the soaking rains. The last foliage is torn from the trees, the leaves swirl hither and thither in the wind and rain and finally pack away in hollows and banks to turn to rich brown mold and fertilize the earth. The last leaf has disappeared; the trees hold up their arms, brown and withered; the "fall" season is over.

If it is incorrect to speak of the "fall" season of the year, then it is just as incorrect to speak of the spring of the year.

Waste material frequently proves to be worth more than the thing it is the waste of. This is true of the by products of petroleum. At first refiners of the oil were put to their wits' end to know what to do with the dreadful refuse cast off in making the kerosene for illuminating oil. It seemed to spoil everything it touched and filled the air with nauseous odors besides. By and by they became wiser. They learned to utilize one after another these waste products of kerosene. Now naphtha, benzine, gasoline, vaseline and a dozen or more much valued medicines are distilled from the once useless and unsightly rubbish. Everything is of use when its use is found. Even some useless people could probably be made of service if their right place could be ascertained.

Don't lose your bankbook. A judge of the supreme court of New York has decided that when a bankbook is presented at the bank which issued it the money it calls for shall lawfully be paid to the bearer unless there are circumstances accompanying the presentation of the book that look suspicious. This decision will no doubt be followed elsewhere. Therefore if you lose your bankbook, the one who finds it may collect your money and the bank not be held responsible.

The growth of electric street railways is shown in the fact that in the state of New York alone 94 per cent of all such roads are operated by electricity, against 2 per cent six years ago.

Cleveland, O., has reached her one hundredth birthday as about the liveliest centenarian on record. She is to be congratulated on that and also on her base ball team.

AREWORTH MILLIONS

The Le Roi Mine Has Paid Many Dividends—Its Stock Rises From 5 Cents to $5 Per Share—Some Romances Heard Near the Mines and in Spokane.

Over in Spokane, Wash., they are enjoying a flood of prosperity. Whether it is merely a temporary wave which will soon subside, leaving a harder and drier beach than ever, or whether it is a permanent returning tide, remains for the future to reveal.

The merchants of Spokane are all doing well, the banks show good deposits, the clearing house remarkable gains, the hotels are crowded, and over all and everything there is spread a ruddy glow from the first direct rays of the rising sun of hope and promise. The cause of these new conditions at Spokane is the development of the gold mines of Washington and British Columbia. The developing was first inspired by some rich discoveries of gold made in Trail Creek, B. C., and Spokane is fast becoming a second Denver.

Trail Creek is essentially a gold camp. The ores are not high grade. Their average is from $25 to $40 per ton. The veins, however, are very large, if, correctly speaking, they can be called veins at all. More properly they are vast ore shoots. No clearly defined walls have ever been found. In the famous Le Roi mine, which has paid so many handsome dividends within the past nine months, they were driving their tunnel for many months along what appeared to be a clean, smooth, clearly defined wall. An old miner was being shown through the mine workings, and his attention was particularly called to the "beautiful smooth wall." He whipped out his pocketknife, picked at the "wall" for a few moments and then called for a pick. A few heavy blows broke through the "wall," and from behind there tumbled out a beautiful chunk of ore, of course to the amazement of the mine superintendent and all concerned. A crosscut tunnel was run in at this point, driven for 75 consecutive feet in solid ore all the way, and at last reports was still in ore and no "wall" found yet. The veins are of enormous and still undefined magnitude.

But every new mining camp is sure to develop, along with its ores, cranks, gamblers, boomers and swindlers, a few touches of romance, bits of story and thrilling tales of adventure, pleasant to read about on a hot summer's day while swinging in a hammock under a friendly shade tree and fighting flies with a huge palmetto. A poor saloon keeper in Spokane, bucking the ghost of hard times, makes a wry face when forced to take for his rye whisky and cigars stock in the Le Roi mines at 5 cents a share in settlement of the bills of some of his customers—three shares of stock for a drink, five shares of stock for two drinks. But the butcher and baker and porter and the wholesale liquor house in Seattle were not so "enthusiastic" about mines and refused to accept the Le Roi stock in payment for their wares, work and whisky, and the poor saloon keeper was on the verge of being closed out. Forty-six thousand shares of the 5 cent Le Roi stock had he accumulated in this way. He is out of the saloon business now, but still owns the Le Roi stock because he could not get rid of it and now lives upon the princely income of his holdings, valued (at today's market prices) at $276,000. At three shares of stock for a drink he was paid for his whisky at the rate of $18 per drink. This is a record in the saloon business hard to beat.

But while the Le Roi is a great property there will be other properties developed up there fully as great and far greater. This may be true in the Trail creek district, but will unquestionably be true on the Colville reservation and in the Boundary creek district, just west of Trail. These districts undoubtedly carry the great mother lodes of that mineral zone. This is the conclusion of the best geologists and the most renowned experts, including such men as Clarence King and Colonel John Weir, who have made a careful scientific study of that country. At Trail creek the Le Roi bids fair soon to have a rival in the Jumbo, which is situated on the opposite side of the same famous Red mountain. But over on the reservation and in the Boundary creek country, which, by the way, are in fact geologically one and the same district, being separated only by the imaginary boundary line between Uncle Sam's and the queen's domains, the ores lie in distinctly marked veins as distinguished from the ore chutes of Trail. The veins are of enormous width and traceable in continuous belts for miles with that regularity which delights the geologist and mine expert. They know "where they are at" in that country. The veins run from 20 to 500 feet wide.

One of the most noted experts in the world and a man who has examined every mining camp in the world excepting one recently spent six months in this district and now pronounces it to be "the greatest mineralized country on the face of the globe" and one over which "the world will go mad in the next few years." The ores of the reservation and Boundary creek run much higher grade than at Trail. The increased value consists in an excess of copper, which is a great advantage from a smelting point of view as well as in the matter of dollars and cents in ores so refractory as the ores of this district are.

At Trail the average is not over 6 per cent copper, and it is necessary at the Trail smelter to ship in copper concentrates from Butte, Mon. On the reservation, for instance, the great La Fleur mine assays have run as high as 66 per cent copper, or about 1,400 pounds of copper to every ton of rock.—Portland Oregonian.

She Got Her Transfer.

"Certainly, madam. Which depot?" asked the conductor.

"Never you mind what you know and what you don't know," snapped the woman. "You do as you are told. You give me a transfer. Do you hear?"

"But"—

"I won't have your but. Just you give me that transfer or I will report you."

And the conductor gave it to her, while every one on the car hoped he had sent her to the wrong place.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Unkind to Him.

"No. I told your mother this morning when she made it that you would be sure to find fault with it."—Chicago Record.

After all this is a glorious century and it is good to live in these times.

POOR BETTINA GIRARD

Bettina Girard the young woman who shone for a brief time in the operatic world and disappeared almost as suddenly as she sprang into doubtful fame, has run the gamut of recklessness, and is now an outcast in Europe, with the realization that the pittance allowed her by her father will be cut off if she returns to her native country.

After her divorce from her first husband Bettie Ordway went on the stage as a singer. She had a good voice and the fame of her exploits had preceded her, so that her company played to good business from the first. American theater goers will remember her as a member, and a leading one, of Conreid's opera company, in "The King's Fool," a comic opera which had a varying success for two or three seasons, and in which Della Fox succeeded Mrs. Padelford, as she was known then.

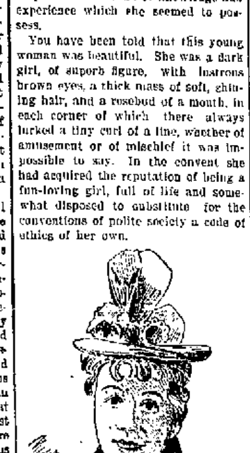

The drinking of wine from her slipper at White Sulphur Springs had cast a romantic tinge about the young woman and the public was eager to see her. She lost her voice and appeared in Chicago in "Old Kentucky," at the Haymarket, on the last occasion of her stage work here. Where she is now and what is her fate is told in the following review of a singularly pathetic career:

Albert Ordway, veteran of the war, once chief of ordnance of the United States government, to-day commander of the militia of the District of Columbia, comes of an aristocratic southern family, whose name is a household word below the line for all that birth, culture and refinement imply. He is a proud man—proud of his lineage, proud of his career, and proud of the position he has attained in the military and social life of the nation's capital.

Gen. Ordway's daughter, Bettina, was in her day the most beautiful girl in Washington. The phrase "a social belle" has become so hackneyed that it almost fails to convey the meaning which really lies in the word. Bettina Ordway was a social belle. After leaving the convent in Georgetown, in which her early years were spent, all her training was directed to but one end—that of fitting her to shine in society. Toward the accomplishment of this end her father engaged instructers in dancing, elocution, singing, languages and those other attainments that are necessary to win social recognition. With all these the young woman combined graces that no instruction or preparation could enhance. She was clever, witty, original and sparkling. Hers was truly a rare mind. She had a man's broad grasp of things and a judgment far beyond her years.

When she first appeared in society she came in contact with statesmen and diplomats from all parts of the world. All who met her were delighted with her charming manners and frequently surprised at the fund of knowledge and experience which she seemed to possess.

You have been told that this young woman was beautiful. She was a dark girl, of superb figure, with lustrous brown eyes, a thick mass of soft, clinging hair, and a rosebud of a mouth, in each corner of which there always lurked a tiny curl of a line, whether of amusement or of mischief it was impossible to say. In the convent she had acquired the reputation of being a fun-loving girl, full of life and somewhat disposed to substitute for the conventions of polite society a code of ethics of her own.

BETTINA GIRARD.

Her social career for two years was uneventful. There were many men who sought her smile and there were many upon whom it was graciously bestowed. And, as you can easily figure out for yourself, all the other women were furiously envious of her.

Easy is the descent—oh, so easy! There was a banquet at White Sulphur Springs, in Virginia, whither the Ordways had gone for the summer, and Miss Bettina was the loveliest of the guests. In a dazzling evening dress, adorned with laces and jewels, she sat among gorgeously arrayed diplomats, army officers and government officials. Everybody drank freely and Miss Bettina's face became flushed and her eyes sparkled with unusual brightness.

A young man who was attached to the French embassy and who had shown considerable attention to Miss Ordway during the season sat opposite her. Just as they were rising from the table a young cavalier who had sat beside her began to jest with her about the young Frenchman's assiduous devotion.

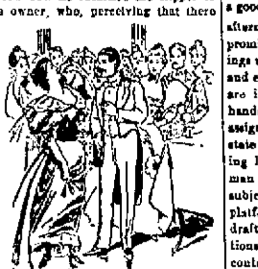

"Some day," said the young man, "your admirer will probably be famous."

The incident that followed was over in a minute. Into the motives that prompted her action it would be idle to inquire. Suffice it that the curl of Miss Bettina's rosy lips became intensely mischievous and that, with her hand under the table, fumbling among the draperies, she replied:

And thereupon with an enchanting smile, she held aloft a tiny white satin slipper, warm from her foot, and to be a waiter fill it with champagne. She then proffered this novel bumper to the young Frenchman.

A hush fell upon the room and every eye was turned to the young man's face. He was painfully embarrassed. From his neck to the roots of his hair his skin was scarlet and he looked as if he were devoutly wishing that the floor would open and swallow him. The slipper was within his reach and a pair of roguish eyes were turned full upon him. He hesitated for one long moment and then, true to his country and his calling, he took the slipper and quaffed deeply of the wine. His gallantry was greeted with a burst of applause. With a low bow he returned the slipper to its owner, who, perceiving that there

Miss Bettina insisted upon going on the stage. She had a good voice, upon which she had bestowed considerable care, and in the circle in which she moved had achieved quite a reputation as a sweet singer. Her father was opposed to her entering professional life, but finally yielded to her entreaties and allowed her to prepare for grand opera under competent teachers.

Before she had completed her studies, however, she met Arthur Padelford, the heir of an old and rich Philadelphia family. He fell in love with her and she—she married him. It was a big wedding, full of all that glitter and gorgeousness which only Washington society can supply, and every person of note in the national capital was there.

Young Padelford had millions of dollars and Miss Bettina was very beautiful, and the gossips all declared that it was a perfect wedding and that the couple were splendidly matched. Their wedded life was very happy. It lasted exactly three months. There was only one day of unhappiness and upon the day that followed it Arthur Padelford applied to the courts for a divorce. The sensation which this created is still remembered in Washington.

After the divorce had been granted Bettina, as she was called by her friends, left Washington, assumed the name of Bettina Girard and went upon the stage. She secured engagements from several operatic companies, but her work did not attract attention until she joined the Conreid company. From that moment she began to descend at a lively pace.

Jack Raffael, a tenor singer of handsome appearance, was stabbed in St Louis by Robert Monroe. Mrs. Monroe was the cause. When Raffael recovered he married Bettina. After a few months they were divorced and Bettina married John Harrison Wolff. This marriage was followed in a short time by another divorce and after that she was married to William Beach.

She left Beach and from time to time there were rumors of her engagement to other men, but Bettina never went through the marriage ceremony again.

She made considerable money and spent it lavishly. She roved from one theatrical company to another, traveled a great deal, was mixed up in no end of scandals, and slowly went to pieces. Her voice failed her and she was unable to support herself. Her father gave her an allowance of $25 a week, but would have nothing further to do with her. In the early part of this year she broke down completely and was sent to a private sanitarium in New York.

The disgrace was more than Gen. Ordway could bear. One night, two weeks ago, he went to New York and met his daughter with her latest paramour in an uptown hotel. The interview was short, but decisive. His daughter had brought shame upon him and his family and must leave the country. If she went to Europe he would continue to grant her the allowance which he had settled upon her. As long as she remained there it would be continued. If she remained in this country or ever came back it would instantly cease. He never wanted to see her again. She is now in Paris.

SPIDERS FOR PARTNERS.

A sirup bottler has improved upon the prison lesson of Bruce, says Science. He has taken the spider into partnership in the working of one of his most important departments. Flies, cockroaches and other insects, attracted by his sweets and encouraged by the genial air of his bottling room, used to interfere with his work, get into his bottles, steal his goods and "worry him to death." Some 6,000 spiders now make their home on the ceiling and walls of his bottling department. Said the bottler to an interviewer: "These creatures know more than a great many people. Spiders do not care for sweet things and never drop into my vats or get into my bottles. I never disturb them except to feed them occasionally. They appear to know my call and will come out and feed from my hand or take a fly from my finger. They shut themselves up during most of the winter months in their little nests you see stuck like daubs of mud about the ceiling. When winter comes I brush away all the webs. They prefer to weave new ones every spring. I have been running this spider farm only two years, but I find my little partners indispensable. They will not endure in the place a single fly or insect that is a plunderer of sweets and sirups."

GOLD DEMOCRATS

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 20—Delegates to the gold standard democratic convention began to arrive last night and a good attendance at the gathering this afternoon is expected. Among the prominent participants in its proceedings will be Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge and ex Governor S. B. Buckner, who are in the city. Music hall has been handsomely decorated and sections assigned for the various districts. The state executive committee held a meeting last night at the Galt house, Chairman George M. Davie presiding. The subject under discussion was the platform. They did not attempt to draft it completely, but made suggestions as to what it should contain. During the meeting Col W. C. P. Breckenridge was consulted about some matters pertaining to the platform. It was decided that Ex-Lieutenant Governor Hindman, of Adair county, should be named for temporary chairman of the convention. The committee on organization will report the make up of the state central and the state executive committee, and also a campaign committee, to be composed of eleven members, six of them to be from this congressional district in order that the meetings for consultations may be held without the necessity of long trips by all the members. Geo. M. Davie will probably be chairman of the state campaign committee and the Hon. A. J. Carroll secretary. Col. Thomas W. Bullitt will be the elector from this district.

Judge Cole Inaugurates a New Test of Competency—Must Read the Constitution.

Washington, Aug. 10—A young German was barred from citizenship today after a practical demonstration that he could not read the English language. Two Germans applied together to Judge Cole, of the district supreme court, whose recent ruling in the case of an Italian that a knowledge of the constitution is essential to citizenship rights created general interest. Both Germans said they could read English and were given a newspaper as a test. One reached the reading requirements and was admitted to citizenship, but the other made so poor a showing that naturalization papers were refused, the court holding that no one was entitled to citizenship who is unable to read English.

WHICH WERE BETTER?

A popular discussion has been started in San Francisco by a sermon preached by Dr. C. W. Wendte, one of the leading pastors of Oakland. Dr. Wendte, speaking of the incurably ill or mortally wounded, asked: "Why seek, as now, to prolong their agonies? Why exhaust the resources of medical science to keep them in misery? Would it not be a more Christian act to put them gently out of pain? God speed the day when men shall rid themselves of theological and personal prejudices and act as justice dictates and mercy requires."

The minister cited many cases where men injured in disasters or wounded in battle pleaded in vain to have comrades end their sufferings. His sermon brought forth a flood of protests, the burden of a majority being, "Thou shalt not kill."

Populations One Hundred Years Hence.

Some writer has given the following figures for the populations of the various European countries 100 years from now, figuring on the same relative growth as for the past century: Russia, 250,000,000; Great Britain and Ireland, 100,000,000; Germany, 90,000,000; Austria-Hungary, 75,000,000; France, 45,000,000, and Italy, 46,000,000. The British subjects elsewhere on the globe at that time should make England rank with Russia, and there would be but two great powers in Europe then. The United States should be strongly in the lead with 700,000,000 inhabitants.

Soil For a G. A. R.

Colonel J. Linn Rodgers has sent a box of Ohio soil to the G. A. R. post at Bedford. Mass. The post is to plant a national tree on its grounds and is securing a box of soil from each state in the Union for the tree to spread its roots in. The tree is to be watered with water from Lake Champlain, Lake Erie and other lakes and streams where battles, naval or land, have been fought. The sample sent from Ohio in response to the request made to Governor Bushnell is a rich black loam.

A Household Treasure.

Then begin those ailments that must be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, dizziness, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, nervousness and blues, with lack of confidence; these are positive signs that woman's arch enemy is at hand.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham in May, one month after the young lady had first written, giving symptoms, and asking advice. She was ill and in great distress of mind, feeling she would not hold out till graduation, and the doctor had advised her to go home.

——— College, Mass.

You dear Woman:—

I should have written to you before, but you said wait a month. We are taught that the days of miracles are past. Pray what is my case? I have taken the Vegetable Compound faithfully, and obeyed you implicitly and, am free from all my ills. I was a very, very sick girl. Am keeping well up in my class, and hope to do you and myself credit at graduation. * * My gratitude cannot find expression in words. Your sincere friend, MARY ——

P. S. Some of the other girls are now using the Compound. It benefits them all.

TWO EXCURSIONS.

Robison park is growing in popularity as an excursion point and each excursion nowadays from the cities and towns in Northern and Central Indiana to that place is characterized by a much greater attendance than its predecessor.

To-day there were two excursions to that resort from out of town points. One came from Bluffton, over the Lake Erie and Western road, and the party is estimated at about 1,100 persons. It required eighteen cars to haul them to the park.

Another excursion party came in from the south, over the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, numbering over 700 persons. This excursion started from Richmond and was added to at all intermediate points. It was the first excursion to Robison park from that territory and its success is very gratifying to those who managed it.

Besides the visitors from abroad there are hundreds of Fort Wayne citizens in the park today. The Walther League of Emanuel's Lutheran church has an excursion to that point and at 2 o'clock had sold over 1,500 tickets. The street car company is giving excellent service, having thirty-five cars on the line. There is a car each way every three minutes.

THE MODERN RAILROADER.

In the office of one of the higher officials of an eastern road a few days ago the character of railway employes in the different departments came up for discussion, the ground being taken that in practically all departments a better grade of men were now in service than ever before. A general manager, to take rank among the foremost, must be a good financial as well as transportation man; a general superintendent must be a man well educated and able to handle men without friction; a superintendent of motive power must be well educated, have an economical turn and a way of pushing business when required; even the passenger conductor, the baggage man and the brakeman must be well educated and gentlemanly to long hold positions, and in all departments the character of the men is much higher than years ago. An employe must not indulge in strong drinks, must be of good habits generally and well up in reading and writing, for there are but few branches of service where there is not more or less of reading of orders and of writing. The office of train dispatcher has become an important branch of the service and requires well educated men, quick to understand orders, to handle trains with the present remarkable exemption from accident. Freight and passenger officials must be among the shrewdest and best educated men in the service; they must be well versed in rates, in the rules of the associations with which they are connected, and quick to seize any advantage their line possesses over a competing one.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Two women who were walking on the Pennsylvania tracks near Hammond yesterday morning had a bad fright and were given an illustration of the dangers attending a stroll upon the railway which will ever be fresh in their memories. The ladies were going west, deeply engaged in conversation, and did not notice the approach from the rear of No. 37 until warned of that fact by the whistle of the locomotive. Then one of the women sprang aside, but the other was momentarily paralized by fright and did not move until the iron horse was nearly upon her. Then she moved so slowly that the pilot beam struck her and pushed her over against her companion. The engine had nearly stopped and no injury was sustained by the blow, but the lady fainted from fright and did not recover until she was taken off the cars at Hammond. Engineer Henry Jones was at the throttle and it was only his prompt action in giving the danger signals and applying the air brakes that prevented a terrible accident.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

BRIEF MENTION.

C. W. Risley, superintendent of the Lima Northern, has tendered his resignation.

It is now the understanding that the Northern Pacific will be turned over to the new management September 1.

All shops on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton system on Monday commenced working but eight hours.

Dr. E. F. Wagner has returned from a business trip to Cleveland, in the interest of the Pennsylvania relief department.

Trainmaster McKim, of the Toledo branch of the Pennsylvania system, was here today, the guest of the railway officials.

The Peters' Box and Lumber company is now running a full force of workmen eight hours per day. The outlook for the lumber trade is brightening.

Foreman M. S. Willson, of the incandescent testing room at the electric works, has gone to Toledo on business for the company. He will be detained there about three weeks.

Nickel Plate engine 20 came out of the Stony Island shops yesterday and has been turned over to Engineer Buxley and Fireman Oaleman for service between Fort Wayne and Bellevue.

Brakeman H. E. Taylor, of the Nickel Plate, was about to start out on his run yesterday, when a message summoned him home. His boy, who had been very ill, was taken suddenly worse.

The electric works this morning sent four arc dynamos to Richmond to take the place of those machines which were damaged by the flood last week. The old machines will be brought here and repaired.

A high official of the Pennsylvania road makes the statement that the company's shops at Altoona, Pa., are second in size only to the great Krupp works in Essen. At the Altoona shops each month $275,000 is paid in wages.

Detective Tom Wilkinson, of the Nickel Plate, has stopped the operations of thieves on that road. For three weeks there has not been a single car broken into nor anything of value taken from the trains or yards.

John Kesson, who has resided in Cincinnati for the past year, will return here to live and has accepted a position as solicitor for an insurance company.

The Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Michigan is making an extraordinary effort to run trains into Toledo over its own tracks by the 1st of September.

The Illinois Central has purchased 6,200 square miles of land in the Yazoo valley, Mississippi, and on August 29 will run a home seekers' excursion to that point.

John Carroll, of Chicago, is visiting relatives and friends in this city. He was formerly employed in the Pittsburg shops here, and called to see his old shopmates today.

The employes in the Big Four shops at Wabash and on the Michigan division of the Big Four will next week have their annual excursion and picnic at Warsaw, Ind.

Frank MacMillan, of Dayton, Ohio, a representative of a firm which manufactures varnish, is in the city calling upon the railway officials and others who purchase goods of his line.

Samuel Kelker, clerk at the Lake Shore offices and a son of the well known Pennsylvania engineer of the same name, is enjoying a vacation, which he will spend in Chicago.

Frank B. Conners, machinist at the Wabash shop, had some fingers pinched yesterday while engaged in removing siderods from an engine. His injuries are not severe and he will soon be able to work again.

George W. Kittredge, chief engineer of the Big Four, states that the company is purchasing no new steel this year; neither is it erecting any new bridges, but is keeping expenses down to the lowest possible figure compatible with efficiency.

Joseph Byninski, who had been visiting his parents at Garrett, Ind., is here to spend the balance of the week with his old friends. He is the foreman of the air brake department of the Wellsville shops and is now enjoying his annual vacation.

While train No. 61, on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, was pulling into Kendallville yesterday morning, the rails spread apart and seven cars rolled down the embankment. Four tramps, who were stealing a ride, were severely injured.

Indianapolis Journal: "One of the results of the visit of General Manager Loree and General Superintendent Miller to the city yesterday was the dismissal of twenty-five or more men in the yards about the union station and city freight depot. When business revives many of them will be re-employed."

It is now three years since the Union station at Terre Haute, built by William R. McKeen when president of the Vandalia line, was opened for business, and since opened not an accident has occurred to a passenger or employe within the station. Fifty-eight passenger trains are handled there every twenty-four hours.

Charles Stewart, Thomas Williams, Fred Slarke, Ed Mennewisch, H. Reckness and C. Schneider, off on private business; L. Hibbler, E. McLaughlin and David Rache, off on account of sickness, F. X. Miller and E. B. Moore, off on account of trip hammer being out of repair, is the absentee list at the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

On account of the dullness of manufacturing interests the Big Four and Pennsylvania line stations in the Indiana gas belt are not doing more than one half the business they did in 1894 and early in 1895, and it makes a marked difference in the revenue at such stations as Anderson, Marion, Muncie and a dozen other points which might be named.

Some of the Pennsylvania shopmen are disposed to object to the statement that they are in the habit of giving orders on the paymaster for their wages. Such practice has never been in use in this city and the shopmen are not so hard up that they must resort to such means to get the necessaries of life. If such practices are in vogue it is among some other branch of the service.

General Passenger Agent Daly, of the Lake Erie and Western, announces that the company will run no more Niagara Falls excursions this year, which will give the other lines an opportunity to run excursions to the falls with some show of getting business. Still, the high rate the Joint Traffic association forces them to charge will prevent many going who would go at the old rate of $5.

The late tornado at St. Louis destroyed a considerable number of cars of foreign roads, which, under the Master Car Builders' rules, the St. Louis roads must repair or renew. This has raised an interesting question, some of the roads being disposed not to live up to the association agreement, taking the position that when property is destroyed by what in legal phraseology is termed an act of God the courts will not compel them to make good the loss or pay damages.

A good sized row is in prospect over the general passenger agents declining to hereafter furnish free transportation to advance agents of theatrical troupes. The theatrical managers, at a recent meeting in New York, organized for the purpose of fighting the railroad companies, and, while their task is regarded as hopeless, in official quarters, they will have abundant opportunity to present their grievances. The managers claim that the railroads, and particularly the Joint Traffic association are preventing the formation of road companies because of the high and still rates, and the latest action on the part of the general passenger agents will cause further hard feeling. It begins to look as if the railroads were bent on abolishing the deadhead system.

The new roads acquired by the Illinois Central necessitates its purchasing additional power, and it has just closed a contract for the building of six ten wheeled freight engines, eighteen eight wheeled passenger locomotives and four six wheeled switch engines. The order is divided between the Brooks and the Rogers locomotive works.

If someone will invent a railway car window to be raised ore lowered easily by touching a spring on of the greatest influences affecting human conduct will have been regulated. It is well known that the car window that won't go up makes men swear and women wish they could, but there are a number of other important ways in which the car window affects life, and it is safe to say that it figures in divorce cases about as often as the question of alimony for it is generally in a car and through some body opening the car window that the troubles leading up to divorce begin. It is about the one only service in travel that a lady can ask a strange man to perform for her and it is about the only one a man can voluntarily offer.

WON FAME IN YOUTH.

SOME NOTED STATESMEN OF BY-GONE DAYS.

(Washington Letter.)

WHILE the selection of the young statesman from Nebraska is without exact parallel in the history of presidential nominations, Mr. Bryan is by no means extraordinarily young, as judged by many of the men who have exercised the most potent influence in the affairs of the republic.

Were Mr. Bryan to be elected president he would become chief magistrate at thirty-seven, ten years younger than was Grant when chosen to the same office. The latter was, as everyone knows, the youngest of American presidents, but on the other hand, the Boy Orator of the Platte is late in achieving national renown as compared with many other of our foremost men. It is, indeed, a curious fact that the republic, in its formative period, was practically dominated by young men. All the chief figures of the revolutionary period, with the exception of Washington, John Adams, and two or three others, were much younger than Mr. Bryan is now.

As an example of youthful precocity the career of Alexander Hamilton was undoubtedly the most remarkable among those of all the young men of eminence whom this country has produced. Hamilton was practically a famous man—as famous as Mr. Bryan the day after his great speech at Chicago—at twenty-five. It was in that year that he entered congress, and from that time on he was one of the most powerful figures of the time. At thirty he was a leading member of the constitutional convention of 1787.

It was natural, therefore, that Hamilton should be called by Washington as the first secretary of the treasury and given charge of the shaping of the nation's currency. He was then thirty-two, and at thirty-three he sent to congress his first "report on the public credit," which ranks as one of the great state papers of this nation and is part of the foundation of our form of government.

After Hamilton, Jefferson probably takes rank in the matter of youthful pre-eminence. The latter was only thirty-three when his almost inspired pen wrote the Declaration of Independence. But Jefferson was already nationally known some time before this, and next to Washington, and despite his age, was the most prominent citizen of Virginia. He was governor of that state at the age of thirty-six.

Madison, familiarly known as the father of the constitution, entered congress when he was twenty-eight and immediately took a leading rank in the councils of the young nation. When he began the making of the national charter he was only thirty-six, and it was at this age that he made his contributions, along with Hamilton and others, to the celebrated Federalist.

Monroe, of whose notable doctrine as regards foreign intervention on this continent we have heard very much in the last year, was three years younger than Madison, even when he was chosen to the continental congress. He was a United States senator at thirty-two and our minister to France at thirty-six.

Yet more remarkable, and almost equal to that of Hamilton, was the career of John Jay. Although the name of Jay is less known at the present day than that of many of his compatriots, yet it is doubtful if any man of the times exercised so deep and practical an influence as he. Jay entered the continental congress at twenty-nine and was a member of the committee, appointed for that purpose, which drafted the famous "Address to the People of Great Britain."

Retiring from congress, he took a leading part in the formation of the government of New York state and was a member of the constitutional convention at thirty-two. He became the first chief justice of New York's Supreme court in the same year and was likewise a member of the committee of safety, which for a time exercised dictatorial powers, owing to the anarchical condition of affairs at that time. Jay was a member of the commission which went to Paris to arrange the treaty of peace at thirty-six, and at thirty-eight, with Franklin, Adams and others he signed the document which recognized the new republic as an independent nation.

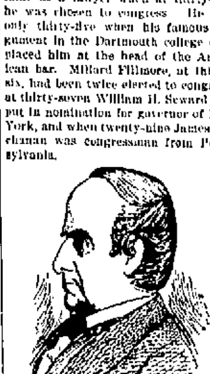

HENRY CLAY.

Coming down to what might be called the second heroic period of American politics, we find that almost all of its dominant characters Calhoun and Jackson, Webster and Clay, Benton and Fillmore—won their political spurs at a very early age. After having made his name known to all the people of the country as a fighter at twenty-nine, Jackson, then turned lawyer, was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the government of Tennessee. He was chosen United States senator at thirty and judge of the Tennessee Supreme court at thirty-one, which latter position he held for several years.

Jackson's lifelong antagonist, Calhoun, entered congress at twenty-nine and won a prominent position so quickly that at thirty-five he was chosen secretary of war. At the same age that Jackson was made senator from Tennessee Clay, known to his generation by the affectionate title of "The Mill Boy of the Slashes," was made senator from Kentucky. Serving for but a very short time, he was chosen to the lower branch of congress, and at thirty-four was elected speaker of the house of representatives. At thirty-seven he was a member of the Ghent commission.

Daniel Webster had already achieved fame as a lawyer when at thirty-one he was chosen to congress. He was only thirty-five when his famous argument in the Dartmouth college case placed him at the head of the American bar. Millard Fillmore, at thirty-six, had been twice elected to congress, at thirty-seven William H. Seward was put in nomination for governor of New York, and when twenty-nine James Buchanan was congressman from Pennsylvania.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

Garfield was elected to congress at thirty-one, after having been made major-general for his gallantry and brilliant achievements on the field of battle. Blaine entered congress at thirty-three and was made speaker a few years later and Roscoe Conkling entered at thirty.

It would be easy to extend the list. It is worth noting, too, that of two of our great military figures Winfield Scott was made brigadier-general at twenty-eight and Sheridan major-general of the United States army at thirty-five. George Bancroft, in spite of all his faults still our foremost historian, made himself famous at thirty by the publication of the first volume of his "History of the United States."

It is rather remarkable, too, and worthy of record, in view of Mr. Bryan's electric achievements at Chicago, that three out of the four or five greatest speeches ever delivered on American soil came from the lips of men younger than the present democratic nominee.

All things considered, Patrick Henry's famous speech before the Virginia house of burgesses is familiar above that of any other example of American oratory. When the Virginian uttered his thrilling words, "Tarquin and Caesar each had his Brutus, Charles I. his Cromwell, and George III.—" there being interrupted by cries of "Treason!" he was only twenty-nine.

REFORMED ORPHANS.

Anniversary Celebration to Occur Next Wednesday.

EDITOR SENTINEL:

We would kindly direct the attention of our friends and citizens to the annual celebration at the Reformed Orphans home, Wednesday, August 26. The day will be celebrated as has been the custom for the past thirteen years. In the afternoon Rev Dahlman, D. D., of Akron, Ohio, and Rev Saick, D. D., of Tiffin, Ohio, will deliver addresses in the German and English languages, respectively. All arrangements for the entertainment of guests have been made. Lunch will be served at all hours; likewise refreshments of all sorts. Our home can be easily reached by taking car to Driving park, where 'busses will be waiting to transfer you to our home, for the small sum of five cents. We kindly ask your patronage on this occasion, and hope you may assist in the maintenance of an institution which is worthy of your support.

Yours Respectfully,

J. RETTIG Supt.

STERLING MORTON

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 20.—Local democratic managers say that they are not decided as to the presentation of Hon J. Sterling Morton's name as a presidential candidate at the national convention at Indianapolis. A conference of gold standard democrats will be held here within a few days to consider the advisability of presenting Secretary Morton's name. Nebraska may not send delegates to the Indianapolis convention at all. This will also be decided at the coming conference.

M. C. Meigs, of Reading, Mich., is registered at the Wayne.

Loose clothes and downy cushions being only a negative sort of comfort to the woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The effects of such disorders are not limited to more local discomfort but extend over the whole body. Perhaps the nerves are most affected, and this in turn disturbs the digestion. After that there is no telling what form the trouble may take. With irritable nerves and poor digestion, a woman is on the straight road to the grave. Women are notoriously negligent in matters pertaining to their health. Too many of them understand too little about their own physical make up. They do not understand their possibilities or their limitations, and they do not know enough about themselves to know when a symptom is really serious and when it is not. This naturally makes them overlook the plainest of danger signals. The start of everything is simple. The start of so called "female complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords immediate and lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting physicians.

The whole story of the "Favorite Prescription," and what it has done for thousands of women is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This is a 1008 page book, profusely illustrated, written in plain language for the use of every-day people, and gives in a clear and lucid way an immense amount of valuable information about health and medicine. It will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only.

Special trains and low rates have been secured on all railroads, and large delegations are expected from Cincinnati, Toledo, Muncie, Defiance, Findlay and Lima, Ohio. A fine musical program is being arranged in which all the local and visiting singing societies will take part. The Saengerbund society have charge of all arrangements.

Members of the Royal Arcanum in this city will be pleased to know that Prof. J. N. Study, who has come to take charge of the public schools, is not only an ardent Arcanum man but has filled the honorable position of regent of the grand lodge of Indiana. Professor Study is now a member of the Richmond branch but it is hoped that he will transfer to Howard council. There are two other past grand regents in this city, these being W. H. Tigar and J. W. Vordermark.

J. F. Wing has been summoned by telegram to Van Wert on account of a fire which destroyed a portion of the county infirmary. Wing & Mahurin are superintending the construction of a new addition to the building, which part fortunately was not damaged by the flames. The firm will draw plans at once to replace the destroyed building. The men's department, including the entire west wing, and the superintendent's department in the center, were totally destroyed. The laundry and all outbuildings were burned to the ground. The women's department was slightly damaged. During the fire there was a panic among the inmates. One woman fell down stairs and broke her arm. Another was hit on the back by a bedstead, thrown from a second story window, and seriously hurt.

The many friends of F. D. Paulus will regret to learn that he has disposed of his residence property at [illegible] East Jefferson street and will leave the city to reside permanently on his recently purchased farm in Whitley county, two miles west of Columbia City. Mr. Paulus has been identified with business interests in this city many years. Lately he had been connected with the Old Fort Spice company but withdrew from the concern before it went into the hands of a trustee. Previous to that he was in the agricultural business and for awhile was one of the lessees of the Rich hotel. Where Mr. Paulus and his wife will be most missed is in church circles. He was one of the founders of Grace Reformed church in which he has always been an elder and for some years was superintendent of that Sunday school. The best wishes of the congregation he so ably labored with go with him and his wife to their new home. Mr. and Mrs. Paulus left for their farm today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Peltier left for Macinac Island today.

There will be a meeting of the common council next Tuesday evening.

Miss Ollie Giesking has gone to Albany, N. Y., to be the guest of Miss Helen Wood.

Miss Lillie Fox has returned from Huntington, where she had been the guest of Miss Etta Hasty.

One week from next Saturday is the time set for the first appearance on the streets of the Tippecanoe club.

F. M. Smith, of the Smith Hardware company, returned home last night from a four days' business trip to Chicago.

T. F. Russell, supreme director of the Knights and Ladies of Columbia, of South Bend, is in the city looking after the interest of the order.

The Heidelburg Reformed church will hold a lawn social this evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Souder, three miles north of the city.

Charles Pape is going to erect another house on St. Marys avenue, to cost $800. Mr. Pape has quite a number of residences in that part of the city.

Mrs. N. B. Holdsworth and daughter Maud left today for Diamond Lake and Cassopolis, Mich., to spend several weeks with her sister, Mrs. B. F. Moon.

Philip Grall, the grocer, expects to occupy his new storeroom next week. The building is a credit to Lafayette street, being one of the handsomest on that thoroughfare.

Councilman Frank E. Purcell is organizing a uniform rank of the Loyal Hall Democracy. Mr. Purcell is one of our most active democrats and is meeting with success in securing members.

Dr. John S. McCurdy, the dentist, with Mrs. McCurdy and children, left last evening to spend several days at Rome City and Warsaw. The doctor is taking a sort of enforced vacation because of having sprained his wrist a day or two ago in a bicycle accident.

Mrs. G. W. Gratte, of 2[illegible] West Jefferson street, has returned home from St. Mary's o' the Woods, where she went to witness the ceremony of her daughters, Sister Mary Stanislaus and Sister Clara Marie, being vested with the white veil of the Sisters of Providence.

The resident fruit dealers are complaining about the patronage extended to the firms who come to this city for a few weeks and engage in the sale of peaches and other fruit. They think Fort Wayne people ought to patronize the home dealers in preference to those firms which take their money out of the city.

Every seat in the big enclosure at Centlivre park was taken last night, and the crowd that witnessed the grand, awe inspiring spectacle of the destruction of Pompeii numbered several thousands. The fireworks were exceptionally brilliant and when old Vesuvius, which rose grim, threatening and dark with portent of destruction, suddenly awoke into a vast mountain of living fire and belched forth a glowing death to the terror stricken Pompeiians, the scene was awful in its thrilling grandeur. The various features of the show are excitingly interesting, and the climax is sublime and full of terrible beauty.

It was "Free Silver Night," and there were hundreds of enthusiastic democrats in the audience who rose to their feet and cheered loud and long when the picture of their idol, William Jennings Bryan, showed brilliantly in lineaments of living fire, rolling away the curtain of the past and bringing back the audience to the busy present.

Tonight is republican night, and the program of last night will be varied by the presentation of the picture of the republican candidate for president, Major William McKinley. Tonight will be the final exhibition of this great spectacle, and no one can afford to miss it. The price of admission has been reduced to 25c to enable all to witness the spectacle without great expense.

NOT WORKING.

Will Play Exhibition Games—Inter-State Games in Three Cities Yesterday.

Youngstown	[illegible]	19	7	.731
Toledo	26	18	8	.692
New Castle	25	15	10	.600
Wheeling	27	13	14	.481
Fort Wayne	[illegible]	[illegible]	11	[illegible]
Saginaw	[illegible]	10	[illegible]	.385
Jackson	25	7	18	[illegible]
Washington	23	5	18	[illegible]

The games with Washington scheduled for the 19th, 20th and 21st, having been played by agreement in this city, the Fort Wayne club will have no more scheduled games until next Monday, when they play at Youngstown. After three games there they go to New Castle, then home. Today the club plays an exhibition game at Sisterville, W. Va., and will do the same at Cambridge, Ohio, tomorrow and Saturday.

INTER STATE GAMES

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Up to the eighth it was a tie. With two out Cooper made a triple, and from that out the Youngstown team batted more fiercely. Score:

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
Saginaw	1	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	0	4

Hits—Youngstown, 16; Saginaw, 8. Errors—Youngstown, 3; Saginaw, 2. Batteries—Brodie and Zuran, Miller and Northwang. Umpire—Keefe.

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.
Jackson	0	0	1	2	0	0	0	0	0	3

INNINGS.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.

(Indianapolis News)

Secretary Bicknell, of the State Board of Charities, reached home last night from Fort Wayne, where he has been attending the official investigation by the board into the charges of cruelty preferred by James Foster and wife, of 47 Elizabeth street, the parents of Willie Foster, an inmate for eight years in the State School for Feeble Minded Children. The boy was taken from the institution July 4, materially worse in mind and much injured in his hands by reason of burns received in January. The parents were present with an attorney and a number of witnesses. The investigation was conducted by Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Ellison and Dr. Mary Spink, three members of the board. It was found that the boy had been admitted to the institution eight years ago, when it was at Richmond, and that he was then about six years of age. He was suffering from a form of epilepsy, which the present physician of the institution, Dr. Della Howe, says is hysterical in its nature. His spasms were so frequent that during school hours no attention would be paid to them, as they passed away in so short a time.

On January 21, while in a fit, he left his seat and walked up to the water heater and seized a hot pipe. Before attention was called to him his hands had been horribly burned in the palms. He was placed in the hospital, where he has received, according to the testimony of the physician and according to the records, the best treatment possible. The physician and some of the attendants contributed skin for the grafting process, but owing to the boy's mental condition, which, according to the record evidence, has been growing worse, the grafts could not be kept on. As the wounds healed the fingers closed, so that the hands will never be of much use again.

The board found that the evidence fully exonerated the management of the institution, and the attorney for the prosecution said that he would make a public statement approving the finding.

Mr. Bicknell says that he does not wonder that the parents of the boy feel with some bitterness that something ought to have been done to save them from this greater trial. He says, however, that not a link was missing in the chain of evidence showing that all was done that could be done by the authorities at the institution.

A Big Show.

The "All Star" cast which played "The Rivals" last winter now has a second in the sporting world. John L. Sullivan, Parson Davies, Big Tom Schandler, Don Creedon, Tom Tracy, Tommy White, Joe Bert and Billy Murphy and a dozen other crackajacks compose the "All Star" Athletic Combination, which comes to this city on next Saturday. The boxing will be all three round contests and such an array of fighting talent has never before taken the road. It is the biggest show of its kind ever organized and runs at an expense of $950 a day. It is John L. Sullivan's last appearance before the American public and his friends will undoubtedly show him that he is still in the hearts of his countrymen.
